SENATE PERILS CHICAGO WATER

HUGHES BOOM ON THE WANE? RIVALS MERGE

Old Guard and Allied Favorite Sons' "Drive" Perils Chances.

MAY NOT ENTER RACE.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., May 29.—[Special.]—With Republicans flocking out of Washington to take part in the conferences preliminary to the assembling of the national convention next week, the leaders admitted today that all calculations in regard to the nomination of a candidate for president have been upset by developments in the last few days. These developments are:

The "drive" by the old guard and the allied favorite sons, aided and abetted by the Roosevelt managers, against the movement to nominate Associate Judge Hughes of the Supreme court, which is beginning to show a telling effect.

The recrudescence of the Roosevelt boom which has sent Roosevelt stock up as much as Hughes stock has gone down.

TRYING TO AVOID SPLIT.

Although the contest that is shaping up is devoid of the extreme bitterness which ushered in the convention of 1912, Republican leaders are entertaining misgivings that unless the utmost care is exercised a situation will develop in the balloting next week, which again will split the party or at least leave its solidarity badly impaired.

Republican old guardsmen have been greatly surprised by the results of the recent factional maneuvering for which in part they were responsible. Alarmed by the progress of the Roosevelt movement a few weeks ago, the old guard encouraged the Hughes movement for the purpose of putting the colonel out of the race. The move was successful, for Roosevelt was thrown so far into the shade that Republican leaders everywhere regarded the nomination of Hughes practically a certainty.

HUGHES MERE TOOL?

The old guard regarded the Roosevelt movement permanently disabled and was satisfied with that particular result. It was not satisfied with the momentum disclosed in the Hughes movement. The old guard does not like Hughes, merely prefers him to T. R., and had boosted him only to "kill off Roosevelt." It did not intend to allow Hughes to run away with the nomination.

So the old guard turned in to put the Hughes boom in leash, to prevent the movement in behalf of the justice from becoming too formidable, yet keeping it handy to fall back on in the convention if Roosevelt again should become a dangerous factor. The allied favorite sons joined the anti-Hughes drive and arrangements were made with the powers who control the delegates to hold down the Hughes vote on the first ballot.

CRITICIZES HUGHES' SILENCE.

Typists First to Put Clock Hands Ahead in Chicago

"TICKLED TO DEATH"

When W. H. N. Shipman, general manager of the Typewriter Emporium at Lake and Dearborn streets, entered his office at 7 sharp yesterday morning, he did not notice that some of the stenographers had forgotten to powder their noses and that the coiffures of some were not so tidily arranged as usual. He did notice, however, that the typewriters were humming away save when the girls glanced at each other and began to giggle.

The giggling was explained when at 8 sharp Mabel, the "lovely blonde," arrived and looked around shamefacedly. She hurried to her machine and a chum whispered something in her ear.

"O, I didn't know anything about this hour earlier stuff," she explained later. "I'm just back from my vacation."

Pleasure After Pleasure.

But Mabel was all smiles when 4 o'clock rolled around and she and some fifty-nine others donned their hats to go home an hour earlier than usual. They had gone out to lunch at 11 instead of noon, had avoided the crowds in the cafeterias, and were back at work by the time other establishments were debouching hungry loopers.

But the greatest satisfaction came when on the homeward trip they all found seats and found themselves no longer members of the strap hangers' sorority.

So the "set the clock up an hour" movement struck Chicago and other business concerns are planning to move their office hours up sixty minutes, which will mean beating the crowds downtown, beating them to lunch, beating them to the parks and bathing beaches in the afternoon and beating them to bed.

"Tickled to Death."

"The employes asked for the change," said Mr. Shipman, "and they are tickled to death. It gives the girls an hour more for shopping or golf and tennis and the men time for recreation before dusk. I'm strong for it."

W. H. Geisser, office manager, said he believed everybody appeared to have more "pep" during the afternoon.

The only persons who are not strong for the change are the saloonkeepers and café owners. They point out that they don't do much business in the mornings anyway and that if Chicago intends to get up an hour earlier it will have to go to bed earlier, which will mean that after theater parties will be cut short and midnight cabarets abandoned.

OLD COUPLE, STRANDED, HUNT FOR ONLY RELATIVE.

Niece of Californians Is "Widow of Billy Taylor," Who Lives Near Battle Creek, Mich.

"The widow of Billy Taylor," living near Battle Creek, Mich., is being sought. Meanwhile Abner Hammond, 87 years old, and his wife, Martha, 75 years old, of Red Bluff, Cal., who were found Sunday night stranded in the Northwestern station are being given shelter at the county infirmary at Oak Forest.

"We've lived all our lives in California," they told the police, "but now we're too old to work and we are going to our niece's to see if she will give us a home. She's the widow of Billy Taylor and lives near Battle Creek."

CITY'S HEALTH MENACED BY CUT IN FLOW

Upper House Votes to Restrict by Half the Present Amount.

RIVER PORK BILL WINS.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., May 29.—[Special.]—While both Illinois senators were away from Washington today Senator La Follette of Wisconsin worked an amendment into the river and harbor bill which, if enacted into law, not only may kill the Dunne waterway plan altogether but also restrict the right of the Chicago drainage trustees to take more than 250,000 cubic feet of water a minute from Lake Michigan.

The sanitary canal now uses approximately twice that amount of water to carry the sewage of the city down the river and away from the lake water, which is thus maintained in purity for the use of the people.

To cut the flow to 250,000 cubic feet a minute would be a vital menace to health in Chicago and its suburbs.

WHOLE BILL IS PASSED.

Following the adoption of the La Follette amendment, the rivers and harbors bill was passed in the senate by a vote of 35 to 32. It carries a total of $43,000,000, efforts to reduce the amount to $30,000,000 by cutting out the pork having failed.

Late tonight all the members of the Illinois delegation received telegrams of protest from the trustees of the Chicago sanitary district urging them to bring about the defeat of the La Follette amendment in conference, in order to safeguard the health of the people of the city. This the members will try to do.

PURPOSE OF LA FOLLETTE.

In discussing his amendment in the senate this afternoon Senator La Follette said it would accomplish two things —first, prevent the development of more than 9,000 horse power on the Illinois river, and, second, prevent the taking from Lake Michigan of any more water than is now authorized by law.

He expressed doubt that the Illinois waterway would ever be built if congress passes this provision, because of its restrictions. "In case it is built," he said, "there will be no sharing of control between the state and federal governments, and there will no lowering of the level of Lake Michigan."

At a recent conference between the sanitary trustees, representatives of downstate drainage districts, the state administration and the opponents of the Dunne plan it was decided to get together to work for a deep waterway and a better drainage system for Chicago. The first step was to obtain permission from congress for the sanitary district to remove the four dams now in the Illinois river. The next was to get permission to take more water than is now used from Lake Michigan.

BREAK THEIR PROMISES.

By their absence and "pairing" a number of senators failed to keep their promises to vote against the "pork" bill and in favor of recommitting it, with instructions to cut $18,000,000 off the total.

Senator Lewis is in Illinois and Senator Sherman left the senate before any votes were taken, in order to go to New York, where he is to make a speech tomorrow.

The departure of Senator Sherman, it is charged, really lost the fight against the pork barrel. Had he been present the senate would have adopted the motion of Senator Smoot of Utah to reduce the bill to $30,000,000. This motion was lost by a vote of 34 to 35. Senator Sherman would have tied it and Vice President Marshall would have broken the tie in its favor.

KENYON ATTACKS PAIRING.

Immediately following passage of the bill Senator Kenyon of Iowa, who led the fight against it, announced that he would introduce a motion to abolish the present pairing system.

"But for that system," Senator Kenyon said, "this measure would have been reduced or beaten entirely. Because of it another gigantic grab bill has been put through congress."

"Occasionally a senator is justified in being absent from this chamber because of sickness or personal business," he continued. "Inquiry will show that most of the senators absent today were chasing around the country for the purpose of

Widow Calm by Upright Body as Train Pulls Into Chicago.

"GOD" HER COMMENT

A few days ago Chief Iron Tail of the Sioux nation, whose profile appears on one side of the "buffalo" nickel, contracted a heavy cold while exhibiting with a wild west show in Washington, D. C. The management decided to send him and his squaw back to the government reservation at Rushville, Neb.

They were placed on a Pennsylvania train Sunday night and Willard R. Godley, depot passenger agent at the Chicago Union station, received advices to meet them at 8:54 last night. He waited near the gate and scanned the faces of the passengers as they passed by, but saw no Indians. When the last person had passed through the gate he decided to search the coaches, thinking the old chief possibly was in ignorance he had reached the end of his journey.

"Ugh! Him No Move."

In one of the coaches he came upon the couple. The chief was sitting upright in his seat and beside him, with arms folded and the stolid look of her race upon her face, sat his wife. Mr. Godley explained they were to get off. Neither moved.

"Ugh!" exclaimed the woman, nodding towards the figure at her side. "Him no move."

Then, for the first time, Godley noticed the grizzled old Indian was looking straight ahead and there was a peculiar hyaline light in his eyes. Godley reached over and shook him by the shoulder. The body swayed stiffly at his touch. He placed his hand on the chief's wrinkled cheek. It was cold. He turned again to the woman.

"God!" she said stoically, pointing a finger upward.

Widow Explains Death.

Mrs. Iron Tail, unable to speak English intelligibly, explained by motions and guttural exclamations how he had died. She drew in her breath sharply and emitted it in a prolonged sigh. That was how Iron Tail had passed into the happy hunting ground without a murmur, without complaint, in keeping with the stoicism of the chiefs who went before him.

Peter Travis, the conductor, was summoned.

"He must have died after we left Fort Wayne," he said, "because as the train was slowing down there I passed through the coach and spoke to him. He gave a grunt in reply and nodded."

Weak Heart Gives Out.

It is believed the chief developed pneumonia and his weakened heart gave out.

Mrs. Iron Tail continued sitting quietly beside the body and moved only when Godley directed her to follow him. She was given into the charge of Policewoman Mary O'Connell, who took her to the South Clark street station to await directions from J. C. Miller, head of the wild west show, who had requested Godley to place both on a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul train. The body of the chief was taken to undertaking rooms at 912 West Madison street.

Iron Tail was about 65 years old. He served as model for J. W. Fraser of New York, who made the design for the new nickel. Mrs. Iron Tail is many years his junior.

"COUSIN JIM" SCENES LOST; RETAKES TO BE MADE TODAY

Bad Luck (but Good Publicity) Pursues Casino Club Movie, but Producer Will Be Ready by Friday.

A real press agent couldn't have evolved more newsy trouble for his employer than has actually developed in the making of "Cousin Jim," the society film to be shown at the Strand theater on Friday evening and for several days thereafter, if the public cares for it.

Yesterday it was discovered that four scenes had been lost while assembling the picture. Consequently the director sent out an S. O. S. for Roy McWilliams who plays the low comedy part, and Charles Dewey, who appears as "Jack Bolton," and retakes will be made today at Onwentsia club. The photographic work will be rushed, so that Maj. Funkhouser will be able to give "Cousin Jim" his censorial once over on Friday morning.

The authors of "Cousin Jim" are John T. McCutcheon and Kenneth Sawyer Goodman. The proceeds will go to charity.

PRIVATE WIRE FOR COLONEL FROM CHICAGO CONVENTIONS

Ten Day Service to Sagamore Hill Will Cost $9,000, and It May Be Extended if Necessary.

New York, May 29.—[Special.]—Here's a chance for wire tappers to eavesdrop some mighty interesting conversation.

Thursday afternoon a private wire will be strung from Chicago to Col. Roosevelt's home at Sagamore Hill, and its use for ten days will cost Mr. Roosevelt—or somebody else—the little sum of $9,000. Should the Progressive and Republican conventions, which will be held in Chicago, extend more than ten days, the operation of the wire will be continued until all, including the shouting, is over.

The figure disposes of the adage that talk is cheap, for the charge amounts to $900 a day, $37.50 an hour for twenty-four hours, 62½ cents a minute, and—O, figure it out yourself.

Kaiser Gets First Street Car Ride; Tips Motorman

ELBING, Prussia, via Berlin, May 29, via London, May 30, 1:54 a. m.—The German emperor today appeared in the rôle of a street car passenger. He boarded a crowded street car and paid his groschen —10 pfennigs—like the other fares.

The emperor, with a small suite, arrived here this morning unheralded, to visit the Schichau shipbuilding yards. He walked to a car of the bobtail variety and asked the motorman whether the car ran to the Schichau yards. Receiving an affirmative answer, he called out:

"All right, gentlemen, jump on."

The emperor and the members of his suite each dropped a groschen in the box, and when the trip ended the emperor thanked the motorman for his first experience in riding on a street car, emphasizing his thanks with a 10 mark piece.

The local authorities learned of the emperor's presence before the inspection of the yards was concluded, and automobiles were in readiness to take the party to the station.

ACTORS VOTE TO AFFILIATE WITH FEDERATION OF LABOR

Head of Association Says Move Will Assure Justice at Hands of Theatrical Managers.

New York, May 29.—The Actors' Equity association voted at its annual meeting here today to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor. About 3,000 members of the organization are affected, and it was announced that the association probably will be admitted to the ranks of organized labor at the annual convention of the federation at Rochester next November.

Otis Skinner wrote that he was bitterly opposed to the proposed alliance. "I regard such an alliance," he said, "as iniquitous, coercive, and arbitrary."

BOOM T. R.

Members of Committee to Forward Roosevelt Campaign for President Appointed.

A boom for Theodore Roosevelt for president took formal shape for the first time in Illinois yesterday when an organizing committee was formed and headquarters established in suite 1112 at the Congress hotel. The following were named as members of the Roosevelt Republican committee for Illinois:

J. Ogden Armour.
Frank Baakes.
Arthur L. Farwell.
John S. Miller.
A. A. Sprague II.
John E. Wilkie.

These men will act as an organizing committee. They have called a meeting, to be held at the headquarters at 3 p. m. Thursday, when larger committee to represent the entire state will be chosen.

BY CHARLES N. WHEELER.

There was no police guard at the La Salle street depot at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and Col. Theodore Roosevelt got into a mob that met with his full approval. Turning one of the square and thick shoulders at an agle of about 45 degrees he went through the crowd like a football hero.

He wasn't angry either. He smiled and laughed, waved his sombrero, and thrust the wildly cheering partisans to either side as a boy would sweep through a wheat field.

He had to stop to shake hands with the engineer and fireman of the limited, as is his custom. There were hundreds of yelling Roosevelt fans between him and the desired object. But he simply started for the engine and they tumbled away, with hats flying in all directions and the colonel's face one great, joyous smile.

THRONG IGNORES RAIN.

It surely looked like old times. Despite the steady downpour that had been at it all day, a great crowd had assembled to welcome the Oyster Bay sage. As he stepped from the Pullman in the train shed he saw the mob, both inside and outside the gates, and he was ready, with nerves a-tingle and joy in his soul.

"Hello! Hello! I'm very glad to see you again," he kept saying as he did the flying wedge stunt, with the newspaper men lined up behind him and assisting in the propelling force.

MIGHTY CHEER GOES UP.

The colonel looked up, smiled, and shot up his hand in greeting. As he got through the gate into the first open space there went up a mighty cheer, accompanied by the explosions of several flashlights. The colonel seemed to be enjoying every second.

It would have been dangerous for any other human being to tackle the big, excited mob, but he went through it so easily, with the square shoulders working up a little exercise, that it was laughable.

Hundreds tumbled down the stairways after him, and when he struck the mosaics in the main entrance lobby he shot out with the stride that has covered miles of hard going in jungle trails.

CLING TO HIS AUTO.

There were no police on the outside, and as he leaped (the colonel never steps into a vehicle) into Harold Ickes' automobile newspaper men and boys climbed on the running board of the machine. One enthusiastic youth went over the side and almost landed on the colonel's knees.

But he wasn't angry.

He told them to come on, and waved his hat again and again.

Down La Salle street the automobile moved, with the score of men hanging to the sides. Every one who had an au-

MOTHER DEPORTED, BUT HER BABY REMAINS HERE.

Italian Woman Unable to Produce Husband She Said Three Years Ago Would Support Her.

The law has orphaned Carolina Nannini by the width of the sea, and it might as well have been the depth for all the mother expects to see her baby again.

Yesterday Mrs. Lizzie Nannini, the mother, who lived at 704 South Racine avenue, was put aboard a tourist car with nineteen other foreigners for deportation to Italy. Her 2 year old child, Carolina, who was born in America, was permitted to stay and has been left in care of an aunt, Mrs. A. Diglia, of the same address. The older children, who were born in Italy, were sent out of the country with the mother.

Mrs. Nannini three years ago told the immigration officials she had means of support consisting of a husband, but when the federal officials recently came to look for him she said he had returned to Italy.

Among others deported were two men convicted of violating the Mann act. The rest were expelled from the land of hope because of disease or misrepresentations upon entrance.

BIG RISE IN MARRIAGES

Why is it that on May 29, 1915, Chief Clerk Legner issued 140 marriage licenses and this year on the same date passed out 242? Yesterday's returns show an increase of 93. Count 'em! Is it because of the war in Mexico, the inferno in Europe, or simply a result of the becoming attires presently being worn by the women? In Persia years ago when the Omnipotent Shah saw that his people were not getting married fast enough he suggested radical alterations in the feminine modes of fashion of that time. Perhaps the stunning short skirts, the chic high boots, and the diaphanous silk hose preferred by many American women are compelling men to act who never appreciated feminine charm before. What?

tomobile tiger tooted the horn, and the crowds yelled and waved small American flags.

One man had a bandanna handkerchief spread out across his breast and distributed campaign cards for the Progressive candidates for the Superior court bench —John T. Richards and Russell Whitman.

ANOTHER JAM AT HOTEL.

There was another immense jam at the La Salle hotel, hundreds of the crowd almost keeping up with the automobile.

"That I am in first class physical condition," said the former president, as he finally got to his room, "goes without saying when you recall that I successfully negotiated that crowd and survived."

After the hallway had been cleared by the secret service men, Col. Roosevelt called in the newspaper men and shook hands with everybody.

"I have but one thing to say," he began, his face resuming a serious look, "and that is in reply to some of our good pacifist friends who are saying that preparedness means war.

"You might just as well argue that we shouldn't permit our sons to learn how to write in school lest they become forgers. Now, simply because some men who know how to write are forgers is no reason why we should abandon the teaching of writing. And it is just as sensible to abolish writing from this country as it is to abandon national preparedness."

Col. Roosevelt said he would have nothing more to say for the press until he cuts loose in Kansas City today.

In reply to the question as to whether he desired to comment on the meeting here of the German-American editors to protest against his nomination, he straightened up and asked quickly:

"What did they do?"

Silent Until Editors Act.

He was informed that no definite action had been taken yet.

"Well, then," he smiled, shaking the hand of Max Bauman, a Staats Zeitung reporter, "I shall have nothing to say on that score until they have said something definite."

The colonel received several delegations at the hotel during his four hour stay here.

One was a committee representing the Fort Benjamin Harrison "rooky" training camp.

One member of the committee—Harry Hill—was a comrade of Theodore Roosevelt Jr., at Plattsburg last summer. When this information was imparted to the colonel he grasped Hill by one hand and laid the other on his shoulder and shook him affectionately.

Democracy in Dog Tents.

"It is a good omen," he said, "that you men are here today. You men stand for the democratization of the dog tent and the hike. You are doing a great work. You have benefited my three boys immensely. You are a great service to this country.

"You are setting an example to which the whole country should come. You boys have the means. I want to put it in the power of every young fellow, of the mechanic's son and the laborer's son, as well as you bankers' sons, to secure this training.

"I am glad this camp is in this part of the country. The middle west has been our bulwark. It was Illinois that gave to the nation Grant and Sherman and Sheridan. It is a fine thing that the sons and grandsons of these men and the other loyal men of Illinois are understanding what we mean by loyalty and patriotism. Your work means the trained loyalty of the country."

Some on the Committee.

Among the members of the committee were Dr. John Weatherson, George F. Porter, Harry Hill, Oscar H. Haugan, Ralph E. Church, Wharton Clay, John S. Miller Jr., Charles B. Pike, Harold W. Shell, and Richard N. Magill, enrollment secretary of the military training camps' association.

Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal courts was another caller. He was closeted with the colonel for some time. It was understood they were discussing the political situation in Chicago and Illinois.

Old Crusading Spirit.

O. K. Davis, secretary of the Progressive national committee, after leaving the colonel, said:

"Our people already are showing signs of that crusading spirit of 1912. Already they are singing 'Onward, Christian Soldiers,' and with that spirit they are going to move on Chicago."

Alexander H. Revell, City Treasurer Charles H. Sergel, and City Clerk John Sman had a talk with the colonel.

Messrs. Sergel and Siman are the two Roosevelt delegates in Illinois who smashed the Sherman slate in the April primaries.

Col. Roosevelt departed at 8 o'clock last night for Kansas City. He will go to St. Louis tomorrow for a speech and then will hike back to Oyster Bay to await the tidings from Chicago next week or the week after.

RUSSEL GIVES HIS STAND IN REPLY TO M'CORMICK.

Candidate for Republican Nomination for Governor for Vote on New Constitution.

State Treasurer Andrew Russel, announced as a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, has given a reply to the letter of Representative Medill McCormick, sent to all of the candidates for governor, asking for an expression of views as to public utilities, home rule, a constitutional convention, and efficiency and economy in state affairs.

Mr. Russel's statement, received yesterday, follows:

"The city of Chicago, now the second and soon destined to be the first in size and importance in the United States, should be provided with the best possible and most economic form of government. If the present laws governing public utilities do not answer the purpose, so far as dealing with the utilities of Chicago is concerned, as seems to be the opinion of those most familiar with and most interested in such matters, then there should be ample relief through constitutional amendment or legislation.

"In my opinion the time has come when the people should have an opportunity to vote upon the question of a new constitution.

"I also believe that the governor of the state should comply with the provisions of section 7 of article 5 of the present constitution and, at the beginning of each regular session of the legislature, present to that body estimates of the appropriations required by each of the different departments of the state government.

"The creation of the efficiency and economy commission was a move in the right direction, and the recommendations made by that commission should be adopted, so far as they were practicable."

HUGHES WILLING TO MAKE RACE, WITH CONDITIONS

Men who will control entire state delegations at the Coliseum next week believe they have reached the heart of the Hughes situation.

Six hours after Frank H. Hitchcock, former postmaster general, arrived in Chicago this sort of a story began to dribble through to the rank and file from the inside insiders:

Justice Hughes is dead willing to run for president and will resign from the Supreme court before the first ballot begins if he can be assured by competent and first hand authority that there will be no third ticket nominated by the Progressive convention.

Negotiations have been in progress for forty-eight hours, centering in Chicago, looking toward the production of the "competent and first hand authority." The very best authority, gossip added, passed on to Kansas City last night after a four hour stop in our midst.

Await Colonel's Answer.

Whether the Hughes situation was put up definitely to the colonel while he was here, is undetermined as far as the convention campaigners are concerned. They think it has been and they think, furthermore, that the colonel will answer Justice Hughes' question before he gets back to Oyster Bay.

State leaders who are well within the combination of delegates that prefers neither Hughes nor Roosevelt are willing to admit a response from the colonel that there will be no third ticket means that Hughes cannot be defeated for the nomination. They are a unit in the belief that if the colonel says his hands are tied; that he cannot deliver the Progressive convention one way or the other; then it is a gilt-edged certainty Justice Hughes is eliminated from further consideration as a dangerous contender at the Coliseum.

Sees Hughes to Win.

Frank Hitchcock didn't say anything like this. His information, as given out to the newspaper men, was all the other way. He hadn't seen Justice Hughes for many months; hadn't talked to him, and didn't pretend to quote him.

"But," said Mr. Hitchcock, "Justice Hughes will accept the nomination if it is tendered to him. The nomination will be tendered to him, not on the first ballot, but early in the balloting. More than 400 delegates now are for Hughes. He will have 55 of the 87 delegates from New York."

The production of figures from New York by Mr. Hitchcock started the first real argument that has been heard along candidates' row.

"If Mr. Hitchcock's dope on the rest of the nation is as punk as it is on New York we needn't worry any longer about the Hughes boom," was the caustic comment of a New Yorker who is strong for Root. "Root has forty-five of the New York delegates absolutely pledged and signed up."

Barnes to Make Fight.

Arriving squads of New York men brought in the certain indication that the Hughes-Root-Roosevelt contest in New York is to be one of the exciting side issues of the convention. William Barnes Jr. will make a desperate fight for re-election as national committeeman. Herbert Parsons is to be the candidate expected to centralize the forces of the opposition.

The coming of Mr. Hitchcock, who is credited with having annexed a string of southern delgates much after the fashion in which the job was done in 1908 and again in 1912, was the feature event of the day.

Incidentally Frank Hitchcock wants everybody to know that there are no Hughes "headquarters." He and his staff, headed by Col. "Bill" Hayward, who was from Nebraska while secretary of the 1908 national committee [now one of Gov. Whitman's public utility commissioners in New York], have a half dozen big rooms, secretaries, stenographers, and press agents, but the Hughes movement is strictly "of and by the people," Mr. Hitchcock says, and doesn't need campaign "headquarters."

Also, Mr. Hitchcock solemnly affirms he hasn't been south of Washington since the scramble for delegates began.

DRYS DIVIDE ON "PREPARE."

Illinois Prohibition Party Will Open Convention Tomorrow at Peoria.

Illinois Prohibition party men and women will contest over the preparedness issue at the state convention to be held in Peoria tomorrow and Thursday.

Two of the avowed candidates for the nomination for president, former Gov. William Sulzer of New York and former Gov. Eugene N. Foss of Massachusetts, will address the convention. Each is seeking instructions for the Illinois delegation to the national convention to be held in Minneapolis next month.

The Cook county delegation, split nearly half and half on the preparedness issue, will go to Peoria on a special train tonight.

CONVENTION NOTES IN SMALL SHOTS

The Hamilton club announces a smoker Tuesday night for the visiting newspaper men —about 600 of them.

Congressman Will Wood of the Indiana delegation has been picked to make the nominating speech for Fairbanks.

Cummins, La Follette, Knox, and Brumbaugh headquarters will be opened at the Congress on Thursday, according to announcement last night from Manager John Burke of the hotel.

George von L. Meyer, former secretary of the navy, takes active command of the Roosevelt Republican forces today. Pending his coming Lawrence Graham and Herbert L. Satterlee of New York are in charge of the Roosevelt headquarters at the Congress.

Chauncey M. Depew, one of the New York delegates, has notified the Three Score and Ten club that he will be present at the "president's dinner" in the gold room of the Congress Saturday night. This is to be one of the biggest of the social events of the convention season.

Alice Hill Chittenden of the New York State Anti-National Woman's Suffrage association, wired Chairman Hilles that she will appear before the resolutions committee to fight against a suffrage plank. "We'll give 'em all a chance," Chairman Hilles commented.

Frank Hitchcock startled the old liners by asserting that Alabama will give way to Gov. Whitman of New York, who will place Justice Hughes in nomination. The Root and Roosevelt scouts started immediately on the trail of National Committeeman Prelate Barker with the avowed intention of spiking this move of Hitchcock's.

Trouble is brewing from the territories. Hawaii, Porto Rico, and the Philippines—allowed two delegates each but with no right to vote—insist that they have as much claim upon voting privileges as the District of Columbia or Alaska that get two real votes each. Chairman Hilles was notified that the three delegations will demand full privileges accorded to other delegates.

HUGHES BOOM ON THE WANE?

George von Lengerke Meyer and his new Roosevelt Republican committee got busy with a gigantic propaganda of petitions and letters to delegates from the "plain people," planning for the nomination of the colonel with the organization of Roosevelt parades and with pilgrimages of admirers to the home of the martial sage at Oyster Bay.

All of this maneuvering had its effect. There was no doubt about it, the Hughes boom suffered a setback. It was clear that the old guard and the allies were in a position to prevent the nomination of Hughes without a fight. With that all hands, including the Rooseveltians, were satisfied. But with the recrudescence of the Roosevelt boom all hands, except the Rooseveltians, were not satisfied.

Hughes May Bar Name.

Even more disconcerting to the leaders was the gossip going the rounds here today to the effect that Justice Hughes is far from satisfied with the prospect of a fight over his nomination and is likely to forbid the presentation of his name to the convention.

The story, the truth of which was not disputed by the friends of Justice Hughes, is that he is preparing a letter to Gov. Whitman of New York, asserting that he has no desire to retire from the supreme court, and that he would not accept the nomination if offered to him. It was said that this letter surely will be sent not later than the eve of the assembling of the convention if the fight on the justice continues to develop.

Justice Hughes could not be reached in regard to this report. He has taken sanctuary completely and his secretary said he would receive no one seeking to ask him any questions relating to politics.

Must Have United Support.

Friends of the jurist among the politicians are somewhat discouraged over the turn of affairs and inclined to take some stock in the story of the prospective withdrawal of Mr. Hughes from the contest.

They admit that the justice will not think of accepting the nomination unless it comes to him without effort and as the offering of a practically unanimous convention, together with tangible evidence that the Progressives will support him.

Mr. Hughes is reputed to be somewhat dubious regarding the united support of Republicans and Progressives since Col. Roosevelt has evinced a disposition to oppose him.

Wilson Hard to Beat.

Many Republican leaders concede that President Wilson is not going to be an antagonist easily defeated. Hence, if Hughes should be nominated and Roosevelt and other Progressives should support him lukewarmly, the election of the justice would be far from a foregone conclusion.

The hesitancy of the justice to leave a life berth under such circumstances is duly appreciated by the Republican politicians.

Nothing would fill the majority of the old guardsmen with more dismay than the withdrawal of Hughes, leaving them to face a choice between Roosevelt and the field of lesser candidates.

Still they would feel more comfortable if he would concede his political demise. What they fear chiefly in the predicament of choosing between the colonel and a favorite son or dark horse is the effect of the widespread sentiment that only Hughes or Roosevelt can defeat Wilson With Hughes out of it the demand fo Roosevelt undeniably would be formidable.

HIRES ROOM IN LOOP HOTEL; TRIES TO END HIS LIFE.

Herman Fischer Shoots Himself Below Heart While Worrying Over Money.

Herman Fischer, 503 North Ninth avenue, Maywood, tried to end his life last night in the Victoria hotel, at Clark and Van Buren streets. He is presumed to be an employé of the Western Electric company. He registered at the hotel as H. F. Bruder of Forest Park at 5:30 p. m., and at 9 o'clock he fired a shot which just missed his heart. On his way to St. Luke's hospital he told the police he was worried about money. In a note addressed to the police, which was opened by Sergts. McGurk and Mulvihill, he made provision for the disposal of his body, and also requested that two sealed notes, one to his wife, Mrs. Kate Fischer, and another to Dr. A. H. R. Atwood of the Western Electric company, be delivered.

BURTON MEN SAY HUGHES AND ROOSEVELT LOSE

Wade Ellis Asserts Ohioan's Nomination Would Satisfy All.

Burton managers from Ohio, taking possession of their Chicago headquarters yesterday, read Hughes and Roosevelt out of commission and proclaimed Burton the logical candidate.

Wade H. Ellis, former attorney general of Ohio, and active manager of the Taft preconvention campaign in 1908, was the spokesman put forward by the Ohioans to say that Burton's nomination would be satisfactory, both to Hughes and Roosevelt elements.

Unite on Burton?

Mr. Ellis' statement furnished about all of the fireworks in evidence along Candidates' Row last night. It says:

"Without any disparagement of the other 'favorite sons' that are in this contest, the country generally and Republicans throughout the country expect this convention will nominate Hughes or Roosevelt or Burton.

"Now, Hughes is not a candidate, does not want to be nominated. Roosevelt is a candidate, but hardly expects to be nominated. The supporters of both these men would be satisfied with the nomination of Burton.

"I firmly believe that if this convention nominates Burton there will be a greater number of persons go away from Chicago satisfied than with any other action the convention could take. There is not a man here, there is not a Republican in the United States but who would say 'Well done, we are satisfied.'"

Those Anonymous Cards.

Somebody has been sending anonymous postal cards to the national delegates reflecting upon Mr. Burton's record in the senate. This has angered the Burton management and the following was given out over the signature of Granville W. Mooney, former speaker of the Ohio house of representatives:

"It has been called to my attention that anonymous postal cards have been sent to delegates to the Republican convention, and perhaps to others, attacking Senator Burton's record in the senate. It is unnecessary for me to say anyone who employs anonymous communications for any purpose is unworthy of consideration.

"Senator Burton's record in congress speaks for itself. It seems to me that such efforts to discredit a candidate or to promote the candidacy of any other man or men can be taken as complimentary to the candidate so attacked. It indicates he is considered the strongest candidate and the one who has to be beaten."

HAS $225,000 TO BET ON HUGHES AT EVEN MONEY.

Wall Street Man Also Holds $75,000 to Place on Roosevelt's Chances for Nomination.

New York, May 29.—[Special.]—With the Republican national convention only about a week off betting in the Wall street district as to the candidate most likely to obtain the nomination became active today, with Chief Justice Hughes favorite.

Chester Thompson, who handles most of the big wagers in the financial district, reported that about $225,000 had been placed in his hands to bet on Hughes at even money, this money coming largely from Chicago, Philadelphia, and Boston. On Saturday the odds against Hughes were 7 to 5.

Thompson also reported that about $75,000 has been placed in his hands to bet on Roosevelt at the prevailing odds of 8 to 5 against the chances of the ex-president being nominated.

The odds quoted against the other candidates were: Root, 8 to 1; Fairbanks, 15 to 1; Burton, 25 to 1; Ford, 40 to 1, and the others, 50 to 1.

2,000 BOOMERS TO AID SHERMAN

GET IN ACTION SUNDAY.

Two thousand Illinois Republicans will constitute the active campaign committee that will mobilize in Chicago Sunday night and work for Lawrence Y. Sherman.

Headquarters will be established in the gold room at the Congress, and there Speaker David E. Shanahan, as chairman of the Sherman steering committee, will direct the efforts of the Sherman organization, said to be the largest campaign committee that has attended a national convention.

The 1916 club Sherman headquarters issued a statement last night which said:

"Each worker is assigned to delegates from certain states and personal work in the interest of the Sherman campaign will be the business of each of the members of the committee."

Mayor's Committee Active.

Mayor Thompson's committee is taking a leading part in the Sherman demonstration arrangements.

The Sherman managers moved into the Congress hotel headquarters yesterday. Senator Sherman is not expected to be in Chicago during the national convention, but will be within reach.

DEMOCRATS PLAN TO CREATE TARIFF BODY; SEEK VOTES.

Ways and Means Committee Agrees to Protection for Dyestuff Industry in Revenue Bills.

Washington, D. C., May 29.—[Special.]—An agreement to include in the forthcoming revenue bills provision for the creation of a tariff commission, protective duties for the dyestuff industry, and anti-dumping and unfair competition provisions was reached today at a conference of the Democratic members of the ways and means committee of the house.

The provisions agreed upon today constitute the steps by which the Democratic leaders hope to win to the support of the revenue bill many Republican votes.

Majority Leader Kitchin went so far today as to characterize the proposed measure as nonpartisan and to express the hope that a majority of the Republican members of the house will vote for it.

SENATE BOWS TO POLITICS.

Adopts Rule for Three Day Recesses During Convention Weeks, June 3 to 19.

Washington, D. C., May 29.—The way was cleared in the senate today for the national political conventions by the adoption of a resolution providing for three day recesses, from June 3 to June 19. Nothing but the introduction of bills and resolutions and the reception of communications from the president will be in order on meeting days.

ENLISTMENT FOR PREPARE PARADE PASSES 200,000

If everybody "makes good," there will be at least 50,000 more marchers in next Saturday's great preparedness parade than ever appeared in a like demonstration in the United States.

The enrollment lists were officially closed yesterday at 5 p. m. At that hour it was estimated (the detailed count will not be completed for a day or two) that places had been asked for 200,000 men, women, and children.

This does not include the 80,000 members of the Chicago Building Trades Council, who have arranged to report their enrollment today, or the large number of "unattached" women, who, by a special dispensation, will be allowed to enlist in marching units up to 5 o'clock tomorrow.

More than 250,000.

At parade headquarters it was said a good many more than 250,000 are included in the various contingents which have actually promised to march. Discounting overestimates, duplications in enrollment, and the folks who may be "unavoidably detained," it seems certain that 200,000 persons will be in line.

The offices in the Monadnock building will be closed all day today. Behind locked doors Maj. Gen. E. C. Young, the grand marshal, his aids, and a force of stenographers will tackle the huge task of making up the parade divisions and assigning a time and place for mobilizing to each contingent.

It has been impossible to do this while the enrollments have been coming in, but the lists virtually are complete now and the information will be sent to the division marshals probably tomorrow.

20,000 an Hour.

A plan was worked out by which it is expected the time of the parade will be reduced by several hours. The organization has been condensed until, according to Gen. Young, it is believed between 20,000 and 25,000 an hour can be marched.

The ranks under the new arrangement will be two paces apart, with a captain for each ten ranks of sixteen marchers each. This will give an effect of density and solidity. Orders are being issued to all divisions telling them that great assistance can be rendered the marshal if all bodies will form promptly as they are designated, keep their ranks closed during the march, and disperse promptly after the parade so as not to obstruct those who come after them.

The paraders will be divided into divisions of approximately 20,000 each. Estimating that it will take each division an hour to pass the reviewing stand, Gen. Young figures that by twelve hours after the starting time he can move 240,000 people in the day and night parades.

Holiday for a Million.

About 1,000,000 in Chicago and the suburbs will be released from their work, either to take part in the parade or to view it. Manufacturers and merchants everywhere are joining a movement either to give their employés the entire day "off" with pay or the choice of marching or working, with pay in either case.

The parade committee in the morning ordered 150,000 copies of a pamphlet containing "America," "The Star Spangled Banner," "Dixie," and "Preparedness for Peace," the parade song, and these will be distributed among the marchers in bundles of 100.

In the afternoon Chief of Police Healey, Britton I. Budd, president of the elevated lines; William M. Weatherwax, superintendent of the surface lines, and S. J. Larned of the Chicago Telephone company held a long conference and worked out the details of downtown car service, handling the crowds, and "dispatching" the big parade by telephone.

Rush Hour Service on "L."

It was decided that the elevated lines shall run a rush hour service, with frequent "around the loop" trains, all day. South side surface cars will be permitted to approach the loop only as far as Harrison street (instead of Van Buren, as previously announced), west side as far as Clinton, and north side as far as Lake.

An enthusiastic gathering of women who have enlisted as "first aids" in the American Red Cross met at the women's parade headquarters and perfected their plans for marching and reporting for duty at the eighteen emergency stations to be placed at intervals along the line of march.

Women at Station.

Meanwhile the first aid classes were given their first chance to show the results of their training by the following assignments to stations along the line of march:

Station 2—Mrs. Edward Cudahy, Mrs. Keane Addington.

Station 8—Mrs. William H. Hubbard, Miss Margaret Enders, Miss Johnson, Mrs. Marshall Clark.
Station 9—Mrs. H. W. Gosliee, Mrs. J. C. Haag.
Station 10—Miss Jeanette Campbell.
Station 12—Mrs. William P. Nelson, Mrs. E. K. Shearson.
Station 13—Mrs. Gordon Wilson, Miss Dorothy Forsenden.
Station 14—Mrs. Henry Holmholz, Mrs. Burt.
Station 15—Mrs. H. J. Ullmann, Mrs. Seller Bullard.
Station 16—Mrs. L. N. Berger, Mrs. Andrew B. McCaughey.
Station 17—Mrs. William H. Bush, Mrs. William Ennis.
Station 18—Miss Eleanor Hamilton, Miss Lindley.

Maj. John V. Clinnin met the mayor's preparedness committee at the city hall and announced plans calling for the participation of about 7,000 city officials and employés. The committee indorsed a resolution which will be introduced in the council on Friday night directing department heads to excuse all employés who want to march.

Society folk crowded the women's parade headquarters in the Monadnock building yesterday, planning the participation of thousands of women in the great preparedness demonstration next Saturday. For the most part they devoted themselves to organizing the Red Cross "first aids," who will assist the nurses and physicians at the eighteen emergency stations to be established along the line of march.

TEXAS CONTESTS RUN TOTAL TO 61

Rival Conventions in Lone Star State Lead to Coliseum Fight.

Notice of contest of the eight delegates at large from Texas to the Coliseum convention reached Secretary James B. Reynolds yesterday. The contests were placed on the calendar of the national committee.

This brings the total of contested seats to sixty. If the national committee determines to waive the rule in the case of North Carolina, thereby letting in the twenty-one contests from that state, the total gets to 81, just about one-third of the number in 1912.

Texas Rights Clear.

The case of Texas is different from that of North Carolina, Secretary Reynolds explained, by reason of the primary law. The Texas conventions were held only last week and the twenty day limit prescribed for filing notice of contest could not be enforced. Rival state conventions were held the same day and Secretary Reynolds said the right to file a contest is clear.

The North Carolina contestants did not mail their notice of contest until the day after the twenty day limit had expired, and then they sent it to Mr. Reynolds "care Palmer House Annex." He didn't get it until Friday.

The session of the national committee will begin at 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning, in the committee headquarters at the Coliseum annex. Chairman Hilles is anxious to have the contest hearings disposed of before Saturday night.

The subcommittee on arrangements will meet tomorrow at the Congress hotel. All of the members of the subcommittee had arrived last night.

Reading Clerks Named.

Henry R. Rathbone, Chicago.
Horace H. Bancroft, Jacksonville, Ill.
J. Mitchell Galvin, Boston, Mass.
Malcolm Jennings, Columbus, O.
Charles M. Day, Sioux Falls, S. D.
Will A. Waite, Detroit, Mich.
David J. White, Providence, R. I.
W. E. Scott, Pueblo, Colo.
William T. Evjue, Madison, Wis.
David H. Bowman, Omaha, Neb.

Committeeman Ralph E. Williams of Oregon will ask the national committee to seat five men named as delegates to the Progressive national convention as alternates from his state to the Coliseum convention. The Republican and Progressive delegates and alternates from Oregon, Washington, and Idaho are traveling to Chicago in one special train and in entire harmony, Mr. Williams said. The Oregon primary law did not provide for the election of alternates, and the Williams suggestion probably will be adopted.

MIDLAND AUTHORS DECIDE NOT TO MARCH IN PARADE.

Some of Members Oppose Preparedness—Large Number Say They Will Enter Other Organizations.

At a meeting last night at the Bismarck garden of the Society of Midland Authors it was decided after an informal discussion that the organization would not march as such in the preparedness parade on Saturday. All of the authors were not for preparedness. A large number of the members, however, will march with other organizations.

Among the authors present were:

Edna Ferber,	Louise Ayers Garnett,
Clara Laughlin,	Edwin Balmer,
Herminie Templeton (Mrs. Marcus Kavanagh),	Clara Louise Burnham,
Mary Hastings Bradley.	Edith Wyatt, Walter T. Field, Alice Gerstenberg.

Hobart Chatfield-Taylor, president of the club, will be host to the club at his Lake Forest place in June.

NOTES OF THE PARADE

A conference of county officials will be held Thursday morning to determine whether county employes shall march in the preparedness parade in a body. This was decided at a meeting of the county board yesterday.

A flag famine threatens. The department stores report that their supply of the size prescribed for the marchers is running low. Rush orders have been sent to New York and other eastern cities.

Arch M. Willard, who painted "The Spirit of 1776," has accepted the committee's invitation to join the parade and will arrive from Cleveland Thursday afternoon. Willard is 84 years old.

Bishop Samuel Fallows sent letters yesterday to 1,200 clergymen urging them to join the ranks at once.

The stenographic and office forces of the Portland Cement association and eight Chicago cement companies—1,000 strong—will march at the head of the cement industry section.

Many boss barbers in Chicago have urged that shops throughout the city be closed on preparedness day. Samuel Miller, Louis Miller, Frank J. Buckby, and Benjamin Horwitz told "The Tribune" they'd close anyway.

Redmen will meet at 9 a. m. Saturday at the offices of Wilson Brookes, great chief of the order, 230 South La Salle street. J. M. Wing is marshal of the division.

The Illinois Athletic club is organizing under Capt. Charles T. Wilt as marshal. Their division will be led by the First Infantry band.

The board of trade division will mobilize on the exchange floor at 10 a. m. Saturday.

Armour & Co. has flooded the stockyards district with large posters headed "America—Prepare!" and urging every one to march in the parade.

Several hundred members of the Machinery club of Chicago will participate in the preparedness parade June 3, they decided at a banquet held at the Hotel La Salle last night.

PERKINS URGES ARTISTS TO "GET INTO POLITICS."

Advises Civic Activity in Meeting to Organize Chicago Art Societies Under Name of Consolidated Arts

Asserting that "the greatest power for social service is the political machine," Dwight Heald Perkins last night urged artists assembled at the Art institute to "get into politics." The purpose of the meeting was to take initial steps in the consolidation of art societies in Chicago under the name of the Associated Arts.

"If you just go around saying that such and such a thing ought to be done, you'll never get anywhere," Mr. Perkins said. "But if you go to Mayor Thompson and say: 'Here now, we have so many votes,' then there'll be sculpture on that Jackson street bridge and along the lake front as there ought to be."

Charles H. Prindiville was selected chairman of a committee to make plans for the new organization.

A program of music, dancing, and singing followed. Glenn Dillard Gunn played the piano; Miss Dorothy Bock presented classic dances, John Rankl sang, and Miss Florence Schubert played piano accompaniments for Miss Bock and Mr. Rankl. Refreshments followed on a lavish scale of "four dishes of ice cream apiece."

RED FIRE FINISH IN JUDGES' RACE

Leaders Start Machinery for Final Spurt Before Next Monday.

A red fire finish for the Cook county Superior court campaign is promised this week. Party committees and managers of the individual bench candidates took stock yesterday and placed in motion the machinery for a final campaign spurt which will carry the judicial battle through to poll closing time next Monday night.

With the starting of the last lap in the bench race all sorts of rumors of factional trading were heard. Most of these reports had to do with charges of favoritism in the playing of the Republican nominees, and the one which caused the most discussion was a rumor that secret orders had been sent out from the city hall to administration job holders that Robert E. Crowe must be elected at all costs.

The report, which was discredited by administration followers, brought little pleasure to the friends of Edward J. Herdlicka, the second city hall candidate on the Republican ticket. Similar stories to the effect that the Brundage neutrals were going to take special care of the neutral nominees and that the Deneen Republicans expected to pay attention only to their men on the Republican ticket, brought forth denials from the respective camps.

Democrats Fear Convention.

Realizing that the imminence of the national convention will increase Republican enthusiasm in the judicial campaign, the Democratic committee is putting forth every effort to arouse interest among the Democratic workers.

The Democrats are using for their chief argument that their candidates, with two exceptions, are sitting judges and should be returned upon their records. Especial efforts are being put forth in behalf of Judge Richard E. Burke, who has been seriously ill but now is on the road to recovery at his residence. He has not been able to make any campaign talks, but his followers are busy reciting the story of his public career in order to command support for him.

His work in the legislature, where he was a pioneer in the fight for the merit system in the civil service; his efforts in behalf of anti-loan shark bills, his legislative fight for the abolition of convict labor, and his successful opposition to the old Illinois and Michigan canal appropriation bill, which saved the state $153,000, all are being featured in nightly speeches.

Judge Cooper Men Busy.

Judge William Fenimore Cooper's friends also are especially active because of the specific attacks that have been made on him in several quarters. The Fort Sheridan training camp veterans are out in force for Judge Charles A. McDonald, one of their fellow "rookies" last year, while the county town Democrats are making extra efforts to push the candidacy of Judge Martin M. Gridley, Evanston's representative on the Democratic ticket.

Judge William E. Dever and Judge John J. Sullivan, the Dunne-Harrison representatives on the ticket, are the especial care of the followers of the governor and the former mayor in the bench battle. Joseph B. David, the short term nominee, is the orator in chief for the ticket and is making addresses day and night.

Progressive leaders are busily engaged in helping out the two nonpartisans—John T. Richards, Republican, and Russell Whitman, Democrat, who are running under the Moose emblem. Their argument is that the judges should be elected as nonpartisans.

NO LIFTING OF CITY LIDS FOR G. O. P. CONVENTION.

Chief Healey Says He Will Keep Tight Grip on Cafes and Saloons During G. O. P. Week.

Convention week will see no lifting of the lid on saloons, gambling, or the social evil, if Chief Healey's plans for holding it tight are successful.

For several weeks rumors that Chicago would "loosen up so the visitors may have some fun" have been growing. Some of the whispers have been that Mayor Thompson and the chief had agreed that it might be advisable to allow a little leeway to the saloons and restaurants.

Confronted with these reports yesterday the chief "blew up."

"Such talk is nonsense of the worst sort," he said, "and it is vicious gossip, for it hurts Chicago by attracting to it hundreds and even thousands of undesirables who believe it is true. We have enough here. Any newspaper that publishes stuff of that sort hasn't the interests of the city at heart.

"I shall impress upon the entire department that one of the most desirable impressions that can be created among the visitors is that Chicago is an orderly, law abiding city."

Chief Healey said that newspaper reports of the gambling were badly exaggerated.

AMERICANS? NO!

We Are Un-Americanized—That's the Trouble, Says Pastor.

THE REV. O. A. PARMENTER, pastor of the Arlington Heights Methodist church, preached before Grand Army veterans at a union meeting in the Presbyterian church. A veteran was so fired by the sentiment expressed he requested THE TRIBUNE to print an extract as good food for thought on Memorial day:

"Today the American people can feel no sting for any insult to the flag. Why? Because we are no longer an American people. We are un-Americanized Americans. America is not the same nation she was when Fort Sumpter was fired on. Our flag has been insulted, our border has been crossed, our soldiers have been fired upon, and our private citizens have been murdered in their own streets. Placards in our streets appeal in vain for our men to enlist. Our flag has been insulted and we have not felt it. "We need not only the respect of our foes, but the allegiance of our citizens. Before we can hope to defend America we must make ourselves American."

MAN WINS PRIZE ON SLOGAN FOR WOMAN'S PARADE

"Give a Woman a Man's Chance," R. Mayne's Idea of the Right Thing.

Give a Woman a Man's Chance.

R. Maynes, a male, residing at 3909 Rokeby street, was the winner. The board of award was composed of the managing editors of the Chicago dailies.

Autos to Rally Paraders.

More than 100 automobiles are to take part next Monday afternoon in a great suffrage parade rally. Every machine is expected to remain on the streets until it has signed up at least 100 marchers for the suffrage procession of June 7.

The automobiles will be divided into thirty-five squadrons, each squadron containing four cars. The groups of four will start out at 3 o'clock from a central point in every ward, and will proceed north, south, east, and west, spreading the parade propaganda.

Speakers in Every Car.

There will be women speakers in every car, and the women not speaking will mingle through the street corner crowds signing up marchers for the parade. Women in the stores and moving picture theaters will be requested to sign up for the parade, and will be informed as to the location of the parade recruiting station in the ward. The automobiles will carry supplies of the marching regalia, including white skirts, waists, hats, sashes, and pennants.

All the principal streets of the city will be covered. Letters instructing the ward chairmen were sent out last night by Mrs. Judith Loewenthal, secretary of the national parade committee.

Dean Talbot to Lead.

Dean Marion Talbot of the University of Chicago will marshal a cap and gown division. It is expected that there will be over 1,000 women in the division, and graduates of Vassar, Wellesley, Smith, Bryn, Mawr, Northwestern university, and the Universities of Chicago, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, and Iowa already have signified their intention to march.

Dr. Clara Seippel is in charge of a division of women doctors, dentists, and lawyers. About 800 students of the Chicago Normal college will march in the parade, with a delegation of 1,500 members of the Woman's City club.

GROUND BROKEN FOR FIRST CAVALRY ARMORY.

Mrs. Mary Foreman, Mother of the Colonel, Turns First Shovelful of Sod.

Ground was broken yesterday for the new armory of the First cavalry of the Illinois national guard. The first shovel of earth was turned by Mrs. Mary Foreman, mother of Col. Milton J. Foreman. Mrs. Foreman is 77 years old. A bottle of champagne was broken over the newly turned earth as officers of the regiment cheered.

The site of the new armory is just east of the Chicago avenue pumping works. At present there is $180,000 available for the construction of the new building, but an additional appropriation will be sought at the next session of the legislature.

"After ten years of effort, work on the new armory has actually begun," Col. Foreman said. "When it is finished it will be the finest piece of military architecture in the United States. It will also be one of the show places of the town, comparing favorably with the University club and the Art institute. Of course, we have not yet obtained the full amount necessary to complete the building, but there can be no question the legislature eventually will appropriate sufficient to construct the kind of armory the First cavalry needs."

MAYOR 'CALLS' WET LEADERS

Challenges United Societies to Prove Charge of Favoring Certain Saloonkeepers.

Mayor Thompson's reply yesterday to the charge of the United Societies that favoritism is shown certain saloonkeepers in the enforcement of the Sunday closing law was brief.

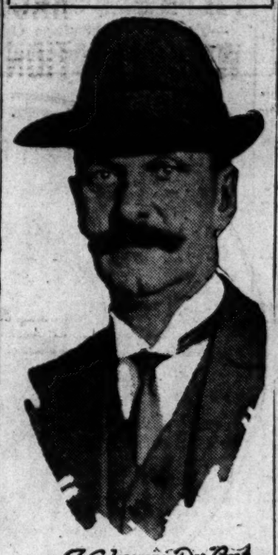

"I'd like to have them prove there is favoritism being shown to any of my friends," he said.

"Will you ask them to submit their proof if they have any?" asked a reporter.

"No, I will not," was the reply, "because I know that their statement is made out of whole cloth."

HAT IN RING

Mr. Du Pont of Delaware Here to Open Campaign Headquarters.

T. Coleman Du Pont

Campaign headquarters of T. Coleman Du Pont of Delaware will be opened at the Congress hotel today. Mr. Du Pont himself arrived in Chicago yesterday and is at the Blackstone. Six delegates from Delaware are pledged to vote for him, but one of them, Alfred I. Du Pont, the candidate's brother, is known to be a Roosevelt man.

TO WOMEN MARCHERS

How You May Get a Place in the Defense Parade.

MANY inquiries have been made by women as to how they may arrange to take part in next Saturday's big preparedness demonstration. The only way is to find fifteen other women who want to march and organize a unit, for the parade committee has found itself facing such a huge task that it cannot undertake to organize units on its own account.

Mrs. Samuel T. Chase, chairman of the "patriotic women's division," issued this statement yesterday:

"Any woman, not belonging to an organization, who wishes to march in the preparedness parade, may form a unit of sixteen women among her friends or acquaintances and send in the entry to Mrs. Samuel Chase, 732 Monadnock building, on or before May 31. All units must be registered at headquarters to be allotted space in the parade."

GOLFERS LINE UP FOR PREPAREDNESS PARADE.

Committee Formed to Marshal Niblick Swingers for Part in Big Defense Demonstration.

Reports received yesterday by the Press Golf club, which is arranging a contingent of golfers for the preparedness parade, show hundreds are ready to turn out and demonstrate that golf keeps all its followers prepared at all times. A time for the start of the niblick swingers, who will each carry a golf club to which will be attached an American flag, will be set today by the parade committee.

A committee was appointed by President Basil G. Wyrick of the Press Golf club to marshal the golfers. This committee includes:

P. M. McCANN, Jackson Park Golf club, south side.
JAMES D. GIBSON, former president of the Garfield Golf club, west side.
CHARLES EVANS JR., Edgewater, north side private clubs.
D. E. SAWYER, Wheaton, west side private clubs.
T. A. BALLANTYNE, Calumet, south side private clubs.
PAUL R. LEACH, southwest clubs.
H. E. STUCKEL, Marquette park.

OFFERS SELF AS DARK HORSE

Alfred Ronald Conkling, New York City Lawyer, Seeks Vice Presidency.

Alfred Ronald Conkling, lawyer, writes to THE TRIBUNE from New York City that he desires the Republican convention delegates to know that he is an announced dark horse candidate for vice president, and that he prefers to announce his candidacy in a Chicago paper.

Mr. Conkling refers to "Who's Who in America," as to his life and public services. That work says Mr. Conkling wears degrees from Yale and Columbia; has traveled over Europe and the east; has crossed the plains thrice; has climbed the Alps and Mont Blanc; has been a member of the board of aldermen of New York City, and of the New York general assembly.

GERMANS URGE STRICT NEUTRAL FOR PRESIDENT

Demand of Both Republicans and Democrats That Fair Men Be Named.

Representatives of business, social, and quasi-political organizations, churches, and of the German-American Press association yesterday spoke to the Republican and Democratic parties through resolutions adopted at a conference in the Kaiserhof hotel.

They expressed the hope that the parties will nominate for the presidency men whose views will meet those of the members of the conference for strict neutrality, a foreign policy of firmness and justice—men who will show no "passionate attachment" to one belligerent nation nor an "inveterate antipathy" to another.

Twenty-six states and territories had representatives present. Many organizations of Americans of German ancestry were either represented or pledged sympathetic support.

Here Are the Resolutions.

The resolutions read:

"We, the authorized representatives of millions of voters in the United States, in conference assembled, resolve that:

"We demand a neutrality in strict accordance with the advice contained in George Washington's address to the American people.

"We urge a foreign policy which protects American lives and American interests with equal firmness and justice.

"We condemn every official act and policy that shows passionate attachment for one belligerent nation or inveterate antipathy for another.

Against Racial Divisions.

"We deplore those utterances, voiced by officials, ex-officials, and others, designed to create or tending to create a division along racial lines among our people.

"We hope that no party will nominate for the presidency a candidate whose views tend to establish such division.

"We trust that the Republican convention will unite all the elements in that party upon a candidate whose views are in harmony with those hereinbefore expressed.

"We trust that the Democratic convention will nominate for the presidency one who subscribes to the views expressed hereinbefore.

"We assert that any candidate for the presidency who is not in accord with the views expressed hereinbefore is unworthy of the support of a free and independent electorate."

Platform of Principles.

"We deplore and condemn all attempts to divide Americans and to insult or stigmatize any race, creed, or color by invidious hyphenation. Men from every country of the world have found here a new home—a land of liberty, of equal opportunity and equal justice—and all have contributed their sweat and their blood to the upbuilding and defense of our grand democracy. They may be hyphenated Americans, but their Americanism is unhyphenated.

"We believe in adequate preparedness based upon patriotism and culminating in efficiency, but divorced from politics and jingoism. We disapprove an overgrown military establishment that may be used for purposes of conquest or the intimidation of labor.

"We believe that an American merchant marine should be created and protected, so that American ships under the stars and stripes shall carry on our foreign commerce.

"We believe in the freedom of the seas and the policy of the open door, in frank diplomacy and international good will as opposed to the double standard.

"We believe in maintaining all American rights at all times against all transgressors, without undue severity and haste on the one hand or undue leniency and delay on the other."

COLONEL HOLDS ARMY SERVICE PEACE BENEFIT

Urges Health Campaign and Business Preparedness as Other Needs.

This article, entitled "Nationalizing the United States," is the second of a series by Theodore Roosevelt on the question of national defense. It is expected that another article will appear in "The Tribune" on Thursday.

BY THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

[Copyright: 1916: By S. S. McClure.]

I believe in universal service based upon universal training. I believe in this because I think it would be not only of incalculable benefit to the nation in the event of war but of incalculable benefit to the individuals undergoing it and therefore, to the nation as a whole as regards the work of peace.

The military tent, where all sleep side by side, will rank next to the public school among the great agents of democratization. The civilian training camp movement is the best civic movement for Americanism which is now actively manifest.

Our young men need discipline. There can be nothing better for them than such training. It would set them up physically. It would give them advantage of sanitation, of cleanliness. They would learn regularity of habits, abstinence, obedience, self-respect, and respect for others. They would learn to handle and command men and to get along with them. They would become infinitely more competent for the daily tasks of American life.

Germany Example to U. S.

I have not hesitated, and do not now hesitate, to condemn Germany where Germany's actions have been wrong, but it is folly to blink the fact that in many respects Germany furnishes us an example we shall do well to heed, for she secures her people good government; orderly government, and substantial economic justice combined with high industrial efficiency.

Our national government in preparation for universal service should take an interest in the health and vigor of its citizens. Such conditions as the lack even of statistics on births, deaths, and health in two-thirds of the states would thereby immediately become impossible. The government should as a matter of course see to it that children are born and reared under conditions that make for health and a full development of bodily strength.

National supervision and national aid for education would supplement the present unequal—and in some states haphazard—local effort. The boy who is educated in the one room prairie school may tomorrow be the business man of New York or the engineer guiding our trains across the Rockies. Every American, no matter where he lives, is interested in that boy's education.

Americans of Tomorrow.

The American nation of tomorrow rests in the children of today. If universal military service makes us realize that each of us is unanimously preparing for the children of this whole nation the right conditions of life and proper education, it will have paid all that it costs many times over.

Under a program of all around preparedness our government would enter a new relation to business. It would recognize that our corporations and business organizations serve the public and give proper wages and proper treatment in all matters to the wage workers in time of peace, only if they are well organized and prosperous.

While imposing the obligations for national service upon the corporation, the government would encourage business. The same organization that would make for national strength if we were in conflict with a foreign foe would give us the basis for a more successful international business struggle in times of peace.

Should Aid Business.

Victory over the forces of nature, like success in business competition with foreign nations, presupposes the same kind of proper organizations as is demanded by the preparedness movement. Hence, the government should encourage business, build it up, understand its needs, endeavor to deal with it from the standpoint of experts instead of that of politicians. It would, thereby, aid business in accomplishing those things that lie beyond the power of the individual corporation.

In another respect the United States has entered a new era in its development. We are no longer merely the market place to which foreign countries may export their capital and manufactured goods. Our own industries have developed to a point where they can take care of the home markets and supply foreign markets as well. The savings of our people are available for foreign investment and the development of foreign countries.

Need Protection Abroad.

When the American business man or banker travels aboard in pursuit of his legitimate interests his citizenship should provide him with protection. If a great American concern can plan the damming of a river in Mexico and supply the electrical machinery that will convert current into light and power, a real service is rendered to the Mexican peons whose fields are irrigated and made profitable, to the Mexican city whose streets are being lighted and whose street cars are driven by cheaper power.

On the other hand, the American workingman in the manufacturing plant thereby secures an opportunity for remunerative employment, and the American capitalist or business man, to whose initiative such enterprise is due, has rendered, if he deals justly, a double service and is deserving of, and should have the protection of our flag. The nations that have counted in the world are those who have built up respect for their citizens aboard.

Americanism Scorned.

St. Paul called out in the courts of Asia Minor: "Civis Romanus sum." In Mexico and throughout the large part of South America the appeal of an American, "I am a citizen of the United States!" would be met with cries of scorn and derision. This condition is due to the ignoble failure of our administration at Washington during the last few years to live up to its elemental duty toward its citizens abroad.

The absence of a strong sense of nationalism among the legislators at Washington is one of the deep causes of the inefficiency of our government. The most ominous sign of our times is the evidence in congress that personal politics, and especially pure considerations of vote getting, are influencing the most important legislation.

Pork Hunters Traitors.

The congressman who attempts to demand a postoffice, an army barracks or a navy yard to be located in his district, out of the place where it would do most good for the nation, is committing a crime that endangers his country's very existence. Advantage to himself in votes, advantage to his constituents in the shape of "pork barrel graft" from the public treasury—make him yield to the temptation to betray the national trust.

As our sense of nationalism grows we will feel this more and more keenly. If properly organized our government would survey all the national resources and all he funds derived from them which the nation has to spend during the particular year and apportion these funds by the aid of a scientific budget plan, to those needs that are most pressing and to those projects that would accomplish the greatest good from the viewpoint of the nation as a whole.

The great historical efforts at nation building have always culminated in a unified code of laws which were the expression of the new national consciousness. In national matters we must substitute for the forty-eight conflicting sets of laws a uniform code of nation-wide application.

Evil of Conflicting Laws.

Our present conflict of laws brings all law into contempt. Serious as such conflicts of laws regarding moral questions are, it is worse in relation to business. The people of a state that regulates child labor, hours of toil, and the protection of women workers have to compete against another state where child labor is unrestricted and where the hours of toil are unregulated.

Business concerns that cover the nation must have numerous bodies of lawyers and clerks to deal with the local laws and regulations in the various states. If these differences were wiped out there would be such a release of energy as is undreamed of at present. America would go forward by leaps and bounds as Germany did after her complete unification.

America Has Great Part.

I believe that America has a great part to play in the world. I believe that the strengthening of the nationalism of the United States will have definite meaning for humanity. I believe that the vision of democracy and of human freedom, which took form in the American declaration of independence and which was built into this nation by the blood and the self-sacrifice and the cool, far sighted judgment of our forefathers has a meaning in the world.

The United States should become a world influence because it has something to give to all nations.

Let us not shirk our duty behind the phrases of the rhetorician and the pacifist but play our parts resolutely like strong men, who hold the national duty above all else.

Bridge Work Delayed.

Although tools have been delivered at the Monroe street bridge preparatory to starting work on the new bridge, legal technicalities prevented the starting of work yesterday.

AMERICANISM NEED OF AGE, CUMMINS PLEA

Senator Urges Preparedness, with Patriotism and Justice.

Below will be found the third of a series of articles on Republican presidential possibilities. They will reveal the attitude of the various men on the public questions of the day and throw light on the personal characteristics of each.

BY MARK S. WATSON.

Washington, D. C., May 29.—[Special.]—"America must prepare, and as quickly as possible, but preparedness will neither begin nor end with the fitting out of a great army and navy," Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa said today in outlining to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE some of the graver national problems.

"Unless in addition to these we have citizens who are willing to fight for their country because they believe in its institutions, recognize its justice, and reverence its sovereignty, preparedness will not be complete.

"And unless we go ahead steadfastly with social legislation which will produce such a loyal citizenship, we will have missed a very important part of preparedness."

CHAMPIONS POPULAR RIGHTS.

The Iowa senator has lost nothing from his old time championship of popular sovereignty and popular rights. These rights, he finds, are just as much in need of protection today as they ever were, and not even the riveting of interest on the needs of an army and navy does he feel should remove economic industrial and social reform from the horizon of the Republican convention in its platform deliberations.

Emphasis on this phase of the country's immediate needs is one of the most striking features of the aggressive campaign which Senator Cummins has long been conducting. But he is able to include in his horizon the international problems now before the country—none of which he appears to believe has been adequately answered by the present administration.

ASSAILS WILSON POLICIES.

Citing the results obtained by diplomacy when the United States had a much weaker army and navy than today, Mr. Cummins made it clear that he could not countenance a defense of the administration's blunders on the plea that there was "little force back of the warning." He testified to his confidence in the great strength of a sound moral force such as the United States had.

The Mexican policy of Mr. Wilson he referred to bitterly as "an uninterrupted, hideous mistake" and "one long, bloody blunder." The European policy and foreign policies generally he referred to as being wrong in performance rather than in conception. Among the faults most easily discernible he cited weakness, vacillation, a suggestion of insincerity, a lack of clarity, and an overabundance of rhetoric.

FAVORS STRONG DEFENSES.

"I would like to make my position on preparedness clear," he began. "I am as much in favor of a strong army and navy as any one can be, and have contended and am contending for both. When we interpret 'strong' in terms of men and of ships there may a difference of opinion.

"I stood for an army increase to 250,000 men, believing even that insufficient for all needs at all times. The time has not come for it, but it is certain that we cannot be prepared for instant war without compulsory training. Any country which depends on voluntary enlistments simply cannot be ready for war immediately. I still believe in the national guard as an instrumentality, not perfect, but more efficient potentially than a volunteer reserve could be. That is why I oppose the latter.

VIEW ON SENATE BILL.

"The Chamberlain bill is the first attempt to organize the army on a scientific basis, and it promises to supply system instead of patchwork. Its weakness lies in the difficulty of enlisting men at $15 a month, especially in times of prosperity. It is the weakness of any volunteer system. If pay were raised to $25 a month and other inducements were held out bettering the enlisted man's condition, we might reach the army limit, but I have grave apprehension for that ability at present."

Senator Cummins spoke of Gen. Wood's declaration that a raise in pay would not be needed, but that permission to transfer regulars to the reserve force as soon as they had become proficient would make the service much more attractive. The success of this the Iowan considers problematical.

FAVORS VOLUNTARY SYSTEM.

"The soldier must be young," Senator Cummins explained. "Now at 20 a boy is in school or is looking about for his life occupation, and he is too much handicapped by an army enlistment if it is followed by five or six years in the reserve. It is too much for him to bear, instead of having every boy bear it with him. There is no way in which the United States could enforce training in the schools. It must be left to the individual states, and New York is doing this now. We can encourage the voluntary system and are doing that now in many schools, and I am thoroughly in sympathy with it."

Mr. Cummins was asked if he considered universal military training a necessity.

"If war is to be the regular thing instead of the abnormal event," Mr. Cummins said gravely, "we must be prepared for war. There is no other plan. If we should know that we had six months or a year to get ready for war then we could depend on our volunteer system, but even with a warning of sixty days we could not depend on the volunteer system. And sixty days is a lot longer than the warning which Belgium received, although fortunately our situation is much more favorable than was Belgium's.

Navy Scientific Problem.

"I look on the navy as a scientific problem. I do not know how many ships it needs or what they ought to be. I prefer to leave the determination of that to men who have made the navy the study of a lifetime. I think it nothing short of impertinent for a man like myself, with no naval training, to attempt to decide how many or what kind of ships we need.

"It is easy for me to say, however, what I want our navy to be able to do. It should prevent any other navy in the world from reaching the shores of the United States."

"Any navy?"

"Any navy," the senator repeated firmly.

Sees G. O. P. Harmony on Tariff

Senator Cummins does not believe the tariff will cause any discord in the Republican convention, for he feels that sentiment has settled down to a common agreement of principle, with the amount of individual duties the only point in dispute.

"Are there other differences of opinion so sharp that there is a possibility of repeating the tragedy of 1912 in the Republican party?"

"Ask me if a split is probable and I will answer 'no' without hesitation," Senator Cummins said. "The Republicans who followed Taft and those who followed Roosevelt are in the main united, but there still are things which might be done at the convention which would disturb harmony."

"You expect no disagreement on foreign policies?"

"So far as Europe is concerned I predict that very little will be said in the platform," the Iowan replied. "Our attitude toward Mexican affairs, however, has been so indefensible that I will be surprised if it is not referred to most emphatically. Our work there has been one long, bloody blunder. It has been an uninterrupted hideous mistake.

Position on Foreign Affairs.

"Now here is my position on foreign affairs. The prime need is and was and always will be, to be absolutely honest with any country and to state what we mean clearly, plainly, without any essays on moral duties or treatises on international law.

"And then we want to stick to it. I don't mean that a mere difference of opinion must necessarily involve us in war, but I do mean that we must not vacillate and modify and alter and evade. We must say what we do say clearly, and we must stand by it.

"I think it is wrong to say that nothing which we say as a nation can have any weight unless backed up by a display of a great army and navy, for that is to ignore the powers of fairness and justice. Cleveland had no big army and big navy when he settled the Venezuelan dispute. McKinley had none when he settled some threatening international problems. Roosevelt did not when he succeeded.

Urges Honest Diplomacy.

"American prestige was not lacking in those days simply because we did not have the greatest armed forces in the world. We spoke as a nation, and other countries knew just what we meant, and knew we meant what we said.

"It is unthinkable that we must go to war over every dispute, but straightforwardness, clearness and certainty in advance that our policy is right will enable us to mantain our rights without the use of force. By that I do not withdraw any part of my insistence on a good measure of military preparedness, but I keep in mind that the great purpose of preparedness is to prevent war on America."

RECEPTION BY METHODISTS TO VISITING POLITICIANS.

Follow My Judgment

Make Money

For years I have been recommending to my clients the purchase of real estate in all parts of Chicago which, during that period, has doubled, tripled and quadrupled in value. Not one of my clients has ever lost a dollar on my advice. They have confidence enough in me that when I advise them to purchase a piece of real estate they follow my judgment.

If you have a few dollars to invest and will follow my advice you, too, will make money.

Today I recommend the purchase of lots I am selling in Hyde Park as low as $475. In my judgment these lots will increase in value as rapidly and as surely as those I have offered in the past.

Write, phone, or call at my office and I will be glad to make an appointment with you to go into the matter fully and show you these lots.

FEELING GROWS IN BRITAIN FOR LASTING PEACE

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, May 29.—Though the press generally expresses slight irritation at President Wilson's peace speech, considering it premature and failing to emphasize his point that there is little difference between the belligerents, enough opinions were gathered in the house of commons this afternoon to show that there is real sentiment in England for early peace.

If the members who made these statements interpret fairly the sentiments of the constituencies which they represent the peace movements are gaining ground rapidly. It must be understood, however, that the general sentiment is still unquestionably for the prosecution of the war.

Views of Many Members.

Here are the views of some of the members:

Richard Lambert, representative from a manufacturing center—The peace feeling is growing rapidly, but not peace at any price. What we want is a peace which will guarantee that the present ghastly conflict will not recur. The president's speech was admirable. There is no desire here for territorial acquisitions, but simply a desire to show that might does not make right.

J. H. Whitehouse, representative from a mining district—I would gladly see the United States attempt the difficult and dangerous role of peacemaker.

Sir John Barlow, a Quaker—I entirely sympathize with President Wilson in his desire for the peace of the world. This will probably come, in my opinion, by negotiation, which must in time supplant wars.

Percy A. Molteno, ship builder—I think President Wilson's speech of great importance. I have the deepest sympathy with it.

Desire for Lasting Peace.

W. C. Anderson, labor representative—There is a growing desire to reach peace on lasting terms. Many of us have believed that America, through its president, would play a big part when the decisive moment came. Everything which brings rational peace nearer will be welcomed by a large and growing number of people in this country.

Edmund Harvey, from a manufacturing district—The president's suggestions outline a plan which, if only partly carried out, would be a land mark in the progress of humanity. Unquestionably the United States must take an active part in the move for peace.

Philip Morrem, Lancashire milling district—With the main principles of the president's creed every civilized man must at least agree. May the United States prosper in its efforts to obtain a speedy fulfillment.

Says Europe Desires Peace.

T. Richardson, labor representative—The speech will receive the careful consideration of this country as well as others. It is a good step in the right direction. There is more desire for peace in Europe than probably America knows.

Arthur Ponsonby—From the commencement of the war I have regarded the president as the one man who might when the opportunity offered, lead the nations of Europe back to sanity. His great sagacity and tact fits him for the role of mediator and his recent speech leads me to suppose that the opportunity for his intervention may not be far distant.

GERMANY TO FEED PEOPLE BY MUNICIPAL KITCHENS.

Bill for Funds to Organize and Operate Stations in Cities Will Be Submitted to Reichstag.

BERLIN, May 29, 6 p. m., via London, May 30, 1:35 a. m.—Feeding masses of the population in the larger cities by means of central kitchens under municipal auspices is the solution selected by the government to meet the problem of food supply and distribution during the war.

The president of the food regulation board, Adolph von Batocki, announced to the ways and means committee of the Reichstag today that an appropriation bill for funds to assist the municipalities to organize and operate the kitchens would be immediately submitted to the Reichstag.

The municipality of Schoenberg, the second largest Berlin suburb, has already arranged to feed 30,000 persons in such stations.

BERLIN, May 29.—Official announcement is made of the appointment by Emperor William of Baron von Techammer and Quartis, president of the government of Breslau, as secretary of state of Alsace-Lorraine. He is succeeded by Dr. von Jagow, police president of Berlin. Herr von Oppen, police president of Breslau, succeeds Dr. von Jagow.

TURKS REPORT SUCCESSES AGAINST CAUCASUS RUSS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 29.—The following statement on military operations was issued today by Turkish army headquarters:

Mesopotamian front—The situation is unchanged.

Caucasus front—On the right wing there has been fighting between reconnoitering forces. A surprise attack by an enemy company against our advanced posts failed. We took some prisoners. In the center there has been quiet. On the left wing by a counter attack we repulsed the enemy who had occupied a part of our advanced positions. We captured a number of rifles and pioneer material.

A torpedo boat that appeared along the coast off Ada was driven off by our fire. Two enemy monitors and some torpedo boats then bombarded without effect our artillery placed in this region. When an enemy monitor was hit by our counter fire all the ships ceased firing and retired. Otherwise nothing of importance has occurred.

Russian War Report.

PETROGRAD, May 29.—The war office tonight gave out the following report on Caucasus operations:

The fighting in the Rivandouza region continues. Kurds who attempted to attack our convoys were dispersed in a successful action by our troops, notably by a detachment of forty-four Cossacks, who surprised a Kurdish bivouac near the village of Zova and surrounded and killed 150 Kurds, including a mollah, safely rejoining their regiment with the loss of only two killed and one missing.

COMMANDER OF KUT WARNED SUPERIOR OF RELIEF RISK.

Gen. Townshend Protested Against Sending Small Relief Force and Cited Danger.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, May 29.—In a white paper issued today the fact that Gen. Charles V. Townshend, who surrender at Kut-el-Amara after being besieged by Turks for 143 days, protested against the sending of a weak force up the Tigris toward Bagdad before the attempt was made.

After warning his superior, Gen. Sir John Nixon, of his opinion of the grave risk of the endeavor, Gen. Townshend made the attempt, approached within a few miles of Bagdad and was then driven back down the river, by a superior force of Turks as far as Kut.

BERLIN SPURNS BRITAIN'S TERMS ON POLAND AID?

Gerard's Conferences with Kaiser's Officials Indicate Proposals Will Be Rejected.

BERLIN, May 29, 11 a. m., via London, May 30, 2:54 a. m.—Great Britain's counter proposals to Germany's program for the relief of Poland, as submitted to the government by James W. Gerard, the American ambassador, have been the subject of repeated conversations between Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, and Dr. Karl Helfferich, minister of the interior. The probability is not strong that Germany will accept the British terms.

MEXICO SEIZES YANKEE ARMS

Rumor of Herrera Threat to Attack Americans if Our Troops Stay.

Mexico City, May 29.—Americans and other foreigners, as well as Mexicans not in the military service, are today turning over their firearms to the authorities in compliance with an order of the military commandant. This order provides that beginning at 10 o'clock this morning all arms must be deposited with the government within a period of forty-eight hours. Evasion of the order will be punished severely.

Kill Four Bandits in Fight.

Chihuahua City, May 29.—Skirmishes between a small band of bandits and Constitutionalist troops under Col. José Cavazos in the Tampico district were reported by Gen. Nafarrate from Tampico today. He said Col. Cavazos encountered the marauders at Los Angeles, Mexico, near the San Luis Potosi and Tampico railroad. After a skirmish in which the bandits lost four killed they fled to reconcentrate near Eldoru station. There they brought up several cars and wagons with the evident intention of derailing and looting a passenger train.

This, however, was frustrated by Col. Cavazos, who made a surprise attack, resulting in a running fight in which the bandits lost seven killed and ten prisoners, while only one Constitutionalist was wounded. The wagons, cars, and a quantity of supplies also were seized.

U. S. Seizes Villa Guns.

Field Headquarters, near Namiquipa, Mex., May 28, via wireless to Columbus, N. M., May 29.—Ten mahcine guns, 380 rifles, and a quantity of ammunition discovered yesterday in a Villa caché near here were brought to field headquarters today. The arms, all of which were said to be fit for use, were found in a cave in Ojo cañon, to reach which the guides were obliged to climb a tortuous mountain trail afoot.

Herrera Menaces Americans.

Washington, D. C., May 29.—A rumor reaching authorities here today said Mexico City papers quoted Gen. Luis Herrera as saying he was ready to attack the Americans if they did not withdraw from Mexico before June 1. Special Agent Rodgers has not mentioned this report. Herrera is the officer whose alleged revolt precipitated many alarming reports at the time of the Columbus raid.

State department officials were somewhat mystified over the failure of the new note from Gen. Carranza to reach the department or the Mexican embassy.

Rumors transmitted by border military commanders as matters of information for the war department, said 22,000 Carranza troops were mobilized near Chihuahua City.

FIFTEEN COMBATS IN SKIES FOUGHT ON WESTERN FRONT

Paris Reports That Several Enemy Craft Have Been Brought to the Earth.

PARIS, May 29.—An official report issued by the ministry of war tonight said:

French pilots yesterday delivered fifteen attacks upon German aeroplanes. Two of the enemy machines were brought down. One fell flaming on the edge of the Argonne forest near Monthers, and the other came down in the region of Ami-Fontaine, north of Berry-Au-Bac.

While one of our pilots was making a trial flight he was attacked in the region north of the River Aisne by a German Fokker. The enemy machine fired over a thousand shots. In spite of the fact that his machine was virtually cut to pieces, the French aviator succeeded in getting back to our lines, followed by his adversary. Another French machine came forward and attacked the German. He was not more than thirty yards distant and was brought to the earth west of Reims.

Reports on British Losses.

LONDON, May 29.—In the attacks on the British isles from sea and air during the war 2,166 persons have been killed or wounded. The number of deaths is 550.

FRENCH ARMY HOLDS VERDUN WITHOUT AID FROM BRITISH.

Gen. Sir Douglas Haig Praises Gallantry of Ally in Prolonged and Severe Fighting.

LONDON, May 29.—Gen. Sir Douglas Haig, commander of the British forces in France and Belgium, in a dispatch covering the operations of the British army in that territory from Dec. 19 last, when he took over the command, until May 19, pays high praise to the French defense of Verdun and reviews in detail the actions in which the British have taken part.

"During this period," he says, "the only offensive effort made by the enemy on a great scale was directed against our French allies near Verdun. The fighting in that area has been prolonged and severe. The results have been worthy of the traditions of the French army and of great service to the cause of the allies.

"During this struggle my troops have been in readiness to cooperate as they might be needed, but the only assistance asked for by our allies was of an indirect nature—namely: the relief of the French troops on a portion of their defensive front. This relief I was glad to be able to afford."

RIGA RAILWAY BOMBARDED.

PETROGRAD, May 29.—The official communication issued from general headquarters today reads:

GERMANS SEIZE FRENCH GROUND NEAR CUMIERES

Advance Places in Greater Peril Defense Positions on Dead Man Hill.

LONDON, May 29.—The official statement issued by the ministry of war in Paris tonight admits the loss of 300 yards of trenches to the northwest of the village of Cumieres, where the Germans have been attempting to break through along the west band of the Meuse and encircle Dead Man hill, the "keystone" of the defense northwest of Verdun.

The statement says that two terrific attacks on the French positions on Hill 304, to the west of Dead Man hill were repulsed with heavy losses to the Germans.

The Germans apparently are concentrating their efforts at Verdun to the west of the river as both of the Paris offical statements today said the fighting to the east was confined to artillery.

French Official Reports.

PARIS, May 29.—The official communication issued by the war office tonight reads,

On the left bank of the Meuse the enemy directed all day an intense bombardment against our lines from the Avocourt wood to Cumieres. The Germans twice violently attacked our positions on hill 304. Both efforts were repulsed. Concentration of the enemy reported west of Hill 304 were taken under the fire of our batteries and dispersed.

Between Le Mort Homme and Cumieres a strong enemy attack, debouching from the Corbeaux wood, was broken by our barrier fire, except at one point where the enemy gained a footing on a front of about 300 meters in one of our advanced trenches northwest of Cumieres.

On the right bank there was a violent artillery action in the region to the east and west of Fort Douaumont.

Tells of Earlier Fighting.

The earlier official statement was as follows:

Yesterday evening at 7 o'clock a German attack advancing from the Corbeaux woods was repulsed by our curtain of fire and the fire of our artillery. A second vigorous attack, delivered at about midnight in the same locality, also was driven back.

On the right bank of the Meuse the night passed in relative calm, except in the region of the fort of Vaux. Here there was spirited artillery fighting.

Drive Monitors from Coast.

BERLIN, May 29.—The text of today's army headquarters statement follows:

Enemy monitors which approached the coast were driven off by our artillery.

Artillery duels were continued with undiminished violence on both banks of the Meuse. Two weak attacks by the French on the village of Cumieres were easily repulsed.

ITALIANS SMASH NIGHT ATTACKS

All Austrian Efforts to Advance Foiled, Rome Officially Reports.

FOES CITE VICTORIES.

ROME, May 29.—The official statement issued by the war office tonight indicates that the desperate efforts of the Austrians to force an advance have been checked by the stubborn resistance of the Italian troops, who have repulsed the enemy forces at all points except one, the battle being still undecided only around the Asiago basin.

Following is the official communication:

In the Lagarina valley Sunday night and Monday morning the enemy renewed his stubborn, sanguinary attacks against our positions between the Adige and Val d'Arsa. The attacks were always broken by the firm resistance of our troops.

In the Posina-Astico sector the intease artillery duel continued yesterday. A large force of the enemy in the afternoon attacked a part of our position south of the Posina torrent, but after a determined struggle it was repulsed with considerable losses.

Dominate Asiago Basin.

On the Asiago plateau our troops now are occupying and consolidating positions dominating the Asiago basin.

A brilliant counter attack by the Fourteenth regiment relieved two batteries which had been surrounded on Monte Mosciag and saved the guns. In the Sugana valley there were some skirmishes.

On the remainder of the front the artillery actions were especially intense at Plava and Monfalcone.

Austrian War Report.

VIENNA, May 29.—Austro-Hungarian troops have captured a fortified position west of Arsiero, Italy, the war office announced yesterday. The statement follows:

Austro-Hungarian troops captured the fortified works at Cornowo, west of Arsiero, and the fortified dam across the Italyssa, southwest of Monte Interrotto, in the fortified district of Asiago.

Skirmishes with an Italian patrol occurred on the lower Voyusa. [In Albania north of Avlona]. The situation is unchanged.

BULGAR SEIZURE OF FORTS STIRS UP GREEK CAPITAL.

Grave Trouble Result of Government's Passiveness Toward Invasion—Gets Slice of Land?

PARIS, May 29.—A news dispatch from Athens says that grave trouble has cropped up there following the news of the invasion of Macedonia by 25,000 Bulgarians, who captured three forts and were speeding toward the Greek port of Kavala.

It was reported from Athens yesterday that feeling was running high in the Greek capital over the Bulgarian invasion. The Herald, the organ of M. Venizelos, appeared with a black border and contained a fiery article from the pen of the former premier.

Greece Promised Bribe.

AMSTERDAM, May 29.—Greece has been promised a slice of southern Serbia and Albania by the Austro-Germans in return for remaining neutral, according to Berlin reports. For this reason the Greek government is expected to make no serious protest against the Bulgarian invasion.

FOOD PRICES MOUNT IN U. S.

Figures Show 1 Per Cent Increase from Feb. 15 to March 15 on Staple Articles.

Washington, D. C., May 29.—Prices of staple foods in the United States increased on a average of 1 per cent from Feb. 15 to March 15 last. Figures made public today by the department of labor show that all meat prices increased, as did the price of sugar. Eggs, milk, flour, and potatoes were cheaper.

COMMONS VOTES TO FORCE SALE OF U. S. SECURITIES

Government Needs Them Under the Mobilization Plan—Imposes More Income Tax.

LONDON, May 29.—The house of commons today adopted the resolution of Reginald McKenna, chancellor of the exchequer, compelling the sale to the government under the mobilization plan of American securities withheld by their owners.

The measure imposes an additional income tax of 2 shillings in the pound on the securities, exempting those which are deposited with the treasury. The tax is to go into effect July 1 for a period of one year.

The measure was not adopted without considerable hostile criticism. The debate brought out the fact that the resolution was applicable to any foreign securities, but that the treasury must be willing to buy a security before it could be affected by the tax.

Called "Sheer Robbery."

William Watson Rutherford, Unionist, said the tax was "sheer robbery." He declared it was a tax not for revenue, but for punishment. He said the government should be honest and bring a bill compelling the sale of securities. That would be coercive, but not mean.

Sir Frederick Banbury, Unionist, denounced the chancellor's proposal, saying it was going back to the days of Isaac of York.

Winston Spencer Churchill defended the resolution. He thought the chancellor's proposal was a modest one. These were times when it was not possible or desirable to draw nice distinctions about equality or sacrifice, for unless the war were prosecuted vigorously there would be equality of ruin for all.

Explains Reason for Act.

Harold J. Tennant, parliamentary undersecretary for war, explained that as the balance of trade was against England there was a limit to the exportation of gold. A loan already having been raised in America the government had resorted to the mobilization of securities to meet the balance of liabilities.

This scheme, Mr. Tennant said, had been carried out with great care and without any injury to the American market. The government had been able to pay its way and preserve a substantial balance in New York to enable it to meet charges which might become due.

For some months past, however, the supply of American securities offered to the government had dwindled from a torrent to little more than a trickle. It had been suggested that this was due to natural exhaustion of the supply, but he did not think this was the case.

Opposes Carson Plan.

Sir Edward Carson asked why there should not be enacted at once a measure compelling every holder of American securities to give over this property to the government.

Mr. Kenna in reply said the government had obtained securities in a steady stream under the present system, had never paid for them in advance before they were realized on in America.

ASSASSIN OF ENVOY FOILED.

Slayer of One Turk Grand Vizier Said to Be Involved in Plot Against Austrian.

BERLIN, May 29, by wireless to Sayville, N. Y.—An unsuccessful attempt to assassinate the Austro-Hungarian minister to Persia is reported in a Constantinople dispatch to the Overseas News agency today. The attempt, according to the dispatch, was made by Djemel Bey, "who several years ago was involved in the assassination of Mahmoud Scherket Pasha, Turkish grand vizier and minister of war, and who, in consequence, was expelled from Turkey."

"I saw a Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement and I sent for a free sample and applied it according to directions, and it gave me relief so I bought more, and in ten days I was healed." (Signed) Mike Gager, Westphalia, Kansas, July 7, 1915.

"Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong."
—Stephen Decatur.

MEMORIAL DAY 1916.

The spirit of Memorial day is of all our national holidays the gravest and most significant. On the Fourth of July we celebrate the establishment of our political independence. Time has made our celebration official. Time will never make our celebration of this day official, for it is not the commemoration of a fact accomplished. It is the celebration of a sacrifice to which any generation of Americans may be called. It is the commemoration of a continuing service through which the dead still nobly live; without which this republic cannot live.

Perhaps in no year since Memorial day was first established has the nation been in a mood so responsive to its deeper lesson and enduring significance as in this year of 1916. We more nearly realize what war means, what peace means. We feel more solemnly what are the responsibilities of citizenship and what the price our fathers paid for the precious legacy they have left us. Across the years of prosperous peace we hear again the roll of guns and the terrible yet beautiful challenge of duty. America, for so many years the indulgent mother, turns upon us eyes of sterner questioning and our hearts beat with a higher throb at her appeal. There may be those who would shirk the price of our heritage, but they do not count. We love her, this mighty land of ours, and the mightier soul of her. We honor her past, ennobled by the blood of patriots and the toil of arduous multitudes. We will try as our fathers tried to pass on to those who come after an inheritance unclouded and undiminished.

The column of aged men who march today is shorter than last year or the years before. But spiritually it has never been more impressive, for America is waking once more to its meaning. Citizenship is service, citizenship is sacrifice, even to the last full measure of devotion. That is the unending lesson of Memorial day.

INTOLERABLE INTERFERENCE.

A certain amount of interruption of American trade by England the United States is willing to accept. England controls the ocean with her fleet and she controls it for the purpose of aiding herself and damaging her enemies. That is a part of war. If we were at war and were powerful enough we should expect to interfere with trade to our enemies wherever we could, under international law.

England also controls the cables, and through them controls communication between this and continental countries. That, also, the United States has to accept to a certain degree. We should ourselves expect to censor, in war time, what we considered dangerous to the safety of the United States.

But there is a point beyond which the English cannot go without challenge. We cannot accept interference of our trade with the allies of England, or with neutral countries.

The International Manufacturers' Sales company has reported to the secretary of state that cablegrams about business matters between the United States and Russia have been interfered with. It has sent as exhibits copies of several cablegrams from New York to Russia and to Norway, and from Russia to the United States, which have never been delivered and concerning which the English government has refused all information. The only possible conclusion is that England intends to check and prevent as far as possible the growing trade between the United States and Russia.

The English government should be made to realize that her control of the cables and her control of the ocean depends chiefly on her careful exercise of that control. If the United States accepts such interruption within international law as is damaging to the central powers it does so because it recognizes that England has certain duties to herself to perform. By no stretch of the imagination can interruption of our trade with Russia be classed as necessity of war. It is simply tyranny more dangerous to England than to the United States.

BAD AMERICANS.

Prohibition leaders have begun a campaign which is dangerous to the safety of the country and utterly discreditable to themselves. The plan is to pledge 5,000,000 voters to vote against any party and any candidate who does not openly favor national prohibition, regardless of his views on national defense, on foreign policy, and on industrial preparedness.

"The nation-wide movement for national prohibition," reads a statement issued by the committee of sixty, "furthered by the effort to secure 5,000,000 voters to pledge themselves to vote only for such party and candidates as stand committed by state and national platform declaration to the overthrow of the liquor traffic, is beginning in its sweep through the country."

This statement means that 5,000,000 voters will be asked to sacrifice every issue, however pressing and however necessary to the national safety, to the one issue of forcing prohibition on this country. The seriousness of such a pledge may be gauged today, which is Decoration day, when we think what it might have meant in 1860 and in 1864. Such tactics might have led 5,000,000 voters to vote for disunion and for a continuance of human slavery.

Perhaps the issues of this campaign are not so vital as those of 1861. They are certainly not much less vital. Prohibition leaders are proposing to knife any candidate, however sound his stand on the fundamental issues before the country, if he does not agree with them.

Would they vote for a candidate whose platform called for war with Germany or war with England just because he showed himself willing to fight the "liquor traffic" also? Would they vote for a candidate whose two desires were unlimited immigration of orientals and prohibition? That is what such a pledge might easily mean.

It is asserted that 5,000,000 people in this country believe that all intoxicants should be prohibited. There are at those figures about 95,000,000 who do not believe with them.

If these 5,000,000 are serious they will continue to devote themselves to education, to persuasion of the other 95,000,000. Until they have educated the majority and more, legislation against intoxicants will be futile because it will not be enforced. Legislation against liquor is not enforced now. Where most people see no wrong in drinking and no harm in drinking, laws will not prevent drinking.

In this connection it should be noted that THE TRIBUNE is not fighting for intoxicating liquors. It does not receive advertisements even for beer. If harm is done by intoxicants, THE TRIBUNE does not care to be a party to it. But to be willing to sacrifice the vital necessities of this country to the one issue of prohibition is to be a bad American.

THE BUILDERS.

There was a time in the United States when men of great material achievement were pointed out as examples to youth and expressions of national greatness. We were proud of our great merchants, railroad and shipping men, bankers and organizers. They captured our imagination as warriors and potentates took the popular imagination of Europeans. They represented power, inspiring accomplishment, national pride, and individual hope.

This sentiment was crass and undiscriminating. De Tocqueville tells of meeting a rustic American who had been to Philadelphia, then the national capital, to see the sights. The French admirer of our democracy said to the American: "Of course you saw Washington?" to which the provincial replied, indifferently: "No, but I saw the richest man in the United States!"

In our own generation we have seen this sentiment veer swiftly from naïve admiration to general suspicion and ready condemnation. It is hardly too much to say that all men of great business power and wealth were suspected, if not condemned. This was a natural development of the tremendous activity which followed the civil war, the enormous amassment of wealth, the organization of capital, the appearance of the profound evils of poverty, the rise of predatory adventurers who, with the aid of laws or legal rulings which did not take account of the social and economic changes taking place, created for themselves huge fortunes by destructive financial legerdemain. Drastic and sweeping criticism of social and economic evils dramatized itself in the form of attacks on persons—"guilt is personal," the present incumbent of the White House sternly insisted—prosecutions and indictments multiplied while the tide of public disfavor rose about all men of commanding financial position and threatened all individual wealth.

The pendulum had swung to the opposite extreme of the arc. The earlier admiration of wealth and conspicuous achievement was foolishly uncritical, and so was the later hostility. Yet each was founded on sound instincts which, if kept by cool reason within bounds, must guide us on lines of progress now and in time to come. Respect for real achievement and critical regard for the quality of achievement are both necessary to the national well-being.

The death of James J. Hill comes at a time when our thought is clearer than it has been for many years. We are better able to assay the merits of a true builder of America and to appreciate the very great social and economic services of this life of singular foresight and constructive ability. We realize that if Mr. Hill leaves a large fortune its sum is small compared to the wealth he developed for others and the service his faith, his imagination and his will performed for a great section of the continent. We can discriminate between the work and character of a great builder like James J. Hill and the ravenous, destructive and demoralizing activities of other men which backward laws and confused public opinion were unable to control.

There must always be leaders and master builders, men who can lead us wisely for the common weal, and build not only, or even chiefly, for themselves, but for all. We believe this sort of men will never be lacking, as they never have been lacking, in our history. We believe there is today, thanks to past years of criticism, even though that criticism has been in some respects unbalanced, a greater sense of public responsibility among men of power and exceptional abilities, and happily there is also a calmer and more helpful public sentiment toward them and their activities.

We have erred together, we have learned together, captains and privates in the great army of peace that is the American people. We must learn to work together in a larger and surer way. The security, prosperity and progress we all are seeking are our common task. Coöperation, good will, fair play, are the fundamentals of a democratic society, the only society that we in America are going to permit. Achievement based on service is the only true achievement, the only achievement we shall honor or reward.

FLOOD CONTROL.

"B. C. 7—Experts on the Yellow river (China) report three plans for controlling it; first, the best plan is to lead the water to the sea; second, a good plan is to divide the water and carry it over all the land by canals; third, the worst plan is to raise the banks higher. There is a proverb in China, said to date 2,000 years B. C., still inscribed on a stone monument at the head of the Min river in Szechwan to the effect 'dig deep the ditch, keep low the dykes.'"—China, an Interpretation, by Bishop J. W. Bashford.

Bishop Bashford cannot be accused of political enmity to Representative Humphreys of Mississippi, who wants the United States to spend $45,000,000 on levees along the Mississippi river.

But even the Chinese engineers of 7 B. C. reported unfavorably on the Humphreys flood control bill. They reported unfavorably because they knew the plan does not work.

ORGANIZATION.

[From the Saturday Evening Post.]

Speaking of the German genius for organization, whose exemplifications have been surprising the world this last year and a half, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE observes that America has displayed a genius for organization superior to any individual example that can be found in Germany. By way of proof it instances the Standard Oil company, a world-wide organization of extraordinary efficiency. Many other examples might be cited. But American genius for organization has been directed wholly to private ends. Our government is admittedly ill organized. THE TRIBUNE suggests that American talent for organization be invited to exercise itself for public ends. But the only use the public—so far as the government represents it—has had for organizing genius was to call it names and threaten to put it in jail.

So long as merely fighting successful business—instead of trying to bring it into a useful coördination with government—constitutes a considerable part of politics' stock in trade, our ability in the organizing line will probably stick to its private ends.

TED-DY or not Ted-dy? That is the question
That agitates the G., so called, O. P.,
That gives the Elephant an indigestion,

Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to swallow
A bitter and un-sugarcoated pill,
With victory almost as sure to follow
As cock to crow, or water run downhill—

Or to take arms against the sea of faces
That greets the People's Idol everywhere,
Roaring approval of his commonplaces,
And spilling "We want Teddy!" on the air.

To live—to win, with one whose fond endeavor
Has been to flout the party's sacred laws?
To die—to sleep, for years, perhaps forever?—
Gosh! That's what gives the Grand Old Party pause!

Dogs You May Have Met.

[Adapted by Pan from Doctor Caius.]

Pork Hound or Congressional Setter.—A light dog, used for poaching which "will not bark least he should be prejudiciall to his own advantage. When the Setting dogge hath found the porke, he keepeth a sure and fast silence, he stayeth his steps and will proceede no further, and with a close covert, watching eye, layeth his belly to the grounde, and so creepeth forward like a worme."

Preparedness Mastiff.—"The mastie that keepeth the house must have a large and a mightie body, a great and a shrill voyce. His disposition must neither be too gentle nor too curst, that he neither fawne upon a theefe, nor flee upon his friends; very waking, no gadder abroad, not lavish of his mouth, barking without cause."

WITH what vim, vigor, and vivacity Mr. Hughes would plunge into the presidential job is shown by these ringing words:

"To me public office means a burden of responsibility—a burden of incessant toil at times almost intolerable—which under honorable conditions and at the command of the people it may be a duty and even a pleasure to assume, but is far from being an object of ambition."

LORD BATEMAN.

III.

What news, what news, my proud young porter?
What news hast thou brought unto me?
There is the fairest of all young creatures
That ever my two eyes did see!

She has got rings on every finger,
And round one of them she has got three,
As would buy all Northumberlea.

She bids you send her a slice of bread,
And a bottle of the best wine;
And not forgetting the fair young lady
Who did release you when close confin'd.

Lord Bateman he then in a passion flew,
And broke his sword in splinters three;
Saying, I will give all my father's riches
If Sophia has crossed the sea.

Then up spoke the young bride's mother,
Who never was heard to speak so free,
You'll not forget my only daughter,
If Sophia has crossed the sea.

I own I made a bride of your daughter,
She's neither the better nor worse for me;
She came to me with her horse and saddle,
She may go back in her coach and three.

Lord Bateman prepared another marriage,
And sang, with heart so full of glee,
I'll range no more in foreign countries,
Now since Sophia has crossed the sea.

THEY LET THIS MAN VOTE.

[From the Van Horne, Ia., Record.]

Only women who are dissolute and degenerate vote in states where equal suffrage exists and they do more harm than the dissolute men did before. Women understand very little about politics and care very little for them. They are no better off than the Negroes were at the close of the civil war. The percentage of degenerate women is just as high as that of the men and the vote cannot be bettered. The cost of voting will be doubled. No man would want to see his wife in a jury box with eleven men and no self-respecting woman would want to be in such a position. Women are physically inferior to men and cannot endure the hardships that will be imposed upon them by equal suffrage. In states where equal suffrage exists the best women, those who have the most influence, do not go near the polls.

CANCER SIGNS.

IN the "Mortality from Cancer Throughout the World," by Frederick L. Hoffman we find a reproduction of a notice in regard to cancer issued by the health department of Portsmouth, England:

1. Cancer in its early stage gives rise to no pain or symptom of ill health whatever. (At the time when shooting pains manifest themselves in a cancer the disease is moderately advanced.)

2. Nevertheless, in its commonest situations, the signs of it in its early stages are conspicuously manifest. To witness:

3. In case of any swelling occurring in the breast of a woman after 40 years of age a medical man should at once be consulted. A large proportion of such swelling are cancer.

4. Any bleeding, however trivial, occurring after the change of life means almost invariably cancer and cancer which is then curable. If neglected until pain occurs it means cancer which is almost always incurable.

5. Any irregular bleeding occurring at the change of life should invariably be submitted to a doctor's investigation. It is not the natural method at the onset of the change of life and in a large number of cases means commencing cancer.

6. Any wart or sore occurring spontaneously on the lower lip of a man over 45 years of age is almost certainly cancer. If removed at once cure is certain. If neglected the result is inevitably fatal.

7. Any sore or swelling occurring on the tongue or inside of the mouth in a man over 45 years of age should be submitted to investigation without a moment's delay and the decision at once arrived at by an expert microscopical examination whether it is cancer or not. A very large proportion of such sores or swellings occurring at this time of life are cancer and if neglected for only a few weeks the result is almost inevitably fatal. If removed at once the prospect of cure is good.

8. Any bleeding occurring from the bowel after 45 years of age, commonly supposed by the public to be piles, should be submitted to investigation at once. A large proportion of such cases are cancer, which at this stage is perfectly curable.

9. When warts, moles, or other growths on the skin are exposed to constant irritation they should be immediately removed. A large number of them, if neglected, terminate in cancer.

10. Avoid irritations of the tongue and cheeks by broken, jagged teeth and of lower lip by clay pipes. Many of these irritations, if neglected, terminate in cancer.

11. Although there is no evidence that cancer is communicated under ordinary circumstances, it is desirable that rooms occupied by a person suffering from cancer should be cleaned and disinfected from time to time.

Dr. Eugene R. Kelly of the Massachusetts board of health thinks that by educating on six points we can reduce the cancer rate 33 per cent. The points are:

1. Early cancer is curable.
2. Pain is a late symptom.
3. Any irritation in the body is worthy of investigation.
4. Any lump in the breast and any discharge from the pelvic organs after the menopause.
5. Any external sore, especially on the lip, should be examined.
6. Delayed surgery, not surgery, is the risk.

CRINOLINE MOSQUITO BAR.

M. H. F. writes: "From my own experience I find crinoline greatly preferable to mosquito netting as a bed canopy, the mesh being considerably finer. It costs but a trifle more.

"The best way I have found of fastening it, both from the standpoint of efficiency and economy, is to wind strips of soft, worn muslin around the bed posts in case of a metal bed, and also around the center rod, about a foot and a half or two feet above the mattress, according to the thickness of pillows. Sew these firmly. Fold end of crinoline to a depth of about a foot more than distance between mattress and strips so as to tuck under head of mattress. Face short end of fold toward wall. Inside head of bed, and pin with safety pins through both thicknesses to muslin strips, arranging with center of crinoline between selvedges at center of bed so as to hang even on both sides. Then stretch over foot of bed, pinning to corners and in center. On getting into bed, draw sides of canopy in and tuck under mattress.

"These detailed instructions may sound foolish, as the plan is so simple when known, but I have myself, and have known many others, who have tried and been disappointed in the canopy, as they have hung it over the head of the bed. The crinoline (which, by the way, is generally a little wider than the so-called mosquito bar) is not wide enough to hang over head of bed, leaving openings at the corners near the face. A few imprisoned mosquitoes are as bad as a horde which have the freedom of the room, as they can keep up a continual buzzing, which is as bad as their stings to many persons. I live where there are many mosquitoes, and the merchants have not been educated up to a wire netting that is finer than the standard mesh to keep out flies. The result is we have millions of mosquitoes every year inside our house, but sleep as well as if there were none, under our canopies arranged as described."

REPLY.

A crinoline canopy has the advantage of having a fine mesh, fine enough to keep mosquitoes out. It would not tear as readily as mosquito netting. I am afraid that most people would object to it as too hot and stuffy.

CAUSE OF RHEUMATIC PAINS.

Inquirer writes: "I am 64 years old Generally speaking, I have fairly good health. I am an almost lifelong abstainer. I do not knowingly take alcohol as food, or physic. I do not smoke tobacco. I live most of the time in steam heated, well ventilated rooms. I exercise daily on a long porch, averaging about three miles each day. I eat very little meat, some vegetables, chiefly potatoes, seldom eat pie or cake. I eat large quantities of bread, always whole wheat when available; I drink several pints of hot water most days, some black tea and milk. I am naturally a strong, muscular man. For many years I have had la grippe once or twice each year; have had some catarrh, sometimes causing considerable expectoration, nothing more. This increases a little each year. Both eyes have been removed. What I am most concerned about now is the following: Since boyhood I have frequently had pains in the shoulders and head, which I have always undergstood to be rheumatism and neuralgia. The last three years these pains have increased in frequency and severity. I am seldom able to turn my head from shoulder to shoulder without great difficulty. The severe pain is intermittent, but I always have some. I can stand almost any kind of weather outside, but indoors a little cold draft directly on me causes immediate pain. I have not taken, and do not wish to take, much medicine unless absolutely needed."

REPLY.

Have your teeth, tonsils, and nose examined. The probability is that the rheumatic pains in your neck and shoulders are due to absorption of pus bacteria from one of these locations. Rheumatism is due to absorption of pus bacteria and not to eating meat. You should take a cold neck and shoulder bath each morning.

MILK LEG.

Mrs. W. R. G. writes: "Would you please tell something about 'milk leg,' its cause and is there anything to do that will prevent it? How long to get entirely well, and what treatment is best to pursue? After five months my legs still swell somewhat, and in bad weather or when overexerted they pain some, especially the joints—hip, knee, and ankle. Have never had rheumatism. Am 42 years old and the mother of eight children. Health has always been good. Would rubbing them with liniment (as some advise) be any help, or is time alone the cure?"

REPLY.

Milk leg is due to infection. The infecting bacteria are in a vein or a lymph channel. You should have massage and passive motion. They will hasten your recovery.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

[Copyright: 1916: By the Brentwood Company.]

THE announcement early in the month that M. Dessain, the burgomaster of Malines, had been sentenced by the German authorities in Belgium to a year's imprisonment for printing and publishing the Lenten pastoral of Cardinal Mercier, the primate of the kingdom, has been followed by the official announcement from the vatican that Benedict XV. has just bestowed upon the burgomaster the rank of the knight commander of the order of St. Gregory.

The pope has also recently had occasion to express his views of Austria's methods of warfare, and greatly moved by the death of a number of women and children at Treviso, who were killed by bombs recently dropped from Austrian aeroplanes, he has caused his secretary of state, Cardinal Gaspari, to address a public letter to the bishop of Treviso, expressing his, the pontiff's, profound sympathy and condolence. The letter concludes as follows:

"His holiness has once more raised his voice in protest against the methods of offense in this horrible war, against unarmed and pacific inhabitants, and deplores the continued violation of the laws of humanity."

Sir Kenelm Digby, who has just passed away in London at an advanced age, was a nephew of the ninth Lord Digby, under secretary of state for the home department for a number of years, and has recently been playing an active part on the government commission, organized to inquire into the outrages perpetrated by the German troops on the continent.

The Digby family is one of the oldest in England, being of Saxon origin, its original name being Aelmor or Almoris. It was flourishing at the court of King Edward the Confessor, that is to say, prior to the Norman conquest, and has produced some of the most picturesque personages in the history of England.

Among those whose names will most readily occur to the student is that of Sir Everard Digby of gunpowder plot celebrity. It was under his roof, the old red house, at Bourne, in Lincolnshire, a fine old Elizabethan mansion, which half a century ago was converted into a railroad station, that the gunpowder plot was hatched. Sir Everard was arrested and condemned to suffer the usual ghastly punishment for high treason.

There is a legend that when the executioner plucked out his heart, according to custom, and held it up to the assembled mob, exclaiming, "Here is the heart of a traitor!" Sir Everard still had life enough left in him to say, "Thou liest!"

Then there was that seventeenth Sir Kenelm Digby, who distinguished himself as a soldier, sailor, philosopher, diplomat, statesman, chemist, scientist, physician, and ecclesiastic. He gained the confidence of such diverse personages as Queen Henrietta Maria, whose chancellor he was, and of Oliver Cromwell, who employed him in negotiations with foreign countries, much to the scandal of both Royalists and Roundheads, and notwithstanding this was received with favor at the court of Charles II., after the restoration. Although he is said to have been the first to explain the necessity of oxygen to the existence of plants, he does not seem to have enjoyed the respect of his contemporaries, Evelyn and Stubbes, with regard to his learning. For he was a firm believer in astrology and alchemy. Experts, however, have signified their approval of his directions on the subject of making tea, namely, to let the water "remain upon it no longer than you can say the Miserere Psalm leisurely."

To come down to later times I may mention that a very interesting member of the Digby family was that Mother Digby, who was superior of the convent of the Sacred Heart in New York about thirty years ago, and who died as superior general of the order.

There is hardly a woman of rank and title in France who has not received her education at the convent of the Sacred Heart in Paris, under the direction of Mother Mabel Digby. The order of the Secred Heart is perhaps, of all the feminine orders of the church, one of the most wealthy and aristocratic, and under the circumstances it is strange that it should owe its foundation to Mme. Barrat, the daughter of a journeyman cooper, who lived in the early part of the last century.

DEFRAUDED BY AGENT.

Chicago, May 22.—[To the Friend of the Insured.]—In 1896 I took out a straight life insurance policy as protection for my family, who were then all young. During the summer of 1896 I was approached by an agent of the company, who proposed that I surrender that policy at its then surrender value and in its stead take out a twenty year endowment policy. He explained at length the advantages, privileges, and options of a twenty year endowment in such glowing terms that it seemed to be a desirable change to make, especially as it gave the same protection to my family.

Believing in the good faith of the agent I consented to the change, but after receiving the new policy, being unfamiliar with the wording and phraseology of such a document, it was not clear to me, and I wrote the agent, asking him to put in writing all the privileges, options, etc., which he had told me the new policy contained. The inclosed is his reply, which appeared to confirm his statements, as he called it a "twenty year payment plan," and while he had figured to a cent what the amounts would be, I supposed he had based them upon current rates, which would be an approximation.

Now, I am informed my policy is a "straight life," the same as I had before, which if true is a great disappointment. I certainly would not have consented to such a change as that and should expect the company to be bound by the agent's statements, for how can one deal with the company except through an accredited agent? The company, however, claims that it is not bound by its agent's statements, and the courts seem to uphold them.

The agent's figures are clearly based on an endowment. Is it possible that one must employ legal advice in such transactions? Have I any remedy? The twenty payments have been made.

R. H.

We do not find in the agent's letter any representation that the new policy was an endowment. On the first page it is stated "you do not have to continue paying after twenty years unless you desire to do so." The last six words certainly could have no reference to an endowment for that period, as premium payments necessarily cease when an endowment matures.

Apparently you have a twenty year deferred dividend policy. There have been many disappointments on deferred dividend settlements, as the estimates of dividends used by agents were based on the experience of old policies. Dividends on the old policies were swelled by forfeitures on lapsed policies, while modern policies are nonforfeitable.

The agent's letter gives rosy figures, but it is cautiously phrased and says "according to the table"—probably a table of estimates. In one or two cases, where such a table was authorized by the company, with no indication that the figures given were only estimates, and the table was preserved by the insured, the company has been required to settle according to the representations made. Except where strong evidence has been preserved there is small chance of collecting more than the policy itself promises.

TRIBUNE INSURANCE EDITOR.

ENDOWMENT POLICY.

Chicago, May 23.—[To the Friend of the Insured.]—I have a twenty year endowment policy in the New York Life Insurance company which is now five years old. I am told that I have already paid enough in premiums to carry the insurance for the remainder of the twenty year period, and am advised to stop my payments and invest the annual premiums in bonds at 5 or 6 per cent. My informant contends that if I outlive the term of the policy my investments will amount to more than the surrender value if I were to continue to pay. On the other hand if I die before the expiration of the twenty years my estate still has the face of the policy as a death benefit, which is all it would get even if I continued to pay. Suppose I were to die ten years from date, if the above is true what has my estate to show for the premiums paid during the last ten years of my life? Your opinion will be very much appreciated. J. C. P.

It is hard to make comparisons of life insurance with assumed investments, as dividends cannot be foretold. You do not give your age, but a typical age is 35. On $1,000 at that age the premium is $31.91. On a conservative estimate the dividends will average $20 to $15 a year. Taking the most conservative figures, the annual cost of your policy will not exceed $40. If you invest $40 a year for fifteen years at 5 per cent you will have $906.28, while $37 a year would amount to $837.11. As your policy in that time will be worth $1,000, there is an apparent advantage of from $64 to $69 in favor of continuing the policy. However, in addition to the extended insurance value which will continue the life insurance protection to the end of the twenty years there is a pure endowment value of $75, so that if you try the investment plan you will have that sum to add to your accumulations. On the most conservative estimate there is thus a small advantage in continuing the policy, while there is a reasonable expectation of a very large advantage.

In comparing private investments with life insurance the dividends, which are considerable, are often overlooked. Furthermore, small private investment plans are seldom carried out, so that the accumulations is not made as planned.

TRIBUNE INSURANCE EDITOR.

FENCE BURNED, TOO.

Chicago, May 10.—[To the Friend of the Insured.]—The fire insurance company in which I have my property insured refuses to pay for the back fence which was damaged when a neighbor's barn burned. The adjuster says only the house is covered. There is a shed that he says is not covered, either. I told the agent to insure my property and thought it would cover everything. Should not the company pay for the fence? S. C. E.

Unless the policy can be construed to cover the fence, you cannot collect for the damage done. There is a rule that all prior understandings or agreements are merged in a written contract. You can easily have the policy changed so that part of the insurance will apply to the shed and fences, so far as fire losses are concerned.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

NO MACHINE GUNS.

Quincy, Ill., May 27.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—As the foremost champion of "preparedness," the following may be of interest to you:

Under promise that machine gun companies organized in the national guard would be equipped with machine guns by the federal government without expense to the state, a machine gun company of fifty splendid men was enlisted at Quincy, Ill., last December.

This organization was inspected May 3 by a lieutenant colonel of the regular army, who promptly recommended that full equipment be issued.

"In connection with the recent inspection of the machine gun company of the Fifth Illinois national guard, you are advised that the supply of machine guns on hand is nearly exhausted.

"Due to unsettled conditions on the Mexican border and in order that the remaining guns may be available for issue to troops now in Mexico and to provide for replacing those guns now in the hands of troops that may become unserviceable, the secretary of war has directed that no further issues of machine guns be made.

"In view of the possibility that machine gun equipment may not be available for issue during the present year, it is requested that the state express its wishes concerning the machine gun company of the Fifth infantry on the following:

"[a] The continuance of the organization as such, equipment to be supplied as soon as available.

"[b] The discontinuance of the organization with a view to reorganization when machine gun equipment becomes available.

F. S. WOOD,
Colonel Fifth infantry, Illinois national guard.

PARADE AND SPONTANEITY.

Chicago, May 29.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—It is splendid to see the enthusiasm shown in Chicago toward the preparedness parade next month, but I hope that you will use your influence to make it individually spontaneous; in other words, we should keep away from much if any attempt to march as organizations, for if we do that our effort will have lost most of its value, and it would merely narrow down to a display of whatever marching prowess such clubs or organizations may have.

There was very little of this in New York last Saturday, where the impression went out that each individual in that vast parade was there because his heart was in it and not because he was trying to show off in uniform or regalia behind a band.

I note in some of the Chicago papers today that our chief purpose in marching appears to be in order to humiliate New York by the strength of our numbers. If this is the spirit that actuates us we might better not march at all.

WALTER F. LEWIS.

HOIST THE FLAG.

Chicago, May 29.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Wouldn't it make the heart of every liberty loving man, woman, and child in this great city of ours thump to wake up some morning and see that good old flag, the stars and stripes, snapping in the breeze? And wouldn't it make more patriotic citizens if that old flag should stay snapping on every flag staff in this city until it snapped into shreds and then a new one put up again?

How many empty flag poles are there in this city, with the rope rotting for want of use? They are almost beyond counting. How many flags—the stars and stripes—do you see these mornings? Not many.

CHAS. R. COWELL.

ALL WILL MARCH.

Chicago, May 27.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Referring to the letter signed "F. H. Foote," 508 St. Clair St., we would say that this company occupies the entire building at 508 St. Clair street. We have no employé by the name of F. H. Foote, consequently he must be traveling under a nom-de-plume, or has given his wrong address.

All employés connected with this company will be on deck the morning of June 3, for all of our employés believe in "preparedness."

Samuel Cupples Wooden Ware Co.,

NO POLITICS IN IT.

Chicago, May 29.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—It is a matter of interest that you do not hesitate to publish the letters of those who disagree with you. This indicates clearly that you feel that these letters do not answer your editorial argument.

I was with THE TRIBUNE heartily when it first started out to advocate preparedness. I felt like saying Amen to each editorial in turn as it appeared. But as those editorials gradually developed into abuse of the president of the United States and seemed as the weeks went on to indicate that their purpose was not so much to secure preparedness as to discredit the president and pave the way for the nomination of a political tyrant, it seemed to me that the editorials lost all of their effectiveness.

If the words "preparedness," "Americanism," and "patriotism" are simply to be used by a partisan press for the purpose of securing the nomination of a favorite candidate, gradually the people will discover that editorials do not ring true and will turn a deaf ear to the cry of "wolf." I sincerely hope that the "World's Greatest Newspaper" may free itself from any suspicion of partisanship.

ORVILLE BREWER.

HAVE WE BEEN SOLD TO ENGLAND?

Chicago, May 29.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—According to a recent report, Wilson paid a debt of gratitude to England when jamming through congress a bill favoring English shipping in the Panama canal tolls matter. The debt arose, the story goes, when England exercised her influence and power in favor of this country when about three years ago there was danger of war between Uncle Sam and another power, this country being absolutely unprepared for any war with a first class power.

How comes it now that despite this danger, with which the president never condescended to acquaint the people, Wilson even recently proclaimed "We are too proud to fight" and made no move these last three years to put the country in a state of military preparation consistent with the honor and self-respect of a sovereign state and commensurate with the danger hinted at or any other future danger?

And how comes it that now suddenly Wilson has changed his mind, is out for a larger army and for a program of preparation?

Is this army to be another payment for one or several "debts of gratitude," a sort of payment in advance to England, the latter country to square the account later on in sending military and naval forces to Mexico to assist Uncle Sam in the pacification of Mexico? Also, is this the reason for the "watchful waiting" toward Mexico?

Uncle Sam is big enough to take care of his own share of the "white man's burden," but he is too big to act as England's retriever for some one else; we don't mind with Portugal.

If we have been sold out to England I move to Switzerland. But before we move we first try to raise hell with the traitors to this country. A. F. HEYN.

J. J. HILL'S BODY TO LIE AT REST ON HIS ESTATE

Son Louis Assumes Control of Bank and Will Take Up Other Duties.

St. Paul, Minn., May 29.—[Special.]—The body of James J. Hill will be laid to rest in a mausoleum to be erected at North Oaks farm, the summer residence of the family, five miles northeast of St. Paul.

The funeral of the railroad magnate who died this morning will be held on Wednesday in the Summit avenue residence. Only the family and closest friends will be present. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Thomas J. Gibbons, vicar general of the St. Paul diocese. Death came in Mr. Hill's 78th year.

All traffic on the Hill roads and all of the steamers of his line will be stopped for five minutes Wednesday afternoon. The general officers of the Great Northern railway and the First National bank and the Northwest Trust company will be closed all day. The flags on the capitol and all public buildings will be flown at half mast.

Son to Control Fortune.

It became known today that absolute control of the First National bank passed into the hands of Louis W. Hill two weeks preceding the death of his father. The bank is the second largest west of the Mississippi river. Its capital and surplus is $5,000,000 and the deposits total more than $34,000,000.

Louis Hill is to be placed in control of most of the other interests, which formerly were under the direction of his father. The extent of the fortune which was left by the man who came to St. Paul, then a frontier town, without a dollar, now is estimated all the way from $100,000,000 to $500,000,000. Most of those closely connected with him place the figure around $250,000,000.

The best figure obtainable came when the European war started in July, 1914. At that time Mr. Hill called his bankers together from the First National bank and Northwestern Trust company of St. Paul. He assembled a mass of his securities at that time.

More than $100,000,000 was said to have been in the boxes that Mr. Hill laid before his bankers.

"There should be no trouble," said Mr. Hill, "but if there is, this amount is at your disposal."

Some of His Holdings.

Mr. Hill had the absolute control of the First National bank and Northwestern Trust company, which have a combined capital and surplus of $6,500,000. He was a large owner of stock in the Chase National bank of New York, First National bank of Chicago, and the Northwestern National bank in Minneapolis. He was a large owner of the Great Northern-Pacific Steamship company.

The greatest portion of Mr. Hill's wealth, however, was in the stocks and bonds of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, and Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroads.

It is believed that the estate will be held intact.

Statement by Family.

The following statement was issued by Mr. Hill's family tonight regarding his death and the funeral arrangements:

"Mr. Hill passed away very peacefully after several hours of unconsciousness. All the members of the immediate family were present except one daughter, Mrs. Ansor. Beard, who will arrive tonight, and one grandson, James N. B. Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hill, who will arrive from Cambridge tomorrow.

"Vicar General Gibbons attended Mr. Hill during his last hours and will officiate at the funeral services at the house and also at the grave. The public services will be held at the residence, 240 Summit avenue, at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Interment will be in private at North Oaks, where a family mausoleum or memorial chapel probably will be built.

"Following the simplicity which the family know would be the desire of Mr. Hill, the request is made that no flowers or floral offerings be sent to the house.

"On Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the residence an opportunity will be given the veteran employés and the other employés of the Great Northern railway company to pay their respects and take a last farewell of their old employer.

"The active pallbearers will be M. R. Brown, Ralph Budd, Charles W. Gordon, J. M. Gruber, P. L. Howe, W. P. Kenney, Charles Maitland, George A. MacPherson, Theodore Schultz, and J. W. Toomey."

Praise by Archbishop.

Archbishop John Ireland, commenting on Mr. Hill's death, said:

"What can I say that the whole country is not saying? A great man has gone from earthly life. Not only a man of rarest talent of mind, a genius such as is seldom to be seen amid the moving scenes of humanity, but also one who has put his wondrous talent to the service of fellow men, whose whole career was marked with strict integrity and highest sense of honor. Long shall the city of St. Paul be honored from the fact that the great and good man whose loss we now deplore was one of its sons and citizens.

"This much, too, I must say in simplest truth, that he loved and respected religion, and held the Christian faith to be the supreme principle of human righteousness and human life. I pray that his soul be in peace with his Creator and Savior."

LAUDED BY CHICAGOANS.

James J. Hill's death was widely mourned in Chicago business circles yesterday. Expressions from business men, bankers, and railroad associates came from all quarters. He had large transportation and property interests and until Jan. 1 last was one of the directors of the First National bank. He also was a director in the Illinois Trust and Savings.

Edward P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fé—Mr. Hill was a thinker, original in his ideas and a pioneer railroad man, not only in construction but also in introducing modern methods.

John J. Mitchell—Mr. Hill was one of the great men of the country. He was in truth an "empire builder," and he did more for the great northwest than any other man."

R. H. Aishton, president of the Northwestern—Mr. Hill's career as a developer of new territory and an operator of railroads has been the inspiration to the younger generation of railroad officials.

George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial bank—Everything Mr. Hill did was for progress. His loss is a national loss.

James B. Forgan, chairman of board of directors of the First National bank—The pass'on of his life was building, not only extensively but intensively. The northwest owes a debt to him it cannot repay.

POOR BOY BUILDS EMPIRE.

As the United States gave Canada the late Sir William Van Horne and Baron Shaughnessey to manage its railways, so Canada gave to this nation James Jerome Hill, for the great builder and manager of our northwest lines was born in 1838 on his father's farm four miles south of Rockwood, Ont. Young Hill walked four miles every day to a Quaker school at Rockwood, and he paid a part of his tuition by doing chores for the school.

The family was by no means well to do, and in 1853 he began to clerk in a general store at the crossroads. He then made up his mind to go west, and he started July 4, 1858.

He arrived at St. Paul seven days later without a dollar or a friend to help him. Hill applied himself to manual labor as a stevedore, but he soon attracted the attention of his superior, who appointed him as a clerk.

Start in Transportation.

In 1865 he took the agency of the Northwest Packet company. He was with this and other lines until, in 1870, he established the Red River Transportation company and opened up for the first time regular and direct communication between St. Paul and Fort Garry.

Late in 1873 and early in 1874, in connection with the Hon. Donald A. Smith, afterwards Lord Strathcona; George Stephen, afterwards Lord Mount Royal, and N. W. Kittson, he took up the task of acquiring defaulted bonds of the St. Paul and Pacific railway. This resulted in 1876 in the acquisition of the railroad, which was reorganized as the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railway company.

This road, only about 400 miles long, was the nucleus out of which he developed the Great Northern system of over 8,000 miles. Besides this Mr. Hill obtained control of ten other roads, including the Northern Pacific and the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy.

Beyond the thought of constructing a great railway system he conceived the idea of populating the great northwest, not only populating it but giving the population something to live on and something to ship over his lines. He spent fortunes in educating them to raise two crops where only one had been raised before. He bought bulls and boars of the finest breeds and lent them to the farmers along his line. His agronomists went among the wheat raisers and showed them how to increase their crops.

He led in the development from a wilderness into what now comprises six wealthy states with over 400,000 farms, the "bread basket of the world."

No other railway president was doing these things himself. Most of them stayed in Wall street and only knew their roads from the windows of their special cars. The time came when he had to fight some of these men; when he had to go down to Wall street, whose methods he despised, and attack the spider in its lair. He taught Wall street to mind its own business.

Untouchel by Great Panic.

In January, 1893, the Great Northern was completed and even during the panicky months which followed there was no sign of failure along the line of the Great Northern. At that, Hill was doing business at rates which the other roads could not meet and making money. He asked the Washington lumbermen at what tariff they could profitably ship lumber east. They said they could pay 50 cents, but Hill said they couldn't. He fixed a rate of 40 cents and immediately sawmills sprang up everywhere west of the mountains and the great forests were full of choppers and loggers.

Soon Hill noticed that his freight cars were going west empty. He therefore set about to remedy this condition and he did so by connecting the west with the far east by steamship lines. When his first liner left Seattle its hold was full of cargo and every passenger berth occupied. Japan was advertising for rails for a new road. John W. Gates came to Hill for rates. The answer was: "I'll make you an $8 rate and if you can't pay that I'll haul the rails for the cost of the axle grease, and if that is too much I'll haul them for nothing." Gates got the contract.

His Fight with Harriman.

His road was a single track line. Instead of making it double track in 1896 he acquired control of the Northern Pacific, a hundred miles to the south. Under his management it was not long before deficits ceased and the road was almost as prosperous as the Great Northern. Next Hill turned his attention to the Burlington system. Harriman also had his eye on this road, but his negotiations had failed. Hill bought it for $200,000,000. Defeated in this, Harriman tried to retaliate by taking away from Hill the Northern Pacific, which was held only by minority rights.

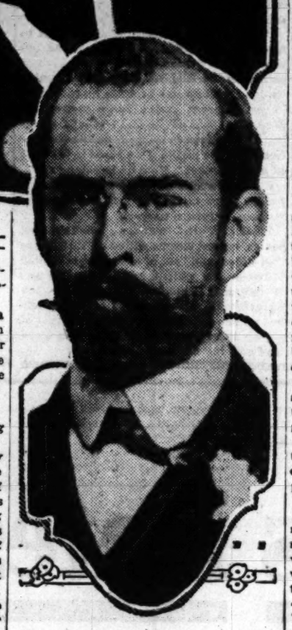

The fight on the stock market between these two giants in 1901 is one of the great memories of Wall street. Northern Pacific common sold as high as $1,000, while only a few years before it was worth only a few cents. Hill was victorious and his monopoly of these lines of northwest transportation was complete.

When Hill was a "mud clerk" in St. Paul he boarded at the Merchants hotel. A young Irishwoman was the waitress. Mary Mehigan was her name. She not only allowed him to court her, but she promised to marry him. He felt sure that he was destined to rise in the world and he wanted his mate to be his equal in every way. He proposed to send her, at his expense, little as his salary was, to a convent school. She consented, and when she was graduated she came to the bridegroom an accomplished and educated woman. She proved his complement in every way by succeeding as wife, mother, housemistress, dispenser of charity, and social leader.

EMPIRE BUILDER WHO IS DEAD AND SON WHO SUCCEEDS HIM

JAMES J. HILL.

LOUIS W. HILL.

Anecdotes of James J. Hill Tell Character of the Man

AROUND such a rugged character having so romantic a career as James J. Hill had, a vast body of anecdotes arose. It was said that there were at one time no less than 10,000 stories about him in Swedish dialect alone. "Jim Hill" was a favorite hero among the Scandinavian farmers, in anecdote at least. Many of these stories were, of course, legendary, but a few anecdotes told of him are known to be true. Some samples follow.

As to the secret of Mr. Hill's success there have been many reasons given. One man who knew him once said when asked:

"Common honesty, I should say. His stockholders know and believe in him. They know they will get as much out of the property as he gets. Everything goes to the stockholders of the Great Northern road. It owns its own telegraph lines, its own express company, its own sleeping and parlor car service, its own dining car service, its own steamship line; everything that contributes to its earnings is owned by the company. There is no milking along the way."

"Attention to detail, I believe, is the dominant quality in Mr. Hill," replied another banking friend to the same question. "Singleness of purpose and a complete mastery of detail of everything connected with his property.

"Why," he continued, "he knows the number of ties on every bridge along the line from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Seattle and Vancouver. And there is not a figure relative to the cost of anything that he cannot give you offhand."

"Out of his head?" was asked.

"Yes, out of his head, and his figures are always correct. It is marvelous. To illustrate: It is only a short time ago that the representative of one of the largest locomotive works in the country told me that in trying to get an order for locomotives from the Great Northern Mr. Hill took exception to the price. Finally the question narrowed down to the cost of materials entering into the construction—bolts and rivets, screws, and everything else.

"'What rivet do you use in such and such a place?' asked Mr. Hill, specifying the part. The locomotive man replied and gave the cost.

"'If you're paying that you're paying too much for them,' replied Mr. Hill. 'I can buy them for so and so,' naming a price considerably lower."

While on a tour over the Great Northern road his train, which was going down a steep grade, became derailed. Mr. Hill was the first man to alight. He stood watching the ineffectual efforts of the train crew to place the engine back on the track. Jackscrews were used, but the men did not seem thoroughly to understand the work. The jacks slipped, letting the ponderous machine down on the ties with a bump.

"Let me set that jack," said Mr. Hill, and, grabbing the screw, he set it at an incline to his own satisfaction, and after throwing a little sand on the top and bottom he exclaimed: "Now, go ahead."

The train men were a little dubious at first, but they applied the levers and the huge machine slowly lifted itself into place and slid onto the rails. The delay was only twenty minutes.

Of course, the unfortunate official didn't know.

"I'll call my chief clerk," said the traffic man.

"What for?" inquired Hill, brusquely. "You ought to know that—that's your business. Let me see; the rate from Pittsburgh is so much, and —— is eighty-five miles farther east."

In a few seconds Hill had figured it out to his satisfaction and answered his own question.

Mr. Hill's loyalty to his friends has often been returned in kind. When the big fight was on in Wall street over the Northern Pacific a friend of Hill was approached by the other side with an offer to buy out his interests in the Hill roads. It is said this would have netted him many millions, but he replied:

"I have millions enough. Jim Hill helped me to make them. I don't need any more. Hill is my friend and I decline to sell."

Hill and Marcus Daly completed the Butte, Anaconda and Pacific railway from Butte to Anaconda. This little "jerkwater" line was an exclusive ore road, and the owners were experimenting to ascertain the best output. At this time the Union Pacific was putting in some brand new steel gondola hopper cars, which were admirably adapted to this class of traffic on account of their great strength and quick, easy method of unloading. Hill conceived the idea of making a thorough test before buying any of the cars for his own use. He arranged to have a string of them taken up on a hill at Butte and turned loose down a 15 per cent grade. Part of them were loaded and part empty. The wreck was a success, and so were the cars. They stood the shock so well that Hill ordered 250 of the same type.

HILLISMS

Gleaned from the Speeches of J. J. Hill.

"I've made my mark on the surface of the earth, and they can't wipe it out."

"Men without land are a mob, and land without men is a wilderness"

"Our white bread is like the lotus; no nation that once eats it will change to poorer diet. I will make wheat flour as cheap as rice for the millions of the orient, and our farmers will profit by a new demand."

"A man must make up his mind that if he takes another man's dollar he must give back to him an honest return."

"Confidence is the basis of a stable business. If you do not trust yourself, who will? But be sure of your ground for confidence."

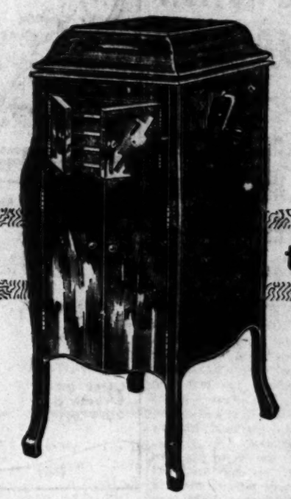

"Opportunity comes sometimes disguised and surrounded by hard work and adverse circumstances."

"Truthfulness does not alone consist in telling the truth, but more often in doing it."

"The morning hours are the best hours of each day."

"Men who succeed are not magicians, but you will probably find they have a capacity for hard work. If causes are created, effects must come."

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE.

BY CAPT. HENRY J. REILLY.

Capt. Miller is in command of the rear guard of a retreating force of cavalry, which is being pursued by a considerable stronger force of cavalry. Capt. Miller has one troop of about 100 men and two machine guns. The advance guard of the pursuers, consisting of a squadron of four troops, is shoving Capt. Miller's command most aggressively.

The last half hour the enemy has been becoming more and more convinced that they have a decidedly inferior force in front of them, and therefore have been showing more and more inclination to make a sudden determined attack. It is plainly evident to Capt. Miller that unless he takes immediate steps to lessen this pressure he will be caught by a sudden mounted attack in some open piece of ground unfavorable for defense and badly defeated or destroyed, thus failing to perform his duty to protect the rear of his column.

Looking at his map, he sees that beyond a slight rise in the ground about a mile ahead of him the country slopes gradually and evenly for about 1,200 yards, to a small stream called Oliver's run.

The run is fordable almost anywhere. To the west of the road, about 100 yards from the bridge, there is a farm house with an orchard back of it, and the whole surrounded by a hedge. To the east of the road, at a distance of about 200 yards, there is a small wood running along the south side of Oliver's run. After crossing the bridge the road turns to the west and runs through a wood. Also the intervening ridge is high enough to hide men moving around the farm house and Oliver's run from people on the other side.

Subordinates Are Instructed.

Capt. Miller decides to take advantage of this topography. He therefore calls up his four chiefs of platoon and his machine gun commander, and as they ride along explains his plan. As soon as the machine guns are well beyond the ridge they are to leave their animals in the run beyond the orchard and take position along the hedge south of the orchard. Here they are to remain carefully concealed until the signal is given by the captain to open fire.

The two leading platoons which constitute the main body of the rear guard, when well beyond the ridge, are to take position dismounted along the edge of the small wood 200 yards to the east of the road with their led horses hidden in the run.

The third platoon, which constitutes the support of the rear guard, is to continue down the road as if the retreat were being continued until it has crossed the bridge, when it is to take position dismounted in the edge of the woods to the north of Oliver's run, thus protecting the right flank, and also covering the withdrawal of the machine guns. The fourth platoon, which is extended in a skirmish line with twenty yards interval in rear of all, and to which the enemy is steadily approaching nearer and nearer, is to continue in the same order until beyond Oliver's run.

How Retreat Is Covered.

When the firing commences it is to take position on the north side of a slight rise about 150 yards beyond Oliver's run, and from there is to cover the retreat of the two platoons in the wood south of Oliver's run. These instructions are carried out with the result that as the skirmish line of the fourth platoon crosses Oliver's run the enemy's skirmish line, which has closed to a distance of about 200 yards, is within 150 yards of the machine guns behind the hedge, and about the same distance from the two dismounted platoons in the wood.

About 500 yards back of the enemy's skirmish line there is a supporting line of four platoons in column of fours. The reserve of the enemy's advance guard cannot be seen.

At this moment Capt. Miller give the signal to commence firing. The skirmish line wavers for a moment and then falls back on the four platoons in support which immediately deploy as skirmishers and advance at a gallop.

Forces Slowly Withdrawn.

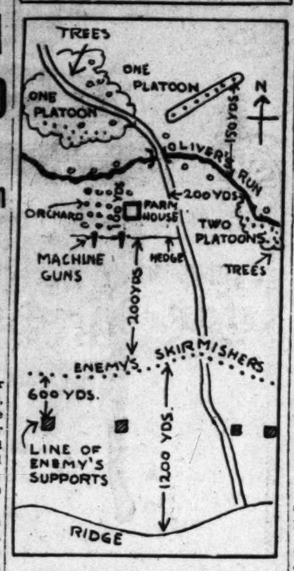

However, the fire is so heavy that in a few minutes a straggling crowd of horsemen gallop back across the ridge. As they disappear a fire is opened from the ridge which shows that the reserve of the advance guard has dismounted. This fire soon increases and then has added to it the fire of several machine guns.

As it is evident that the enemy intends to shove his attack home, the machine guns are quickly withdrawn from the orchard and the two platoons from the wood to the other side of the run, and thence down the road, where they are joined by the two remaining platoons, and the march resumed.

Judge Dismisses Charge.

Charles F. Wenham, manager of the Chicago Safe and Merchandise company at 75 West Lake street, was exonerated by Judge Robinson in the South Clark street court yesterday. He had been arrested on a warrant sworn out by Harry Lawler, 3542 North Halsted street, who charged larceny by bailee. Mr. Wenham showed a canceled check which he had used to pay Mr. Lawler's claim against him in full before the warrant was sworn.

DIVINITY SCHOOL UPSET BY STUDENT QUARREL

Some of Methodist Theologues Think Y. M. C. A. Committee Should Reprimand Erring Ones.

The future ministers will meet behind closed doors today to settle one of the most vexed questions which has disturbed their meditations for a long time.

"Pussy footers," "detective agents," and "would-be bishops" were some of the descriptive terms used yesterday in the heated debate which went on in the corridors.

The cause of the trouble is said to be an attempt on the part of the Young Men's Christian association of the school to call on the carpet and punish any wayward theologue who falls from the standard of piety set by the association.

The insurgents say they are old enough to regulate their own conduct without watching. One of the number was bold enough to inquire as to who would watch the Y. M. C. A. committee.

The Y. M. C. A. advocates say they propose only to act upon irregularities in student conduct, to counsel delinquencies, and thus promote a high ethical standard.

Text of Canal Clause.

"The improvement of navigation of the Illinois river, authorized by an act of the Illinois general assembly, providing for an expenditure of $5,000,000 therefor by the state of Illinois, is hereby authorized in accordance with said act. The interstate commerce commission is hereby given power to fix reasonable charges and tolls for the use of navigation upon the waterway in all interstate transportation; provided, that the improvement may be made in general accordance with the plans heretofore submitted to the chief of engineers and the secretary of war, and subject to their approval, or on such modified plans as may be approved by the chief of engineers and the secretary of war; provided, further, that the navigation features of the waterway and its appurtenances shall be operated and maintained in a manner satisfactory to the chief of engineers and the secretary of war, and any repairs or maintenance work that may be directed by the secretary of war on the recommendation of the chief of engineers shall be made within the time specified by him; provided, further, that when, under the terms of the act of the state of Illinois, the waterway shall be transferred to the United States for navigation purposes, the United States shall be given a clear title to such land as may be occupied by or used in connection with the locks and various appurtenances necessary for the operation of the waterway for navigation, together with all structures thereon; provided, further, that the amount of water to be diverted from Lake Michigan through this system of waterways shall never exceed the rate of 250,000 cubic feet per minute; and provided, further, that nothing herein contained shall be held to prejudice or affect any rights the United States may have in the Illinois and Michigan canal, or lands appurtenant thereto, or in any claims against the state of Illinois arising out of any failure upon the part of the state to maintain said canal as a navigable waterway."

PROTEST SENT BY CHICAGO.

"We are advised that the senate today passed the rivers and harbors bill, with an amendment introduced by Senator La Follette providing for the limitation of the flow of the drainage channel to 250,000 cubic feet of water per minute.

"This will have a most disastrous effect upon the people of Chicago, almost half the population of the state. It will produce the disease epidemics that existed prior to the opening of the channel, when the death rate from typhoid fever alone at certain times approximated 185 per 100,000 of population per year; whereas now the death rate from typhoid fever is less than eight per 100,000.

No Other Protection Possible.

"There is no way that the water supply of Chicago can be protected for the people other than by the works of the drainage channel with the flow of water required by the sanitary district law, 20,000 cubic feet of water per minute for each 100,000 of population. The present flow required is approximately 500,000 per minute.

"The Chicago river with the limitation provided will flow during a large part of the year into Lake Michigan, producing the horrible condition which existed prior to the opening of the channel.

"To build works (which would be merely a makeshift) to dispose of sewage in place of the flow cut off by the rivers and harbors bill will burden the people of Chicago to the extent of approximately $250,000,000, and this in the face of the fact that the people have already completed works better in every way for the complete protection of the water supply at an expense of approximately $100,000,000.

Steamer Company Protests.

"The objection to this flow of water comes from the Pittsburgh Steamship company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, claiming that the surface elevation of the lakes is lowered to a certain extent, causing a loss in carrying ability of their ore vessels.

"The board of engineers on rivers and harbors has recently reported that for the paltry sum of $345,000 this claimed loss can be compensated for.

"We ask you on behalf of the people of Chicago, the second largest city in the United States, to do all in your power to have removed from the rivers and harbors bill this unreasonable and unfair provision."

MAYOR AGAIN ASKED TO STOP EXPRESS STRIKE.

Third Endeavor Made to Get Conference with Employers Through Thompson.

A third endeavor on the part of representatives of striking express company employés to obtain a meeting with company officials was made in the office of Mayor Thompson yesterday.

A delegation of strikers, accompanied by Attorney Robert E. Crowe again requested the mayor to use his "good offices" in asking the company officials to meet with the strikers. It was reported that transmission of the request was made to the officials last night.

"One of the companies' objections to meeting the strikers seemed to be because of a dislike for Lyle McArthur, secretary of the union," said a union leader. "That was because he took part in an express strike some years ago. McArthur said at the last strikers' meeting he stood ready to sever active connection with the strike if he stood in the way of a settlement. Now he has done so."

Union leaders asserted that the companies were trying by a ruse to get the strikers to return to work.

Heads of the waiters', cooks', and pastry cooks' unions called at THE TRIBUNE office and told of agreements signed between the unions and Thompson and Weeghman lunchrooms. Under the agreements, all employés of the lunchrooms are to become union members, and get an increase of from $2 to $5 a week and one day off each week.

Every morning, and after eating, and during the night, pernicious germs, increasing as the result of uncleanliness and neglect, are working their office of disaster.

It is not desirable, even were it possible, to destroy ALL these germs. Complete destruction would be attained only at the expense of the very tissues we urge you to preserve.

We commend to you the regular use of KOLYNOS DENTAL CREAM to secure an ideal condition of oral cleanliness—for Kolynos CLEANSES BY POLISHING WITHOUT ABRADING THE TEETH.

It also destroys and washes away large quantities of bacteria, the undue accumulation of which is injurious. It also dissolves the fatty deposits which form a thin layer over the teeth, and contain minute particles of food and other objectionable substances.

Fortunately Kolynos is agreeable in taste. When the easily acquired "Kolynos habit" has been formed, the hygienic duty of obtaining mouth cleanliness becomes, to young and old alike, a real pleasure.

"Lower Gas Bills"—No. 12

Gas Rates Must Go Up or Down

That's the nub of the gas situation after all. "Candle power" gas cannot be sold any more for 80 cents. The cost of oil required in the making of it is prohibitive and gasoline demand will keep it so.

The price of gas must go up—perhaps as much as 15 cents a thousand—if the useless candle power requirement is retained. This is the bald fact which consumers and the company both must face with open eyes. The only way to lower gas bills is by way of the company's proposal to the city.

The Company's Proposal

Give us permission, the company says to the city council, to make and sell "heat unit" gas instead of obsolete and expensive "candle power" gas.

We, in turn, will put into effect immediately a schedule of rates materially lower than present rates.

This lower rate schedule will be subject to further revision when our property is valued, and can always be revised at any time by the properly constituted authorities.

Present gas rates must be increased unless we are permitted to make and sell "heat unit" gas. The facts in support of this are clear and conclusive, and easily understood.

Why This Offer Is Fair

The company's offer is plain, open and above board. It is definite. There are no strings to it.

The company is not "driving a bargain." It does not even seek to bind the city to the new rates for a fixed period. It offers immediately lower rates and leaves the door wide open for further rate revision at any time.

The "heat unit" gas would do all the work of "candle power" gas at less cost. Is that a good reason for shutting it out?

Acceptance of the company's proposal would help everybody that uses gas and hurt nobody but the Oil Monopoly. Why, then, should action be delayed?

Is Your Unasked Gas Query Here?

EVERY HOUSEHOLD will be interested by the QUESTIONS and ANSWERS printed below. They cover cooking and lighting points that directly concern domestic users.

YOU have probably ASKED yourself the same questions asked here by Edna Bolins, 5504 Crystal Street. Read them carefully — her questions and our answers.

QUESTION. Why will "heat unit" gas be more advantageous than "candle power" gas?

ANSWER. Because "heat unit" gas will do practically the same work as "candle power" gas, and will put the company in a position to make and sell gas on the basis most advantageous to consumers and for the lowest possible price.

Q. Why can "heat unit" gas be sold for less than "candle power" gas?

A. Because "heat unit" gas can be made for less, after the company builds and puts into operation a new plant for the purpose.

Q. Will "heat unit" gas force me to use electricity for lighting my house?

A. It will not. It will enable you to have the advantage of competition with electricity many years longer.

Q. How many units in a cubic foot of "candle power" gas and how many will there be in a cubic foot of "heat unit" gas?

A. The present gas has about 650 heat units. That proposed should conform to the standard fixed by the State Board of Public Utilities—not less than 565 heat units.

QUESTION. Will "heat unit" gas reduce the candle power of the ordinary gas mantle? Will it require a change in the burners on the ordinary gas stove?

ANSWER. A little more of "heat unit" gas may be used in a mantle burner to get the same candle power; but there will be less blackening and longer life to mantles, less blackening of ceilings, and burners will remain in adjustment and give better satisfaction. Stove burners will not need to be changed.

Q. My gas bill now is about $1.25 per month for cooking. Can you estimate what it will be with "heat unit" gas?

A. Any change in your very small bill would be so slight that the difference cannot be accurately estimated.

Q. What is the present candle power and gas consumption for standard flat flame burner and what will it be with "heat unit" gas?

A. Present candle power is 22 and consumption is five feet of gas per hour with flat flame burner. Candle power would be a little less immediately, under a heat unit standard, and eventually, after completion of a new plant, would be from seven to ten.

VETERANS OF '61 MARCH TODAY; HONOR FOR ALL

Cemeteries Will Be Visited and Flowers Put Upon Graves.

PARADE FACTS

These are the principal facts about the annual Memorial day parade this afternoon:

Time—3 p. m.

Place of start—Michigan avenue and Twenty-sixth street.

Number of divisions—Nine.

Order of divisions—Grand army, apprentices of the United States naval training station, national guard, independent military organizations, Chicago police, letter carriers, fraternal associations, fire department, and boy scouts.

All of the cemeteries of Cook county will be visited today by members of the Grand Army. There will be numerous patriotic celebrations throughout the city and in many of the suburbs, and most of the clubs will have special social affairs.

There was a general celebration of Memorial day yesterday in the public schools, and short talks were given by civil war veterans.

Veterans Parade Today.

Probably the most spectacular affair of the day will be the Memorial day parade of veterans, which will be given under the auspices of the Grand Army Hall and Memorial association of Cook county. The parade will take place this afternoon in Michigan avenue.

Gen. C. S. Bentley will be chief marshal. He has appointed on his staff Col. Charles R. E. Koch as adjutant general, Col. James J. Healy as chief of staff, Joseph Rosenbaum as inspector general, and Capt. C. S. Eldridge as medical director. The parade headquarters are at 31 West Lake street.

Sailors of the naval training station, the Illinois naval reserve, and regiments of the national guard will be among the marchers.

Doings at Fort Sheridan.

One of the big celebrations will be that of the National and Illinois Cadet Corps leagues at 2 p. m. at Fort Sheridan. The Deerfield-Shields High school organized the first cadet corps of the organization last November. The cadet corps of other high schools will be in the procession.

The following other organizations intend to participate:

Following the parade there will be military evolutions, wall scaling, and other exercises. Short talks will be made by W. M. Lewis, mayor of Lake Forest; Harry W. Pearson, mayor of Evanston, and others.

Memorial services in which prayers will be offered for the repose of the souls of the soldiers will be held at 9 o'clock this morning in the St. John Berchman's Roman Catholic church, 2517 Logan boulevard.

Girl Dies of Illegal Operation.

Mildred Hoffman, 17 years old, of Milwaukee died of an illegal operation, but a coroner's jury was unable to determine yesterday whether it was self-performed or not. Mrs. Laura Barkenhagn of 174 Oklahoma avenue, Milwaukee, the victim's mother, wept when she told of her daughter's trip to Chicago six months ago. Her husband is said to be well-to-do.

ALL SET FOR THE PARADE—

But She Cannot Appear in Her Costume Made of a Dozen Tribunes Because No Special Costuming Is Allowed.

MISS Rosie Quinn is brokenhearted. Miss Quinn isn't old enough to vote, but she is old enough to be a person of some consequence in the theatrical world—a featured member of the cast of "A World of Pleasure."

She's going to lead a contingent of players in the preparedness parade on Saturday, and for the occasion has had a dress made of twelve TRIBUNES. But the parade committee has frowned on costumes, so she can't be the TRIBUNE girl and must, perforce, be content with this picture, which is printed as an earnest of her good intentions.

Of course she'll march, anyway, for her brother is an army lieutenant, detailed on recruiting service in the east, and the family is strong for preparedness.

MINERS REJECT WAGE SCALE 50,000 MEN TO BE AFFECTED

Union's Convention at Pittsburgh Wants New Agreement with Operators—District to Be Tied Up.

As a result of this action practically every mine in the Pittsburgh district will be closed indefinitely. Fifty thousand miners will be affected.

PLANS TO MAKE U.S. NAVY SECOND GIVEN TO HOUSE

Republicans Urge Program of General Board as Against Democrats' Proposals.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., May 29.—[Special.]—The navy general board's plan to bring the American navy back to second place in three years was submitted to the house today for its approval by the Republicans of the house naval affairs committee through Representative Butler of Pennsylvania, ranking member of the committee.

The house tomorrow will vote on this program. Tonight the leaders of both sides were busy lining up their forces, the Democrats in an effort to beat the program and the Republicans to put it over.

Majority Leader Kitchin threw himself into the fight this afternoon against a big navy and pleaded with the Democrats of the house to support the fight on the general board "because the country does not need a program half as big as we have brought in here."

On the other hand, Republicans of all types joined in the debate in behalf of the general board's recommendations.

Democrats Start Party Fight.

Minority Leader Mann, Representative Butler, Representative Britten of Illinois, Representative Farr of Pennsylvania, and Representative Lenroot of Wisconsin urged the house to waive party distinctions and support the program in the interest of the country.

Although earlier in the day the Democrats had pleaded with the Republicans not to make the naval fight a partisan one, when it appeard that many Democratic congressmen would support the general board's program as put forward by the Republicans, Kitchin and his crowd immediately made the committee measure a party one and demanded that Democrats support it as party bill.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon pitched into the debate. He declared the United States would need a much larger navy if it proposed to protect the Philippines and Porto Rico, defend the Monroe doctrine, and protect its own shores.

Lenroot Deserts Democratic Ranks.

Perhaps the most startling speech of the day was that of Representative Lenroot of Wisconsin, who has been a small navy man ever since his advent in the house.

"I have always been considered a small navy man," he began, "so that I wish to make an explanation of why I shall vote for two dreadnaughts, six battle cruisers, and the full program proposed by the minority of the naval committee.

"The important thing is not how many ships we have but whether or not we have a first class navy, and its class depends entirely on its strength as compared with those of other nations which we may have to fight. If it is superior to them it is first class. If it is inferior to them it must be strengthened, no matter how many ships it may have."

FROM MANILA

AMERICAN PRESS ASS'N PHOTO

Maj. Gen. Thomas H. Barry opened his desk in the federal building yesterday and officially assumed command of the central department of the United States army. He has just arrived from Manila, where he has been for two years commander of the department of the Philippines.

His first interview concerned Chicago's preparedness parade.

"It is a great thing," he said. "I want to do anything I can to help it along. Such things as this parade give great satisfaction to any military man. Suffrage and service go together. Any man who votes ought to be willing to fight."

PASTORS UNITE TO COMBAT INROADS BY THEATERS.

Will Oppose Before Council Any Ordinance Allowing Showhouses Within 200 Feet of Church.

At the Chicago Church federation meeting in the First Methodist Episcopal church resolutions were passed protesting against any ordinance which will nullify the law which requires theaters shall not be operated within 200 feet of a church.

The resolutions were presented by the Rev. Alexander Alison Jr. of the Hyde Park Presbyterian church, which has been battling for three years to prevent further inroads following the closing of Harper theater after the case had been carried to the Supreme court.

"An attempt is being made by parties interested," said Mr. Alison, in commenting on his resolution after the adjournment of the meeting, "to alarm all of the theaters with the threat that they will all be affected by the ordinance, when in fact the ordinance will only affect three or four theaters."

A committee of twenty-two ministers and laymen was appointed to present the matter before a council subcommittee tomorrow.

PRESS FIGHTING POSTAL JOKER

Publishers Oppose Censorship Provision in Appropriation Bill.

MADDEN IS AGAINST IT.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., May 29.—[Special.]—Publishers of the country are attempting to prevent the adoption of a provision in the postoffice appropriation bill creating an arbitrary press censorship in the hands of the postmaster general.

Cyrus H. K. Curtis of the Curtis Publishing company, Philadelphia, called on several senators today and presented objections to the pending senate measure.

Mr. Curtis told the senators that the enactment of this section of the bill would make the postmaster general absolute master of the fortunes of any newspaper, magazine, or periodical in the country.

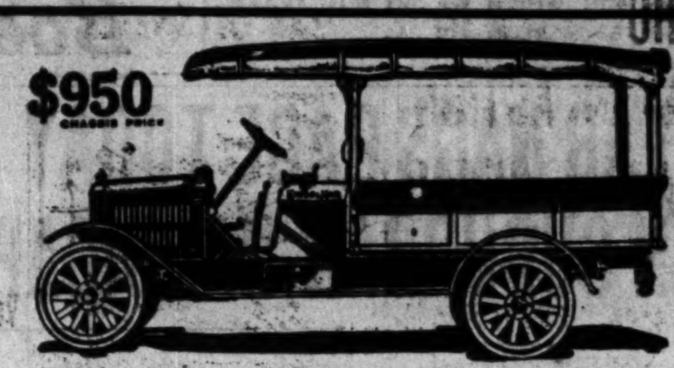

Madden Against It.

Representative Madden of Chicago, a member of the house postoffice committee, said: "I do not think that paragraph will be written into law. It certainly should not. As it was originally prepared, it was intended to save $3,000,000 annually by specifying that certain publications, which did not feature live news, should be shipped to distributing points by fast freight instead of fast mail train. It was the intention to fix the classes and leave no discretion in the hands of the postmaster general.

As reported to the senate, the provision places the manner of the shipment of publications by freight or regular mail entirely in the discretion of the postmaster general.

Gives Too Much Power.

"No man should be given such power," said Mr. Madden tonight. "For my part I am opposed to anything which might interfere with the freedom of the press and to order one daily paper shipped by freight and another by mail would be an unwarranted and unjustifiable interference."

STAR NAGS RACE TODAY IN SUBURBAN HANDICAP

Stromboli, The Finn, Short Grass, Possibly Roamer, Among the Starters.

SMALL FIELD NAMED.

New York, May 29.—[Special.]—A small field is promised for the historic Suburban at Belmont park tomorrow, with the Metropolitan handicap winner, The Finn, the top weight, unless Andrew Miller should decide to start Roamer, the handicap champion of last season.

That Roamer may start is entirely probable and will depend in a large measure on the weights allotted to this sterling racehorse in the Kentucky handicap, a valuable stake that will be run next Saturday.

Decision This Morning.

These weights will be received by telegraph tomorrow, and if the Knight Errant gelding is not burdened too heavily he will be reserved for the event in Kentucky. His owner, Andrew Miller, was desirous of starting him in the Suburban in any event, but deferred to the wishes of Trainer Goldsborough, and agreed to wait until the last moment before making a decision.

The five pound penalty picked up by The Finn for his victory in the Metropolitan brings his impost up to 127 pounds, so that he will have to give four pounds to Stromboli, winner of this important handicap last year.

Distance Help to Short Grass.

The extra quarter of a mile of the Suburban course is supposed to be in favor of Short Grass, which was running strongly at the end of the Metropolitan, while Schuyler L. Parson's Sharpshooter is a newcomer that is rated dangerous. In addition to Stromboli August Belmont will start the 3 year old Friar Rock, and it is probable that with the extra string to his bow the chairman of the Jockey club will supply the favorite.

W. R. Coe's high priced Haubark, greatly fancied in his 2 year old career, has been worked well for the race and is expected to improve over his performance in the Metropolitan. He will be ridden by Johnny McTaggart. Butwell is slated for the mount on Stromboli, but in case Roamer starts this arrangement will be changed, as Andrew Miller has first call on this jockey.

SEVENTEEN IN ROW FOR THOSE GIANTS; MATTY VICTOR, 3 TO 0

Boston, Mass., May 29.—The New York Giants continued on their victorious way, shutting out Boston, 3 to 0, and recording their seventeenth consecutive victory.

Mathewson pitched for the visitors and held the Braves to four singles. The veteran did not waste his strength, seldom using a fast ball, and Boston hit only a few of his slow ones outside the diamond.

Five double plays shortened the game. One of these was started by Mathewson. He picked one of Smith's fast shots out of the air with his bare hand and doubled Konetchy off first. New York's first run was due to an infield hit, an out at first, and a single by Kauff. Two hits, an error, a wild pitch, and an out gave the visitors two runs in the eighth. Score:

CUTLER WRESTLES BEELL AS RIVERVIEW FEATURE.

Charlie Cutler and Fred Beell, who once flopped Frank Gotch, will wrestle at the Riverview Velodrome as the feature of a Memorial day show this afternoon. Beell is the only athlete to tumble Gotch since the latter gained his title. He performed the feat in New Orleans, taking the first fall after a long tussle and gaining the deciding fall in less than a minute. Cutler and Beell will wrestle to a finish. Several preliminary finish matches will be staged. The bouts will begin at 3 o'clock.

Earl Caddock of Anita, Ia., former amateur champion in the heavyweight and light heavyweight divisions, will be at the ringside to challenge the winner. Caddock turned "pro" last winter and won all his bouts. He is now on the stable of wrestlers under management of Gene Meladay of Omaha, who also takes care of Joe Stecher's business arrangements.

WALSH SHOWS WELL AS WHITE SOX BLANK TOLEDO RAILS, 6 TO 0

Toledo, O., May 29.—[Special.]—Coates' crack semi-pros of this city, who work most of the time for the street railway and light company but play baseball as a side line, were blanked by the White Sox, 6 to 0, before a good sized crowd, considering the threatening weather.

Ed Walsh came back to earth as a big league pitcher, blanking the semi-pros for four innings, after which he turned the game over to Dave Danforth, who completed the work of suppressing the locals.

The Sox hammered in two runs in the second inning and one in the third. Three errors by the Railsplitters in the fifth, hits by E. Collins and Leibold, and a sacrifice fly by McMullin gave the Sox three runs. John Collins was the heavy hitter of the day, getting four safe raps in six trips to the plate.

Walsh looked good on the slab. He has perfected an effective curve ball. Danforth fanned six batters in a row. Score:

A. A. MAGNATES SEEK DISCARDS FROM CUB LIST

Rain Forces Tinx to Schedule Four Games in Two Days; Go East Tomorrow.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Because the weather jinx still pursues them the Cubs were idle yesterday and will have to play four games in the next two days. Yesterday's rain hung out the "nothing doing" sign at Weeghman park before noon and it was found necessary to work off the postponement with the Cardinals tomorrow if possible.

Manager Tinker was closeted with Presidents Tebeau of the Kansas City club and Timme of the Milwaukee club in the afternoon and there were forecasts of something happening in the way of a shakeup of the Cubs, but it developed the American association magnates were looking for help and not in position to render first aid to anybody.

Try to Strengthen Teams.

Both the Kansas City and Milwaukee teams are in the second division and their owners are seeking a discard from Tinker's hand. Just at present the Cub pilot cannot dismiss the men he would like to on account of their steel turreted contracts, and can't afford to let go of any of the men he can discard. Some dicker may result whereby one of the minor club owners may assume part of the war time salary of one of the surplus Cubs.

The Tinks are scheduled to play morning and afternoon games with the Cardinals today. The daybreak encounter will be started at 10:30 a. m. if the rain stops in time. The matinée engagement is booked for 3 o'clock. Tomorrow the two teams will try to pull off a double header starting at 1:30 p. m. to dispose of yesterday's game and the one postponed from May 1.

Eastern Getaway Tomorrow.

As both teams will leave for the east tomorrow night, an attempt was made to find some later date for playing of yesterday's game, but the only alternative was six games in three days early in September. The lesser evil was chosen and the getaway date congested with a double bill.

CUB PREXY FAILS TO GET LEAGUE MEETING NOTICE.

Are the other national leaguers trying to pull something on President Weeghman of the Cubs, or is there a crack in Uncle Sam's big mail chute somewhere between New York and Chicago? The Cub magnate declared last night he had not received notice of the special meeting of the league called for Thursday in New York. Herrman of Cincinnati received his summons on Saturday. Weeghman said he would attend the meeting if there was to be one.

ROLLER MARATHON TODAY.

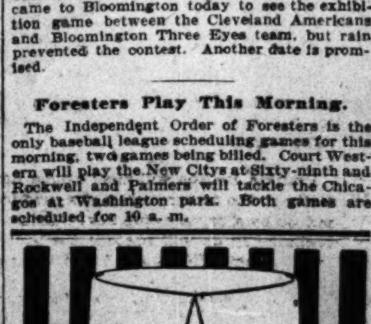

One hundred roller skaters will start today in the second annual fifteen mile street handicap race, promoted by the Opal Athletic association and sanctioned by the Western Skating association. The race will start at Twenty-first street and California avenue at 2 o'clock. A one mile race for boys under 16 years will start at 1 p. m.

Junior League Meets Tomorrow.

THE BUNK OF A BUSY BRAIN

TWENTY-TWO STARTERS IN AUTO DERBY TODAY

FANS LIKE BELGIAN.

BY J. C. BURTON.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 29.—[Special.]—After a morning of rain and an afternoon of sunshine, Indianapolis, optimistic and expectant, tonight awaits the first tremor of the thrill resurgent, the sixth annual international sweepstakes, which will be run on the Indianapolis Speedway tomorrow afternoon.

Provided the gods on high Olympus are kind and the weather prophet is not too conservative in forecasting, nothing worse than cloudy skies for tomorrow, twenty-two cars, representing America, France, and England in the international speed test of 300 miles, will be sent away by Starter George Dickson at 1:30 o'clock. The purse totals $30,000, of which $12,000 will go to the driver who first gets the checkered flag.

Drivers Prepare Their Mounts.

The speedway symphony today was an aria of preparedness, played by rasping files and clanging hammers, as drivers and mechanicians toiled in the garages to get their thoroughbreds of steel ready for the Memorial day classic. Tomorrow afternoon the song will be changed to one of hate, sung by roaring motors and barking exhausts as the drivers match their courage and cunning in a race in which the personal equation is a more important factor than in any of the other events staged on American speedways.

For at Indianapolis the skill and strategy of driver play just as important a part as the speed and stamina of car. The man at the wheel must use his head rather than his foot. He cannot drive the Hoosier course with throttle wide open, as at New York and Chicago, where the turns have a greater pitch and the fastest machine has the best chances of winning provided nuts, bolts, pistons, and connecting rods hold under the terrific strain.

Consequently tomorrow's classic will be a race of drivers as well as cars. Brains will be just as requisite as steel.

Field Smaller than Usual.

This year the Indianapolis race has attracted the fastest cars in America, the creations of the master auto engineers of the United States, England, and France. With the exception of Ralph De Palma, last season's winner, the most talented drivers in the game will be at the wheels of these gasoline-eating time-destroyers, so keen competition and masterful driving is assured, even though the field this year is not as large as in the five previous races held on the Hoosier course.

Cooking the dope pill is a difficult assignment. It looks like anybody's race, although there are four drivers who are favored by the railbirds of the gasoline circuit who have been watching practice for the last week and clocking the cars in the elimination trials of Friday, Saturday, and yesterday.

Christiaens Choice of Fans.

On the eve of the classic a condition exists. Although Dario Resta, the Peugeot driver who ran second to De Palma last year, has been listed as favorite by the bookmakers, the choice of the fans is Josef Christiaens, the Belgian who brought the English Sunbeam across the Atlantic two months ago for an American campaign.

Among the drivers Christiaens is respected and feared. His Sunbeam, a six cyclinder car, is generally acknowledged to be five miles per hour faster than any other machine in the field, and because of superior accelerating power, will have the advantage on the turns and be easier on tires in picking up speed.

Bear Stories Not Reliable.

There is some talk in the racing camps that Christiaens is having bearing trouble and that he will finish tomorrow as he did in the Metropolitan trophy race at New York earlier in the month, at the pits. Too much credence should not be given this report, however. Bear stories are popular with the noncommunicative foreign drivers, as the racing fans will recall in 1913, when Goux's victorious Peugeot was eliminated by the dopesters before the race because of its rumored propensity for throwing tires.

Although Johnny Aitken's car made the fastest qualifying lap, Dario Resta is the favored driver of the Peugeot team because of his phenomenal record last season and the fact that he knows his mount better than the other three contenders who will be at the wheels of the same make of car, Aitken, Mulford and Merz.

Rickenbacher America's Hope.

It is the common belief among the experts that America's best chance of winning rests with Eddie Rickenbacher, captain of the Maxwell team and winner of the Metropolitan trophy. Baron Rick has pointed his car especially for this race, and his Maxwell is probably in better shape than any other car in the field. Being of German ancestry, Rickenbacher has inherited Teutonic thoroughness and has left nothing undone in the way of preparing for tomorrow's blue ribbon event.

Barney Oldfield a Contender.

Barney Oldfield is regarded as the class of the Delage team, and on his showing in practice and the eliminations should finish up close to the leaders. The veteran is ambitious to win, as he is about to retire from the game, but before doing so aims to add a victory in a speedway classic to the triumphs he has scored on road and dirt tracks. His car is in better shape than it was last season, having been rebuilt during the winter, and he is looked upon as a dangerous contender.

Being native sons, Gil Anderson, Howdy Wilcox, and Tom Rooney have a great following among Indianapolis fans, and are entitled to serious consideration because of the fast time they made with the new Premiers in Sunday's trials. Their cars are green, however, and green race cars are like green race horses, not to be depended upon in the heat of competition. The Premiers, which have not been out of the factory for more than a week, require more preparation.

This also is true of the two Frontenacs and the three Crawfords. Like the Premiers, they have not been driven enough to get the bugs out of the new motors. They should make a better showing at Chicago June 10 than they do here tomorrow.

Tom Alley's Ogren and Wilbur D'Alene's Duesenberg lack the speed the Peugeot, Delage, and Maxwell have. They are noted for their staying qualities, however, and probably will finish inside the money.

Mulford Qualifies Peugeot.

Because of his scruples against driving on Sunday, Ralph Mulford was permitted to qualify his Peugeot this afternoon. He turned a lap in 1:38, but will have to start in the last row with Tom Alley. Eddie O'Donnell, who was due to arrive from Chicago this morning, is missing and as a consequence Wilbur D'Alene's car will be the only one of three Duesenbergs entered to start.

Although he arrived late this afternoon and qualified his Duesenberg, Eddie O'Donnell will not be allowed to start. This was the decision reached tonight at a meeting of officials, drivers, and mechanicians.

PUGILISTIC POINTERS

BY RAY C. PEARSON.

THE break reported yesterday between the Wisconsin state boxing commission and the New York state boxing commission was not surprising to local followers of the game. When the two bodies controlling the sport in their respective states recently came to an agreement whereby they announced they would respect the rulings of the other it was believed that a move for the betterment of the sport had been made. But at the same time it was believed by those who know boxing that this agreement was a tenuous one that could easily be broken.

The break due to the Gotham commission favoring the claims of Freddie Welsh over those of the Badger commission shows plainly that it will take something stronger than a mere agreement to make rulings of any state effective in other sections of the country. The Badger commission may have made a mistake in barring Welsh for four months, but was forced to break with the New Yorkers when the latter refused to abide by the ruling.

According to information from Milwaukee, the fans there are raising all kinds of coin to wager that Charley White will not stop their favorite son, Richie Mitchell, Friday night. This information was brought here by John Morgenroth, who runs the big gymnasium in the Brewery city. Morgenroth came to take a peek at White and returned home convinced that Mitchell is up against the stiffest game of his career in meeting White. The local sale of tickets indicates that probably 800 fans will make the trip. White worked out at O'Connell's and has arranged to box with Sunburst Dolan today.

Doc Krone arises to remark that Jack Britton need not hanker for matches. Doc wants to match either Spike Kelly or Jack Novak against the former Chicago boy.

The bout between Freddie Enck and Danny Goodman, scheduled for Aurora, has been postponed until Friday night.

Frankie Britton will meet Young Spike Kelly in the feature scrap of a card to be put on by a private club next Sunday. A preliminary go will precede the bout between Clem Hilders and Lloyd Warren.

Knockout Brown, the Greek middleweight, who recently returned from Australia, yesterday was practically matched to fight Tom Gibbons, brother of Mike, at St. Paul. They'll battle next month, but the date hasn't been set.

SOCCER ASSOCIATION PASSES NEW RULE

Philadelphia, Pa., May 29.—A rule preventing players from rejoining a club from which they have been released until thirty days have elapsed was adopted by the United States Football association, the national governing body of soccer, at its annual meeting here today. The new rule is intended to break up the practice of clubs loaning their players to other organizations which wish to pad their rolls for important contests.

It was decided that in the future each state association with thirty clubs will be entitled to one representative at the national convention, those with more than fifty-five clubs, two, and those which have eighty-five or more, three.

John A. Fernley of New Bedford, Mass., was reelected president; Douglas Stewart, Philadelphia; George Healey, Detroit, and George M. Collins, New Bedford, vice presidents; Thomas W. Cahill, New York, secretary, and Archibald Birse, Chicago, treasurer.

The meeting arranged for two international meetings. One of these will be played in Chicago July 9, between the Chicago and the Canadian ateams. The proceeds will be given to the British Red Cross. The other will be played in the near future between an American team and a Scandinavian team. The date has not yet been fixed, but it was decided to hold it somewhere in Scandinavia.

TWIN BILL FOR GAS BIKE FANS

Rain caused the postponement of all events in the second day of the three day F. A. M. motorcycle championships at Hawthorne yesterday. As many as possible of yesterday's events and all races booked for today will be run off today, starting at 2 o'clock, according to Manager Leonard.

The three principal events will be a five mile race for lightweight machines, five mile Illinois championship, and ten mile national F. A. M. title contest. In case bad weather forces the deferring of the combined card today, the races probably will be run Sunday.

The best route to the Hawthorne track is by the Douglas Park elevated to Fifty-second avenue. Surface lines transferring at Fifty-second avenue also lead to the track.

MAY DECIDE SOCCER RACE.

The Pullman and Joliet soccer teams will meet this afternoon in Joliet in a match which may determine the championship of the Chicago District league. Each team has 19 points. The Chicago Americans, who are third, will play Hyde Park Blues at Fifty-second street and Cottage Grove avenue and the McDuffs will meet Bricklayers at Forty-eighth avenue and Sixteenth street. Other games follow:

Second division—Chicago Swedish and Slavia at Wissemso and Robey, Corinthians and Caledonians at Ogden park.

LINCOLN PARK BIKE RACE CARDED THIS MORNING.

Fifty prizes are offered for the 108 cycle riders who will compete in the twenty mile road race around the Lincoln park lagoon this morning, starting at 9 o'clock. All the stars from the Riverview, Chicago Cycling, Belgian-American, and Sleipner clubs are entered, with a number of unattached entrants who rank with the best pedallers in the city. The race will be a handicap affair, with the limit men drawing an allowance of six minutes.

JUDGE KNOCKS OUT FIGHT.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 29.—The knockout blow was given the Dillon-Smith boxing show scheduled for tonight when Judge Moll today overruled a motion for a change of venue in the injunction proceedings filed by Prosecutor Rucker. Joseph Roach, attorney for the promoters, announced the motion would not be pressed, and the defense was willing that the temporary restraining order continue operative until after the date set for the contest.

ENTIRELY TOO PERSONAL!

Ossining, N. Y., May 29.—During the baseball game in Sing Sing prison yard when 500 New York society women and an equal number of men saw the Mutual Welfare league team wallop the New York stock exchange team, 9 to 7, a fan objected to a decision of the convict umpire by bawling: "Robber!"

The umpire walked over to the fan and said: "Don't get personal; this is only a friendly game."

GOV. DUNNE TO HELP CHICAGO YACHTSMEN OPEN SEASON TODAY

BY JACK PROCTOR.

The day of days on the calendar of Chicago yachtsmen is here. Following precedent, Memorial day will mark the official opening of the yachting season, and all clubs have made elaborate preparations for lid lifting ceremonies. Clubhouses and boats of the Chicago, Jackson Park, and Lincoln Park organizations will be placed in commission during the day.

Perhaps the biggest doings will be at Jackson park, where the south side sailors will dedicate their new clubhouse on the east bank of the lagoon. Gov. Dunne has accepted an invitation to make the dedicatory speech.

Salute for Governor.

According to plans, the governor will go to Jackson park on board William A. Lydon's steam yacht, Lydonia, which will anchor off shore. Gov. Dunne, accompanied by Commodore William M. Lawton, and other yachting leaders, will take a launch for the lagoon, and as soon as the boat enters the harbor the governor's salute of seventeen guns will be fired. An elaborate program in the new clubhouse is to follow, the exercises commencing at 10:30 o'clock. Dancing is planned for this evening.

Opening ceremonies at the Chicago Yacht club will begin at noon, when the organization headed by Commodore Harry M. Higinbotham will run up flags on clubhouse and boats. An officers' reception is set for 2 o'clock, followed by a concert. A dinner dance will begin at 6:30. Bus service from Michigan avenue and Monroe street will start at 9 a. m.

Duplicate Bill at Lincoln Park.

The Lincoln Park Yacht club will follow about the same kind of program. Starting at noon, when the north side fleet goes into commission, various kinds of entertainment will engage the attention of the members throughout the day.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL MEETS DRAW 400 KIDS' ENTRIES.

"FRIENDS" K. O. SHERIDAN NEAR DETROIT ROADHOUSE

Detroit, Mich., May 29.—[Special.]—Mickey Sheridan, Chicago welterweight pugilist, was beaten with a hammer and left unconscious near a Jefferson avenue roadhouse Sunday midnight by two of his supposed friends. Several hours later Sheridan recovered consciousness and made his way to the home of a friend, where he is recovering from severe scalp wounds. Sheridan thinks he knows his assailants, but is seeking proof before divulging their identity.

Eddie Coulin Wins Decision.

New Orleans, La., May 29.—Eddie Coulin of New Orleans was awarded a decision over Jimmy Murphy of St. Louis at the end of a fifteen round bantamweight contest here tonight. Murphy was credited with but one round.

GOLF CLUBS TO HOLD PLAY.

Although in former years Memorial day marked the opening of the golf season on most local courses, many clubs now get into action much earlier, so that only a few have their initial events carded for today. Among these are Exmoor and Onwentsia. The rain of yesterday left several courses in a soggy condition, but it is expected that all programs will be carried out if the weather clears this morning.

New York A. C. Signs Stars.

New York, May 29.—Ted Meredith, University of Pennsylvania; Fred Murray, Leland Standford, and E. C. Riley of Dartmouth and probably Johnny W. Overton of Yale will be seen in the colors of the New York Athletic club this season.

In the Wake of the News

PROLOGUE.

We decided to depend on the day's mail.

"Surely," said we to ourself, "there'll be something easy to read and worth reading in the day's mail."

So we opened the day's mail. And here is four of it, in the order in which it was opened:

ME AND BUSHMAN.

Dear Sir: You probably would like to get some very extensive, dignified publicity by allowing us to use your photograph and name in our advertising, as we have with other —— men. The attached copy will show you reduced form how we have used these names.

These advertisements appear in a list of publications that reach in the neighborhood of fourteen million subscribers. Inasmuch as the advertising is very simple and dignified, we know you will approve of it.

Now if you will send us a good bust photograph and a letter giving us permission to use your name, we would very much like to have this advertisement appear in our July magazines.

Besides Francis X. Bushman, Wallhall, Kerrigan, and other well-known movie stars, such men as etc., have gladly given us permission to use their names and photgraphs.

Etc.

—— and Co.

A garter is the thing to be advertised.

MIGNONETTE IS CHEATED.

Dear Sir: Just recuperating from the disappointment of my life. Went to see Gloria's Romance, especially to see you, and never a glimpse of any sight as per your write-up of some days past. After waiting two weeks, too. Not only lost three good Buffaloes, but am still Very disappointed, MIGNONETTE.

QUERY—WHAT IS OUR GAME?

As a writer of stories of baseball lore
You've made yourself quite a name
But your poetry is rotten, it's sure to bore
So away from that end of the game.

As a writer of stories, do you think it's nice
To steal the best stuff of friend Grantland Rice?
It detracts from his dignity and he's not to blame
"You know me Al" is enough, so back to your game.

Every morning I run for the Eighty thirty-five
Buy a Trib read the "Wake" and reading I strive
To make myself better but I can't it's a shame
Your poetry is rotten, so back to your game.

When you write of your kiddies and things they do
You're there no cause to complain
As a prophet of baseball you're never true
So away from that end of the game.

We cannot help but admire and r'gretly we should Sometimes we aspire to be just half as good
In our own line of endeavor to win us some fame
But as a poet you're rotten, so back to your game.
ANON.

A REAL ONE.

—— Iowa, May 25.—Dear Sir: Your letter at hand, I am sorry to say on sign the contract I think a man ought too have chance but the contract use people send it all one sided I would like too play ball for New Hampron but I would not sign a one sided contract you people have a clade Iron contract.

all in your favor in league why a player get a clade Iron contract all in his favor.

I like too play ball but befor I could sign a contract for $90.00 a month have to sign a clade Iron contract and all one sided.

I will go to work I very heard of just a thing. ——

BRICKLEY TO STOP KICKING.

Boston, Mass., May 29.—Charley Brickley, former Harvard captain, who kicked and batted and shot putted Yale's athletic ambitions to the winds for four years, has met his match. Dan Cupid has conquered Brickley. His engagement to Miss Agnes Coakley of Boston will be announced this week.

"NO MORE GOLF," SAYS "BIG SIX"

Boston, Mass., May 29.—[Special.]—"No more golf for me while I'm in baseball. I believe it interferes with my pitching.

"McGraw's got the best team he's had since he's been manager of the Giants.

"We can make about five runs a game and will. With any sort of pitching we'll win in that hitting."

Matty still has his "stuff," according to other Giants, not according to Matty, who does not talk much about his own equipment. He isn't giving up golf, a game which he loves, for any other reason than half a hunch that the swing of a golf club has a tendency to hurt his left shoulder, the one which pained him so much late last season.

Big Six had a chance to go out and play golf in Cincinnati. In fact, a friend of his in Redland whom he had been in the habit of meeting on the links in other years pressed Matty so hard for an explanation of his reason in giving up golf that Matty gave his real reason.

CUSHION LEAGUE ADOPTS NEW RULE TO STOP BETTING

Bars Cue Experts Who Play In Rooms Where Gambling Is Permitted.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Determined to eliminate gambling from billiards as far as is in their power, officials of the Interstate Three Cushion league yesterday decided that any player who takes part in academy games where pools are sold or betting is done is not eligible to play in the league.

Secretary Edward Helm of Cleveland offered a motion to this effect at the first session of the league at the Hotel Morrison, and it was carried without a dissenting vote. The delegates were unanimous in the belief that academies where gambling is permitted have discredited the game. Players now competing in academies will be given a limited time to leave.

Smaller Circuit Next Season.

It was decided to reduce the size of the circuit next year. Only fifteen players will compete, no room being allowed to have more than one representative. A prize list aggregating $7,000 is planned, and will be acted on at the second session scheduled at noon today.

Other changes made were the adoption of a regulation cushion and the increase of time for practice by the visiting player to one hour.

Hugh Heal Elected President.

Hugh Heal of Toledo was elected president, succeeding Harry Cooler, and William S. Flenner was chosen vice president. Harry Cooler is the new secretary-treasurer.

The membership committee, consisting of W. S. Flenner of Chicago, T. T. Hollinger of Detroit, Hugh Heal of Toledo, and Ed. Helm of Cleveland, will meet this morning to plan for the reduction of the size of the league.

Messrs. Helm, Flenner, Louis Bensinger and Irving Huston of Detroit were appointed on the rules committee.

ATHLETIC STARS IN BIG NINE MEET

Twenty-five institutions, representing every member of the western conference and colleges and universities as far east as Oberlin and as far west as the Pacific coast, will battle for the sixteenth annual track and field championships of the Intercollegiate Conference Athletic association at Northwestern field Saturday afternoon.

This compilation is from the official list of entries, issued yesterday by the alumni committee which is handling the contests. Fifteen events will make up the program, two more than at the eastern intercollegiate contests at Cambridge last Saturday. The additional events are the discus throw and the javelin.

Preliminary heats will be run Friday afternoon in the quarter and half mile runs, and finals in all events the following day, starting at 2 o'clock.

With the entrance of a wonderful team of field stars from the University of California and with dark horses in most all the events, the dopesters have been silent on the outcome. Illinois, because of its decisive win in the western indoor championships at Evanston last winter and its victories over Chicago and Wisconsin in dual meets, is selected by many as having an even chance to land the title.

That the track at Northwestern is faster than ever was attested to at the Maroon-Purple meet last Saturday. When Stout of Chicago broke the conference record by six seconds Director Lewis Omer of the Evanston school claimed that the track was faster than any in the conference. He also said that he wouldn't be surprised to see a bunch of records fall.

AT THE BILLIARD ROOMS.

"Cowboy" Weston defeated Charles McCourt of Pittsburgh, 200 to 185, in their single line game at Tom Foley's. Weston went out in sixty-seven innings and had high run of sixteen. Boroff and Pope will play tomorrow night in the three cushion tournament.

Results of games in the pocket billiard tournament in the South Side league were as follows: Bradshaw [Fraser's], 75; J. E. Jenkins [Jenkins], 36; Tornquist [Roseland], 75; Gooch [Lemmer's], 72; Daly [E. A. H.], 75; Hancock [Metcalf's], 68; Elvyn [De Luxe], 150; Newman [Bruck's], 100.

FLICKERINGS from FILM LAND

"The Eye of God" at the Studebaker.

"THE EYE OF GOD."
Produced by Bluebird.
Directed by the Smalleys.
Presented at the Studebaker.

Olaf.....Tyrone Power
Ana.....Ethel Weber
Renie.....Lois Weber
Paul.....Charles Gunn

Tyrone Power

BY KITTY KELLY.

A BLUEBIRD is the hyphen between Paramount existing from the Studebaker to Orchestra hall and World departing the Colonial for the Studebaker next week. "The Eye of God," the photoplay occupying the screen there this week, is a product of Universal's Smalleys, who directed it jointly with Mrs. Smalley, or Lois Weber, the author of the scenario, playing the leading feminine rôle.

It must be confessed that the picture commands attention. There is a murder, of which we know, but the handling of circumstances is sufficiently impelling to make us want to watch to find out the howfor of the crime.

And yet the story is as leaky in logic as a sieve. The hero, after committing a brutally deliberate murder for the sake of money, goes forth and lives on it in sweet pursuance of a blameless love, which is not in keeping with brutally criminal tendencies.

Among the queerest of the queer things is the entrance of "the woman" in the case. On a desert stretch of country, at a little shack by the railroad—no sign of a town anywhere—the woman was left by four horsemen to get on the train alone.

Apparently no one had consulted a time table, however, for a passerby informed her there would be no train till morning, so she sought the hero-villain's cabin, kimonoed herself gorgeously, served him—whiskered farmer heavy with the soil of the fields—with after-dinner coffee, and wept to sleep in the bedroom after consigning her maid to a couch in the outer room drawn across the door, leaving her to the mercy of the gentleman above stairs.

No one thought of joining force and barricading the door within, but then the maid was not built on such attractive curvalinear construction as the mistress, so she was perfectly safe. There was, though, a trap door, through which Olaf crept and—kissed the lady's hand.

Olaf's next trap door trip was not so innocent, and for that, along with his stolen fortune, he acquired a spotlight "ha'nt," bymbolizing in material form the "eye of God," which interrupted all of his best times.

Tyrone Power plays the heavy rôle well and Mrs. Smalley contributes a gracious presence to the celluloid gallery.

The captions that carry the story are little reminiscent notes written by the prisoner as he waits the night through in his cell for the morning death hour. He writes that he hears the footsteps of his prison keepers, and then by some occult means he continues the story through to the strapping in the death chair. He must have been a great little writer.

Art had been better served had the picture ceased with the last lines about the sounding footsteps, but realism, it seems, must be accorded the full measure of an electrocuted farewell.

"The Social Vortex."

Miss Billie Burke this week pursues her social and romantic ventures into chapter four of "Gloria's Romance" at the Studebaker, becoming involved in "The Social Vortex." In other words, very much dressed up, she goes to the opera, coquettes with the villain of the piece, and has her coming out party under the ably administrative eye of Aunt Hortensia. Miss Gloria is a mischievous young rogue, as well as a very pretty one, about as much of a safety device for the family in her romancing as a stick of dynamite in a furnace.

Universal Quits East.

Universal has decided to concentrate on its western plant at Universal City, closing down its New Jersey establishment, as an experiment in efficiency. As the companies now at work in the east finish their productions, the players will go west and be absorbed by the film city out there. P. A. Powers, treasurer, and R. H. Cochrane were determing factors in this change. The Fort Lee studios will be rented probably, though if it is found there is much necessity for eastern backgrounds, one company will be kept there.

The companies to go west are those of KKing Baggot, Violet Mersereau, Mary Fuller, Jane Gail, Edith Roberts, Ben Wilson, Hobart Henley, and Harry Denam.

Cinema Closeups.

James Kirkwood, long time with Famous Players, is to produce Mary Miles Minter's pictures for the American company. Lottie Pickford, of whose new small daughter we heard recently, after an eight months' absence, has returned to the American company.

"Variety" reviews the Essanay-Chaplin "Police," remarking: "The second Chaplin-Mutual two reeler, 'Police' is not so funny as the first one for the reason that the finish is too quiet. Mutual has undoubtedly given a good deal of attention to Chaplin's scenarios, they carrying more or less of a 'plot,' etc." Anybody's toes tingling?

MUSIC AND THE MUSICIANS

Evanston Music Festival Opens.

BY ERIC DE LAMARTER.

EVANSTON'S annual glee began last evening at the Northwestern university gymnasium with all the orderly noises of similar functions in merry spring times past. There was the usual pleasant buzz of some 3,400 listeners, stilled by the tappings of Conductor Lutkin's baton, followed by the mannerly playing of the Chicago Symphony orchestra and the unctuous choral work of a group of 600 singing zealots. Lastly, and most important from the spectacular aspects, the soloists appeared, not exactly as heralded, but with the ordained success of soloists ever since the days of David's chaunties before the brooding Saul.

Pasquale Amato did not sing the rôle of Mephistopheles, in Berlioz's "The Damnation of Faust," as advertised. Laryngitis eliminated him, according to the official telegram. In his place was Henri Scott, the bass well known here through operatic work, and a good substitute he was—singing better than ever, opulent as to pantomime, and bursting with the conviction that no one could write anything he could not sing. Otherwise the list was complete with Mabel Sharp Herdlen, Morgan Kingston, and Burton Thatcher to lift melodiously the solitary voice.

Doubtless Dean Lutkin chose Berlioz's "The Damnation of Faust" for its "fat" choral and orchestral effects. Oratorio devotees will recall its variety and its epic scheme; its dramatic exposition and its funny, interminable dialogue; its color, the daintiness or the splendid sonority or the labored burlesque of sections like the "ballet of sylphs," the march, and the fugue. It would seem that Berlioz wrote the score with reference to just this sort of function—for huge choruses and vast congregations rather than the professional choirs and small halls of Paris.

Dean Lutkin's forces set themselves for a joust with heroic stuff. The chorus strove mightily; from the women's voices came a luscious, broad, deep quality tone, and the men, outnumbered hopelessly, blinked at no unvocal test or high note. The performance moved evenly, and the range of shading Dean Lutkin accomplished was remarkable. The lack of proportion between the female and the male contingent robbed some climactic points of effect, and the whole ensemble was somewhat slow of response. Otherwise, it was a good choral performance.

Mr. Scott took the honors among the soloists, on the score of vital tone, of style, and of enunciation. While he could not forget the demeanor of the operatic stage, his restlessness was forgiven him for his singing. The "Elbe" aria was exquisitely interpreted, and the sardonic fun over the "canine's Nemesis" was touched out expertly. Mr. Scott was the successful steward of a sudden trust.

Mrs. Herdlen, in the Marguerite rôle, gave of the admirable tone and skill which have won her enviable place. A routined, highly endowed soprano, she made beautiful the prosy cantilene of Berlioz.

Mr. Kingston was a great joy at times, and a modified exaltation at others. His was a distrait enunciation, and the tone, though sensitive and eloquent, frequently suggested effort and discomfort. The declamatory passages, however, were in excellent style, and one pianissimo phrase was of a loveliness beyond description.

Mr. Thatcher sang with authority, and with exemplary vocal effect, the rôle of Brander. Instinct with a feeling for the dramatic, his interpretation was one unified and sharply etched in memory.

The performance of this rather spasmodic, theatric work was commendable, therefore. Dean Lutkin must be happy in that realization, for "The Damnation of Faust" is like a first-class melodrama, in that you know it isn't true, even while it proves to you that it is the very god of veracity.

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

By JANE EDDINGTON

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

The ill fed crave both the sweets and sours, we are told authoritatively, and we may also add that they crave the colds, yet all three sorts of eatables may contribute toward right feeding and normal appetite.

Strawberry Marshmallow.

THOSE who want to understand the problems connected with the preservation of strawberry juice should send for bulletin of the United States department of agriculture, No. 241, "Studies on Fruit Juices." After seeing what it says about the near impossibility of preserving strawberry juice, except by freezing, any one by a little reasoning can see why strawberry preserves are in general so little worth while. The berry is over 90 per cent water and its color is impermanent.

The best motto is, gather ye this member of the rose family while ye may, and use it at once. Fresh and sweet, it is a most perfect thing without any accompaniment, but for handsome mounted dishes of a different sort of decorative value than the plain berry, it can be used and give a different sort of gratification.

The Recipe.

Soak three tablespoons of vegetable gelatin in a pint of hot water for twenty minutes, then drain and cook in two-thirds of a cup of boiling water for eight or ten minutes or until clear. Add to two unbeaten egg whites in a large bowl one cup of sugar, the juice of one large lemon, and one-third of a cup of freshly cooked strawberry juice, or the same amount of strawberry sirup. Mix well, and then strain over this, while stirring all the time, the cooked gelatin. The same care must be used as in pouring a hot sirup over beaten egg whites or it will cook them. If this happens, the dessert will be speckled and of poorer quality. Beat all with a rotary egg beater for at least ten minutes, and then pour into mold and set on ice for three or four hours. Use same day as made. Surround with unhulled sweet strawberries when serving. Use individual or large molds.

BRIGHT SAYINGS of the CHILDREN

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The only condition is the story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. Write on one side of the paper only. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

I overheard the conversation of a few youngsters who were evidently planning for a circus, for one little fellow said: "You see, I will be the manager and sell tickets, and, Willie, you blacken your face and be the black man," and turning to his smaller brother, he said: "Dickie, you run home and wash your face, then you can be the white man." BING.

A little boy had a little dog that followed him about constantly. The little boy's aunt said to him one day, as he stood beside her, his dog beside him: "I fancy your dog thinks you are its mamma."

"Why," said the little boy, straightening up, "don't you think he can recognize pants and no tail?" C. S.

Harold lived near the depot and at train-time he was usually on hand to see who got off. One day a stranger said to Harold: "Say, sonny, is there a good hotel near here?"

Harold replied: "Do you want something to eat, or do you want to go to bed?"

As it was nearly noon, it is needless to say that the man wanted something to eat, and Harold directed him to the lunch-room at the depot. E. L.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

A Dinner Gown.

BY ELIZABETH LORD.

THE many beautiful gowns for evening and dinner wear which Paris is producing would seem to point to a speedy ending of the war, for while the demand for informal frocks is naturally larger as summer approaches, some of the gowns now shown are not designed for the quiet dinner at home with a few intimates.

Besides the metal laces frequently employed in these gowns, black lace is being much used, either as an allover lace over white or as a narrow edge for frills in informal white tulles and organdies—a mode that is wonderfully effective. These combinations frequently take a touch of color somewhere in the gown. Frankly Grecian modes in white or colored crêpe de chine are either sleeveless or draped to the wrist without losing the simplicity of line.

Ribbons are much used on the youthful modes, and every day brings out a mode inventing a new use of them. Sometimes it happens that broad ribbon not merely girds the waist but twice or thrice swathes the hooped skirt, substituting flounces over the whalebone stiffening, with big knots at the sides, to allow the light and shade to dapple on the beautiful satiny surface of the ribbon.

The model illustrated appears to be a frank copy of an old time print, and is one of the more formal models that might well support a ribbonlike train, which fashion skimps till it has but one dimension. The overdress is of old blue satin, lined with silver tissue, over a petticoat of silver lace having a lining of rose tulle. The upper part of the bodice is of flesh colored tulle, while the blue overdress, falling over the arms and bust in a décolleté line, reveals its silver lining. The tea roses dotting the front of the skirt like buttons are of rose, deepening to crimson, and matching the small circle of roses that gird the top of the old time coiffure.

For the Weary Wife and Mother after the Winter struggle with poor food and poor service there is no boon like Shredded Wheat Biscuit. It is ready-cooked and ready-to-serve. The food that supplies all the strength-giving nutriment needed for a half day's work. For breakfast with milk or cream; for luncheon with berries or other fresh fruits.

Beauty Hints by Antoinette Donnelly

If you missed the Antoinette Donnelly series telling how she reduced Mrs. Lane thirty-six pounds in six weeks send her stamped, addressed envelope and she will mail you complete exercise and diet instructions. Any other questions on obesity will be gladly answered by Miss Donnelly.

MARY O.: HERE IS A LIST OF food fat folks can eat when reducing. This is the same list I gave Mrs. Eva Lane when reducing her thirty-six pounds in six weeks: Roast beef, steak, mutton, lamb; in fact, all kinds of meat except pig in any form; game of every description and fish, lobsters, oysters, clams; nearly every kind of fruit; salad of most vegetables without cream, butter, and oil dressings; mushrooms, tomatoes, cucumbers, celery, pickles, olives, string beans, spinach, cabbage, turnips, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, beets, carrots, squash, endives, artichokes, radishes, lettuce, parsnips, onions and asparagus. No danger of starving to death with all that to choose from, is there?

M.: THIS IS MY FORMULA FOR cold cream. Two ounces of oil of sweet almonds, one-half ounce of spermaceti, one-half ounce of white wax, one-half ounce of rose water, twenty grains of powdered borax, and four drops of oil of rose. Melt the spermaceti and white wax together at a moderate heat, add the oil of sweet almonds, stirring in thoroughly. Dissolve borax in rose water and add to the mixture slowly. Beat briskly and thoroughly until cold. Add four drops of oil of rose. The odor of the rose water evaporates in the beating, therefore the need of the oil of rose. Be sure that you get oil of sweet almonds and not oil of peach stone or any other substitute. This cream is a light cream color.

E. L.: MUSTARD WATER WILL remove the odor of onions from the hands. Hold your hands in the water for two or three minutes. A pinch of mustard is all you need add to the water. The odor from fish can be removed in the same way. After your hands have been in water for a long time and present a withered or shrunken appearance, they can be restored by dipping them in vinegar. The lack of exercise is one of the chief causes of obesity. There is but little use dieting if you do not exercise along with it. In my series of articles of how I reduced Mrs. Eva Lane thirty-six pounds in six weeks, exercises are given for each week and the number of times they should be done, in addition to a diet and instructions for bathing, etc. I shall be glad to mail these articles to you if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

GRACIE: A TOOTHPICK OR dental floss should be used to remove food from between the teeth. You should brush your teeth night and morning and after each meal. If food is allowed to remain on or between the teeth, fermentation sets in and the acid thus created cracks the enamel, causing decay. The use of hot water or cold drinks or food, especially if the one be immediately followed by the other, and the excessive use of acid drinks or acid fruits, particularly if the mouth is not washed immediately after their use, is likely to cause decay. When a tooth has begun to decay it should be filled at once. This not only prevents the decay from spreading in the tooth, but it keeps it from extending to the next tooth. Have your teeth examined twice a year by a good dentist, so that small cavities can be discovered at an early stage and your teeth kept in good condition.

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND

By Marion Harland

Once Popular Music to Give.

"I HAVE about twenty sheets of popular vocal music of a decade ago, to which any one is welcome by paying the postage. Now for a few questions. Can any one tell me of what phonograph records are composed—I mean of what material? Was Pennsylvania a slave state? Is it proper to speak of this as a southern state? Has any one a map, large or small, of North America, showing Mexico and the Panama canal, that he or she can give me? I would gladly pay postage. I should also be grateful for the gift of a geography. MRS. B. S. S."

Your first query is respectfully referred to our chemists and those interested in the manufacture of the records. In 1790 there were slaves in every state in the union, with the exception of Massachusetts and Maine, which was a part of Massachusetts. By the process of gradual emancipation slavery was abolished in the northern and eastern states but in 1840 there were still sixty-four old slaves in Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania has never been reckoned a southern state. It ranks among the eastern states. Your requests are commended to the notice of students of geography.

Copy of Poem Wanted.

"I wish to get the poem 'The Settler's Missing Child.' You will find a stamped and self-directed envelope to use when the verses come in. MRS. L. R."

Referred. You shall have the verses as soon as we receive them. Another correspondent has asked for the same.

Words of Wartime Ballad.

"Will you please inquire in the H. H. C. if any one can send me the words of a song published and sung by children during our civil war? I think the verses were called 'The Birds' Convention.'

"MRS. F. R. K."

Your request and address are referred to readers conversant with war and political ballads.

Silk Pieces and Magazines.

"I am a reader of the Corner and enjoy it thoroughly. I am a nervous woman and should like to receive letters from elderly people who have been in the same position. Perhaps it is a sort of fear. I believe I am interested in religion, which hope has benefited me. I worry about myself, which keeps me thin. I will gladly give silk pieces and magazines to any of the women who ask for them, as patch work brings happiness to some, just as I should enjoy them also.

"MRS. P. M."

The unconscious intimation given in your letter of your knowledge of one cure for morbid introspection and misgivings leads me to hopeful belief in your ultimate cure. There is no surer path to happiness than active service for the good of one's fellow creatures. The homely advice of a mother to her melancholy son—"Do something for somebody else! And be quick about it!"—embodies a wealth of wisdom. I trust you will find the wholesome friendship you crave. We thank you for the silk pieces and magazines.

Short of Quilt Pieces.

"I am the president of the Rosebud club. We have run short of quilt pieces. We need a lot. We are now making two quilts. I should like one to be a biscuit quilt. Some day I hope to return the kindness. W. B. T."

We predict a plentiful supply of the coveted pieces in reply to the call of our Rosebud club. It belongs to us by right of adoption and must not appeal to the foster mother in vain.

Tropical Effects.

NOWADAYS there seems to be a craze for "tropical effects," and the canna and caladium have been used so extensively in the effort to produce them that we are getting tired of these two plants.

With the amaranthus it is possible to produce really fine effects at far less expense than is involved when either of the two plants named above are used. This plant is an annual. A package of seed will cost 5 or 10 cents. I would advise getting packages in which each color is by itself, as much finer effects can be secured in this way than when mixed seed it used.

A circular bed, with the dark foliaged kinds in the center, surrounded with the bronze and yellow leaved sorts, will give an exceedingly rich color effect. Those who have tired of the canna and caladium will be delighted with these substitutes for them in more respects than one. They are of the easiest possible culture. In fall they become doubly attractive because of their long, pendant flowering spikes or tassels of a dull, rich Indian red.

If a circular bed containing the two colors named above is edged with "yellow bird" coleus the effect will be greatly heightened, as this variety of coleus is so bright that it furnishes a delightful contrast with the duller tints of the amaranthus.

Its leaves are immense, often measuring a yard across. In color they are a dark, coppery bronze, overlaid with a metallic luster. Each leaf is borne on a stalk two or three feet in length.

Resinol Soap

Clears bad complexions

Protects delicate skin

Keeps hair healthy

does far more than remove the dirt

Any soap will clean your skin—a bar of laundry soap will do if you do not care what becomes of your complexion. But you know that laundry soap usually contains harsh, drying alkali that would ruin your skin and hair, so you never think of using it for your toilet.

Poorly made toilet soaps contain this same injurious chemical. Resinol Soap has absolutely no free alkali, while to it is added the Resinol medication, which physicians prescribe regularly for skin affections. This gives it soothing, healing properties which improve the complexion, protect tender skins from irritations, and keep the hair rich, lustrous and free from dandruff.

Real Love Stories

Escaping Ether, Found Love.

ONE day while traversing the long hospital corridor, after a visit with my convalescing father, a pungent whiff of ether arrested me. The squeak of a wheel heralded the approach of the cart, bearing its mummylike burden. The odor of ether became heavier, and only those who have taken it

Panic stricken, I wheeled around and unceremoniously opening the nearest door walked in. With shaking knees I crossed the room to the window, on whose ledge rested a bowl of violets. Limply squatting on the floor, I buried my nose in those violets until my sickly fear had passed and my heart became braver. Opening my eyes, I became aware of something in a chair, embalmed in many blankets. It said, "How do you do?" Weakly I replied. A bold glance brought me the knowledge that the object was a rather young man.

I tried to explain my sudden entrance, and soon we were discussing our common experience, the descent into the black pit of forgetfulness, by the way of ether.

In the very teeth of Mrs. Grundy I visited him every day for six months, even after my father had left. We had charming times, reading, chatting, and planning together. And our friendship begun in such an unconventional way bids fair to end in a very conventional manner. We plan to be wed in a regular church, by a real minister, and go to Canada for our honeymoon. M DE K.

She's Looking for Her Twin.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 15, and I would like to correspond with a friend. My birthday is April 12, and I was born in 1901. If there is anyone who is a twin to me, I certainly would like to have him write to me. I will answer every letter.

"LONELY."

Here's another lonesome who thinks that real joy must come from a distance. Well, maybe it isn't exciting where you live, little girl, but think of the responsibility you place with me in recommending a correspondent. Isn't there some other way in which I can help you? I'll be glad to send a horoscope for your birthday, if you'll mail me a stamped, addressed envelope and repeat the date. We may be able to work out a satisfactory solution to this lonesome attack if you'll tell me more about yourself, so I shall be looking for another letter soon.

He Would Propose Formally.

"Dear Miss Blake: Could you send me a properly worded letter asking a girl's parents for her hand in marriage? Some time ago I saw a printed letter of this kind, and this is what I wanted. Thanking you for your favor, E."

Put yourself in father's position. How would you like to receive a cut and dried, stiff, formal letter from your prospective son-in-law? Forget that you ever saw anything like this in print. Write the girl's parents an informal, chatty note, telling them how much you think of daughter and how anxious you are to have their approval of the match. That will make them feel ten times better about the whole affair.

He's Willing to Wait.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 19 and go with a boy of 21. He says he loves me and wants to marry me. I told him I wouldn't marry until I was 21, and he said he would be willing to wait. Now he goes with other girls, and what I want to know is, do you think he is in earnest? I don't want to be jealous. Do you think I am? B."

Trust is necessary to happiness, and unless you do believe what he tells you the key to your faith will be lost. You can scarcely expect him to give up all his other girl friends when the understanding between you is so indefinite, no more than he ought to expect you to give up all your men friends. How can I tell whether or not he is in earnest? You're the only one to decide that question. I say, don't even think that he isn't, unless you have positive proof to the contrary.

Mrs. Ralph C. Bennett

Mrs. Ralph Culver Bennett, a bride of last week, was formerly Miss Rebecca Frances Pallette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Pallette of 4818 Sheridan road. Mr. Bennett is an assistant state's attorney. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett are living at the Gladstone hotel.

Convention Guests to Pay High Rentals.

BY CINDERELLA.

Some of the New York millionaires who are taking north side apartments for convention week, are establishing very exalted precedents. August Belmont, for instance, who has the rather small but very attractive apartment of Mrs. Edward K. Rogers at 6 Scott street, is paying $1,000 for it.

This naturally includes the service. Ladies who are disestablishing themselves from their own houses for the week, leave their servants, their household supplies and a lovely array of flowers to greet their tenants.

Several very clever women have succeeded in leasing very small and not very light apartments to eastern people of great wealth, who may not be so pleased when they arrive and take possession. And as for the women who wanted to and have not been able to rent their domiciles, there are a legion of them and they are tearing their hair in despair.

Mrs. August Belmont has many Chicago friends, by the way, among them being Mrs. Alfred Martin who also lives in Scott street. Mrs. Chatfield-Taylor is another, also Mrs. Albert Goodrich and Mrs. Joseph Coleman, all of whom entertained Mrs. Belmont often when she was Eleanor Robson and an actress of much delightfulness.

Harbor Point, always crowded, and usually very festive is having changes this year. Col. and Mrs. Alexander F. Stevenson, who had the handsomest house on the Point, have sold it to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilkins of 15 West Burton place. The Stevensons have retained two cottages but will go east this year.

Mrs. Granville Mott will not open the Mott place this season. On the end of Harbor Point, it has a fascinating situation with a wide water view on three sides.

The Barker place, belonging to young Mrs. Spaulding, will also be closed this season, and that of Mrs. Clinton Locke at Wequetonsing, until later in the summer. Mrs. Locke, always a pioneer at "Wequee," and opening the season usually, will wait this year for her daughter, Mrs. Frederick Hatton, who is producing plays and plays.

Lake Forest shows signs already of a giddy season and many new cottages. Among many of these are, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. McIntosh, who have taken for three months the newly remodeled house that Arthur Heun has been doing for William A. Yager. The house stands in its own woods and gardens, not far from Ferry Field, and once belonged to George Cobb.

Its own grandmother would not know it now, it is so changed for the better. What once was Queen Anne is now utterly obliterated, and a smart Frenchy place with flower boxes, terraces and gay awnings remains.

15 Governors to Be at Convention Ball.

Mrs. Arthur Ryerson of 1301 Astor street returned yesterday morning from New York just in time to be present at the meeting of the reception committee of the convention ball and garden party, which will be held next Tuesday evening. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Robert G. McGann, 120 East Pearson street, and was presided over by Mrs. Arthur Meeker.

It was announced that fifteen governors and their wives will be present at the convention and that they will come on in time to attend the ball. Mrs. Cyrus Hall McCormick of 50 East Huron street, who is giving a suffrage dinner preceding the ball, has subscribed for seventy guests from out of town.

Two bridal groups were greeted by the Lohengrin wedding march when they entered the dining room at the South Shore Country club Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Talbot of 5956 Kenmore avenue had a dinner for Miss Martha Charles, who will marry their son, Benson A. Talbot, Saturday evening. The other dinner was given by G. V. Cleary for Miss Evelyn Morency of Oak Park and his brother, James M. Cleary, who will be married next month.

MRS. BASS ENDS FRIENDS' BOOM FOR CLUB POST

BY ANNIE HINRICHSEN.

New York, May 29.—[Special.]—Mrs. George Bass today announced she is not a candidate for president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and will not permit her name to be presented to the convention. She will support Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles of California.

Tonight Mrs. Cowles appears to be the winning candidate. The supporters of Mrs. Samuel B. Sneath of Ohio are making no claims to victory. Mrs. Cowles' managers say the battle is over.

Tomorrow the nominating committee will present the list of candidates to the convention. Nominations also will be made from the floor. The only dark horse candidate under discussion is Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman of Chicago.

Mrs. Cowles and Mrs. Sneath addressed the convention today. Mrs. Cowles was received with cheers from all parts of the convention hall. When Mrs. Sneath appeared on the platform the only applause came from the Ohio delegation.

Raises Issue of Preparedness.

Mrs. Cowles, in a speech that was repeatedly interrupted by applause, placed the peace and preparedness issue squarely before the convention and declared herself for a policy of preparedness.

"We must have an army and navy that can protect our national honor," Mrs. Cowles said. "We must educate for peace, but we must prepare for the defense of our country."

Illinois will present the name of Mrs. Francis D. Everett of Highland Park for corresponding secretary of the general federation. Miss Georgia Bacon of Massachusetts has little opposition for first vice president.

Men's clubs will not be admitted to the general federation this year. A motion by Miss Lutie Stearns of Milwaukee that the name of the organization be changed to General Federation of Clubs, in order that men's organizations might be affiliated with the women's clubs, was received with a storm of disapproval and promptly laid on the table.

Administration Wins Victory.

The administration forces won a victory this morning when the motion was carried that all changes made in the bylaws should not become effective until the close of the convention. This motion, however, does not apply to the change voted Saturday, when the Illinois delegates secured amendment of the bylaws to give each state direct representation on the board.

Mrs. Emma Kipp Edwards, chairman of the supply committee, announced tonight that to date the delegates had requisitioned 100,000 hairpins, 1,000 drinking cups, 600 hatpins, and 300 packages of face powder, all of which were especially provided for the use of the delegates.

SLEUTHS CATCH 3 TAXI ROBBERS

Three striking express drivers, the police report, have confessed to taking part in two robberies of Yellow Cab drivers. A reward of $750, $250 for each man arrested, will be distributed among the chauffeurs and Detective Sergts. Jerry Laughlin, Wild, Stevens, Mangan, and Kennedy.

A week ago yesterday Herman Marowitz of 1428 Union street, a chauffeur, drove a party of four men from Halsted and Monroe streets to Grove avenue in Oak Park. There, as one of the four occupants of the cab went through the motions of getting out his pocketbook, another in the party hit Marowitz over the head and dazed him. Marowitz was able to call for help.

The following night another chauffeur, Walter Shotsmiller, drove a party of four to Sixty-third street and Western avenue, where he was robbed of some money and a diamond ring. The cab was stolen and abandoned at Ninety-sixth street and Western avenue.

Shotsmiller spent the greater part of the next day in the neighborhood of Halsted and Madison streets, where both machines had been hailed, and finally he located one of the men who had been in the cab with him. This man, Mark Hurley of 628 South Cicero avenue, confessed. He did not, however, name any of his partners.

"It was an unusually clever piece of detective work by which the other men were caught," said John Hertz of the cab company at night. "The detectives made up as strikers and finally got on the trail and rounded up two other men."

The others arrested are Louis Henderson of 5320 North Ashland avenue, who admitted, the police say, that he had taken part in both jobs, and Jack Dalton, 1634 Blue Island avenue, who said he had been of the party which robbed Shotsmiller.

This Store Will Remain Closed To-day

The Twice-Yearly Sale of Dress Goods Remnants

Will Begin To-morrow With Twice the Quantities of Former Years

IN the face of conditions which have given the textile trade much concern, because of the scarcity of wool, the far greater-than-usual business we have done in woolen dress goods this season makes it expedient that we sell our entire accumulation of the season's short lengths of wool and silk-and-wool black and colored dress fabrics, numbering almost double the quantities of former years, at three sweeping clearance prices, namely:

50c, 75c and 95c Yard

The color assortment is exceedingly large and varied, including an abundance of staple colors as well as the season's most desired patterns, and the pricing has not taken into account the desirability of these fabrics or their former prices in any instance.

Broadcloths, Fancy Checked Suitings, Wool-and-Silk Crepes, Wool Poplins, Eoliennes, Wool Plaids, Wool Voiles, Storm Serges, Brilliantines, Vigoreaux, Panama, Shepherd Checks, Wool Batistes, San Toys, Wool Satin, Homespuns, French Serges, Fancy Velours, Wool Crepes, Storm Serges, Epingaline, Wool Taffetas, Venetian Cloth, Cheviots, Cashmeres, Tussah Royals, Tweeds, Novelty Suiting

Indeed, so marked are these price reductions that not only those whose immediate plans suggest purchasing, but those whose consideration of future needs might include the acquirement of some of these fabrics, should not delay selection from these great assortments, beginning to-morrow morning, at 50c, 75c and 95c yard.

In order that all purchasers may have an equal opportunity to make selections, none of these remnants will be accepted after purchase for credit, refund or exchange.

Man Tailored Skirts Will Be Made to Your Measure at $5 for Making

These from any remnants or other dress goods purchased in this department, and the price includes findings and fittings.

Second Floor, North Room.

AUTO THIEVES TAKE ORDER, THEN STEAL CAR WANTED.

Police Say Birmingham, Ala., Men Made Sale at Home, Got Autos Here, and Drove Them Back.

An alleged automobile theft ring is said by Capt. Morgan Collins to have been broken up in the arrest of four brothers and another man yesterday.

Those held are R. D. Whitehead of 712 East Fiftieth place, his three brothers, William E. Whitehead, Chester Whitehead, and L. A. Whitehead, and W. E. Relihan of the St. Regis hotel.

The five prisoners, it is said, have confessed the sale of eight stolen automobiles.

The Whitehead brothers, who come from Birmingham, Ala., would get a buyer there, come to Chicago and steal the car wanted, and drive it to the southern city, Capt. Collin said.

CHARITY WORKER REVIVES WIDOW'S DEFUNCT STORE

NOT ONE CENT FOR AID.

The story of the rehabilitation of a defunct grocery store and the restoration of utter dependency and misery to good health, happiness and almost affluence, through the services of a charity visitor without the disbursement of a single cent for relief, is graphically told in the annual report of the United Charities.

The name of the family is given only as "the G's." The story follows:

The mother, a widow, had been in poor health, but after hospital treatment was greatly improved. She had undertaken the management of a little grocery, but gradually trade had fallen off, and debts had accumulated.

Family Lives in Rear.

The United Charities visitor found the family living in the rear of the dreary store. The stock was in disorder. All attempts at bookkeeping had been abandoned.

The eldest boy, Tom, 15, had received a scholarship and was attending a business college. One girl, Bess, 13, and twins were in school. A boy of 4 completed the family.

An old friend of the father was consulted and it was decided to put the store on a paying basis, with the expectation that Tom would be of great help. The United Charities agrees to throw as much trade as possible to the store.

Tom was to keep a simple set of books showing daily conditions. A list of the indebtedness and an inventory of stock was made and a copy given to the visitor after an agent of a wholesale house had made the inventory. Tom remained in school, helping early in the morning, after school, and on Saturdays, as did Bess.

Bess Dresses Up Store.

During the next call the visitor interested Bess in the mussy windows and cases. Bess decided to take care of one side of the store while Tom should have the opposite. Each vied with the other to make his side attractive. On Saturday evening when the visitor next called the store was shining.

Several orders were given by the United Charities and promptly filled and another charity society gave orders. Business began to grow. Each month has shown an increasing volume of trade until now it is a busy, prosperous shop.

As far as the United Charities was concerned, the expenditure for relief was nothing, but the expenditure of time for personal service many hours.

This story is used to illustrate the point made in the report by Eugene T. Lies, general superintendent, that the United Charities is not a mere relief society, the main object being to restore dependent families to self-support, without giving relief if possible.

He Buys Stogies for Police Who Save His $10,000

'WIRE TAPPERS' GONE

George W. Cowle went back home to Decatur, Ill., yesterday with his $10,000 and a half-hearted belief that "mebbe them city coppers done him a good turn, after all." Up to the moment of his departure he was convoyed by the detectives who headed off a wire tapping plot on Saturday. On the train he was chaperoned by a brother-in-law, who came up from Decatur after him.

After a fruitless search for the wire-tapping joint Cowle had described, Capt. Ryan of the South Clark street station sent the aged farmer over to the First National bank to have his money converted back into a draft for safe keeping. On the way Cowle stopped Detective Walsh, who was with him, on the front of a drug store.

Three Stogies—Five Cents.

"Officer," he said, "ever smoke? Come in and have a good seegar."

Of the clerk he demanded three stogies—price, 5 cents. Two went to Walsh for himself and his partner. Cowle pocketed the third.

"You fellers been pretty nice to me," he observed.

A Silver Dollar.

Detective Hobbs, Walsh's partner, took him to the train. In the train shed the downstate man reluctantly pulled out something he had been fingering in his pocket—a silver dollar.

"Divide that between you," he said expansively. "Kinda think I owe you somethin'."

"I told him—O, well, what's the use tellin' you what I told him!" he exploded. "An' we saved him 10,000 iron men!"

LIFE'S LITTLE PHONIES

MYSTERY ORDER TO HARTMAN NEW ORPET PUZZLE

DEFENSE MAKES PROTEST.

BY WALTER NOBLE BURNS.

Identification of Will Orpet in his jail cell by Joseph Hartman and a cabalistic telegram to Hartman from Lake Forest signed "A," warning him to "get the letters" and "watch G," added new mysteries to the famous Waukegan murder trial yesterday.

Joseph Hartman is a human hieroglyph. Up to date he is as unsolved as the Helm's woods tragedy. No one connected with the prosecution or defense had heard of him a few days ago. From outer darkness he stepped unheralded into the case to set it topsyturvy with a dozen new enigmas and sphinx riddles.

He Tells Two Stories.

The mystery man first told James H. Wilkerson, senior counsel for Orpet, that his cousin, Clara Kramer, had heard Marion Lambert threaten to kill herself and even had knocked poison out of the girl's hand.

A few days later he told State's Attorney Dady a story meant to aid the prosecution—a story in which from beginning to end no mention was made of Clara Kramer.

For all the detectives, investigators, lawyers, and reporters who with bloodhound noses have followed her trail, Clara Kramer has not been found. There are those who have begun to wonder whether she is not a myth.

Hartman Vanishes.

With the dream woman apparently faded into thin air, Hartman has disappeared. Lawyers for the defense hint that State's Attorney Dady has him sequestered in some secret nook about Waukegan to await his appearance as a surprise witness on the stand.

Hartman was identified as the stranger who was ushered into the Waukegan jail last Saturday to see Orpet. Sheriff Griffin took the man to the floor on which Orpet was confined. Orpet was called to the bars. Hartman said, "Good morning," with a breezy air. Orpet looked at him blankly. The boy told his lawyers later he never had seen the man before.

He Identifies Orpet.

He identified him. But where had he seen him before? That is not the least perplexing of the Hartman enigmas.

The identification of Orpet by Hartman suggested that Hartman might have claimed to be an eyewitness of the Helm's wood tragedy in which Marion Lambert died of cyanide of potassium in the snow at Orpet's feet.

"Did Hartman say to you that he had witnessed the tragedy?" Mr. Dady was asked.

"Where did he say he ever had seen Orpet before?"

"I am not prepared to tell."

No Doubt of Recognition.

"There is no doubt he recognized Orpet?"

"Apparently none whatever."

"Did he see Orpet in Helm's woods?"

"I must decline to answer."

The cryptic telegram might have remained one of the state's secrets if Ralph Potter, associated with Mr. Wilkerson in the defense, had not spied a certain order on the records of the court. On Saturday Mr. Dady had obtained from Judge Donnelly an order permitting him to examine all the telegrams sent in the last few months from the Western Union office in Lake Forest. When Mr. Potter saw this order chronicled among the entries of the court he protested to the judge.

Not a Grand Jury Quiz.

"This is not a grand jury investigation," he thundered, "and I protest against any order being entered without the knowledge of the defense."

Judge Donnelly said some mistake had been made and he would see to it that the defense was granted the same privilege as the state.

"I wanted only one telegram," interposed Mr. Dady. "I found it in the Western Union files, and I will give the lawyers for the defense a copy of it."

It was sent by some one who signed merely "A." Whether "A" is a man or woman is not yet clear.

The telegram referred to a "case," presumably some sort of case which was in the hands of lawyers. It did not state specifically that this was the Lambert murder case.

Who Are "A" and "G."

Both Mr. Dady and Mr. Wilkerson denied that they knew who "A" was. They disclaimed knowledge of the identity of "G." Neither did they know, they declared, what letters were referred to.

That the telegram is important in its bearing on the case may be inferred from Mr. Dady's eagerness to obtain it. It might seem reasonable to infer also that he has the key to its hidden meaning. It is possible Mr. Dady, who during the trial has become noted for his Indian taciturnity, is not telling all he knows. It is not believed the lawyers for the defense share his information.

"The telegram is code to me," said Mr. Wilkerson.

But who knows? Mr. Wilkerson may be stalling, too.

Hartman with Dady.

It became known during the day that Hartman had been closeted for several hours with Mr. Dady in the latter's offic Friday and Saturday.

"What did he tell you?" Mr. Dady was asked.

"He told me a wonderful story," said the prosecutor. "It would be worth $1,000 to any magazine. I am investigating it. Hartman may be a pipe-dreamer. But his story holds together remarkably well."

Mr. Wilkerson was asked for light on the man of mystery.

"How do you figure Hartman?"

"I can't."

"Do you believe he is a faker?"

"I don't know."

"Have you dropped him as a witness?"

"Not yet. But he will have to make good. He must produce Clara Kramer. He telephoned my office this morning he would come to see me this afternoon. He failed to show up."

"Did his story to Mr. Dady resemble the story he previously had told you in any details?"

Story Absolutely Different.

"In none at all. It was absolutely different."

"Would it be of material benefit to the state, do you think?"

"It might be of indirect benefit, I should say."

"Did Hartman want money when he came to you with the tale that Clara Kramer had heard Marion Lambert threaten suicide?"

"He did not mention money."

"Did Mr. Hawkins and Hartman on their trip to Toledo get any trace of Clara Kramer?"

"No. But Hartman telegraphed to his wife in Chicago asking if she had received any letters from Clara Kramer. His wife wired back Miss Kramer had written that she was on her way to Chicago. Hartman said he had written to Miss Kramer asking her to come on to Chicago and tell the truth about the Marion Lambert tragedy as he himself proposed to do."

Told of Three Trips.

Hartman told Mr. Dady he had gone on three trips at the expense of the lawyers for the defense. These trips, he said, were to Florida, East St. Louis and Toledo.

"Of course, that is not true," said Mr. Wilkerson. "I never saw or heard of Hartman until he stepped into my office last Monday. Tuesday Hawkins took him to Toledo. He told us he had run away to East St. Louis for fear he might get into trouble for having, as he said, given Marion Lambert ergot at the request of Clara Kramer. The trip to Florida is new to me."

Frank Lambert, father of the dead girl, said last night he never had heard either of Clara Kramer or Hartman. Several of Marion Lambert's former chums were asked about Clara Kramer, and all professed never to have heard of her. Mrs. Kuppenheimer denied any such girl ever had worked for her.

Fill Jury Tomorrow.

With eight jurors sworn in, two veniremen were accepted tentatively by state and defense. These were:

Will Jones, assistant cashier in First National bank in Waukegan.

David Carlson of Highland Park, a conductor on the Chicago and Milwaukee electric line.

Max Klarkowski of Waukegan was passed by the state just before court adjourned over Memorial day until Wednesday. It is believed confidently by both sides that the jury box will be filled on Wednesday.

Strike Injunction by Judge Baldwin Appears to Curb Liberties.

Judge Jesse A. Baldwin, in a "matter of great emergency," yesterday issued a temporary injunction against some two hundred men involved in a strike. Slipped into the middle of the list of 200 were the names of two Polish editors. The injunction, as it stands, would deprive them of the right of free speech in connection with the small newspaper they are conducting. A reporter for THE TRIBUNE called this fact to the attention of Judge Baldwin yesterday afternoon.

"Attorneys who presented the injunction to me for signature failed to make reference to the editors, and THE TRIBUNE'S informal action in bringing the matter before me is the first I heard of it," said Judge Baldwin.

"It was a temporary injunction, asked for in a special emergency. If either side involved in the strike formally calls my attention to it, portions of the document affecting the editors will be modified at once.

"I had no intention of enjoining any newspaper from publishing any article written in an orderly manner. There were 200 or more names in the bill. The injunction was issued by me in haste after representations had been made that very great haste was necessary.

"However, I told the attorney at the time that I reserved the right to modify any part of the injunction within twenty-four hours' notice."

Drawn by L. F. Jacobson.

The injunction in question was drawn up by Lewis H. Jacobson, attorney for seventeen tanning companies concerned in the strike of tannery workers. Primarily, the injunction restrains members of the tannery workers' union from "in any way interfering with the business of the complainants," even to the point of picketing, inducing nonunion employes to refuse to work, or "watching or spying upon the complainants' places of business."

A long list of the names of strikers appears in the document. Among them, located unobtrusively near the end of the list, are the names of M. Sokolowski and S. Zmilewski, respectively editor and manager of a Polish newspaper published on the northwest side. Neither is a striker. After the strike was started the paper published a number of articles favorable to the strikers' side of the controversy.

Terms of Injunction.

According to the terms of the injunction the two newspaper men, "both individually and as editor and manager of the Polish People's Publishing company," are "strictly commanded . . . to absolute desist and refrain . . . from doing anything which subjects any of the complainants' employes to hatred, criticism, censure, scorn, disgrace, or annoyance because of their employment by the complainants."

"It means that the editor cannot say anything whatever in his paper which might be construed as criticism of the nonunion tannery workers or as causing them annoyance," Emmett Flood, organizer for the American Federation of Labor, said. "The constitutional right of free speech and freedom of the press is entirely set aside by the injunction."

Attorney Tucker Quizzed.

Attorney H. S. Tucker, who said he was an associate of Mr. Jacobson, was asked why the names of the editors had been inserted in the injunction.

"Because of the effect of the articles that appeared in the newspaper they conduct," he replied. "They used forcible language, and the articles tended to keep the strikers from returning to work."

"Isn't such action illegal, in that it abridges the right of freedom of the press?" he was asked.

"Well, you'd better come over later and see Mr. Jacobson."

Foote's office yesterday, charged with attempting to intimidate a government witness in the case of Harry Fuscone, held under the Harrison anti-narcotic law. EASTLAND BOOED ON ITS LAST TRIP

Judge Baldwin Says He Is Willing to Modify Injunction.

The old lake excursion boat which heeled over at its dock in the river and carried 812 persons to their doom on July 24 last was towed to South Chicago to be converted into a training ship for the Illinois naval reserves. When it returns the name Eastland will have been wiped from its prow, and a new one substituted. What this will be has not yet been determined.

Bridge Crowds Jeer.

It was a fitting day for the final trip and it was a fitting "bon voyage" which the crowds that lined the river shores gave her. It was just as hundreds of homegoers were crossing the bridges to the north side that the white hulk loomed through the murk of the north branch of the river in tow of the tugs Iowa and Gary. As the boats drew closer the crowds held on the abutments of the Fifth avenue bridge by the opened draw made out the black letters against the white prow: "Eastland."

"Blow 'er up! Scuttle 'er! Put her at the bottom where she put her passengers!" shouted others.

Crew Like Ghosts.

The crews on the tugs made no reply and the few deck hands aboard the steamer seemed uncertain as to what to do. They appeared through the drizzle to be a sort of ghost crew, ashamed to be caught aboard scuh a craft. One started to wave his cap, but a companion caught his arm, and the crowd, seeing the movement, sent up another roar of derision.

The noise brought the employes of Reid, Murdoch & Co.—the firm whose storerooms were transformed into a temporary hospital and morgue for the hundreds of victims—to the windows, and they, too, joined in the jeering. Crowds of several hundred persons each greeted the boat as it passed through the draws at Clark, Dearborn, State, and Rush streets, and many stood in the rain and watched until it disappeared in the mist.

IGNORANT CLERKS ARE PERIL

Licensed Pharmacists, at Convention Here, Seek to Curb Sales by Unregistered Men.

"From 38 to 45 per cent of all drugs are sold in drug stores by men who have not been educated as pharmacists. Many persons are killed annually by ignorance and carelessness in compounding. The drug trade today is in a terrible condition."

These statements were made by P. A. Mandabach, secretary of the National Association of Drug Clerks, 400 members of which meet at the Hotel Sherman on Thursday to start a campaign for a national standard in the retail drug trade and for the education of the public.

"The supervision of drug stores has broken down under the state boards of pharmacy," said Mr. Mandabach. "There are not enough inspectors. Ignorance and corruption are everywhere."

PESTERED MAN STABS BOY.

Angered because a crowd of young boys had persisted in following and annoying him, Peter Koorstia of 35 South Aberdeen street last night stabbed William Emerson, 15 years old, 1033 West Monroe street, in the chest with a pocketknife.

CUPID MEYERS GETS WALLOPING FROM A HUSBAND

Brothers, Angered by Attentions to Mrs. Hudson, Beat Him Up.

"ROBBERS!" IS HIS YELL.

By drear daylight he is a plump little business man, peering owlishly through horn rim glasses at the multiplication of his dollars, and his name is Gustave Myers, head of the insurance actuary firm of Gustave Myers & Co. Under the soft lights and music of supper he is Gussie, the good fellow, and from midnight on he is a gay and loving faun, the hero of many a roseate romance, and they call him "Cupid" Myers, with the quiver of golden arrows.

Mr. Myers yesterday was seated at his desk in his offices on the nineteenth floor of the Continental and Commercial National Bank building when two well dressed "thugs" entered. As Mr. Myers arose he sat down. The impact of the "thug's" fist raised a swelling on Mr. Myers' jaw which kept him off the frivolous alabaster pike last night.

Darts to Another Office.

Mr. Myers darted out of his office doing his best to make a brief pair of legs and a short breath carry his body and shouts of "murder" as far as possible in the shortest time. A diligent sprint and a headlong dive of sheer desperation got him into the offices of Harbison, Walker & Co., across the hall, a few inches ahead of a slam aimed at the back of his neck.

"Keep them out!" he begged the half dozen employes in the office where he sought sanctuary. "For God's sake, don't let them get me!"

"He got what he deserved," yelled one of the men from the hall. "If he don't look out he'll get some more of it in the same place."

The two men waited for several minutes for Myers to reappear (than which nothing was further from his intentions) and then leisurely made their way to the elevators and descended. Mr. Myers was treated by a physician in his office and after scouts had reported the coast clear made his way to the Hotel La Salle, where he took to his bed.

Employes on the floor laughed at Myers' explanation that the affair was a holdup. They substituted gossip to the effect that the smaller of Myers' assailants was C. W. Hudson, an enraged husband.

Hudson Brothers Did It.

"Cupid's reticence regarding his assailants was not so manifest on the part of the assailants themselves. They are C. W. (Billy) Hudson and his brother John.

"I guess he'll lay off my wife now," said Mr. Hudson. "And if the police want to find the men who beat him they can just telephone me and I'll go right over."

"And I'll go with my husband," said Mrs. Hudson. "That man has hounded me. I kept it from my husband until this morning. Myers called so often he got on to it. I wouldn't let my husband take a penknife with him when he left the house for fear he'd kill Myers. In the afternoon the telephone calls from Myers ceased and then I knew my husband had given him the beating he deserved."

"It Was Nothing."

Mr. Myers sat on his bed in a dressing gown at the Hotel La Salle.

"It was nothing—just a holdup."

"Had it anything to do with that old affair of yours with Mrs. Jessie Hildebrandt Otter Hudson?"

"I can't answer that. Don't ask me please."

"Did you recognize the holdup men, so-called?"

"I don't know whether I did or not.

"You are asking unfair questions. These fellows just came in and began to punch me. They threw me down and rubbed my face on the floor, and then after looking through my effects they left without taking anything.

Cupid's Rosy Romance.

The most famous of all Mr. Myers' love affairs was that with Mrs. Jessie Wortham Hildebrandt Otter, who has since added another name to the string by her marriage to Charles W. Hudson. In the latter part of 1912 Mr. Myers met the noted Kentucky beauty, and he afterwards boasted that he spent $1,000 a month on her, and would marry her, if she would get a divorce from her husband. Mrs. Myers divorced him on account of the affair, he said at the time, and later he fell out with his affinity and had her arrested charged with stealing $240, for which action she later brought suit for $50,000 charging defamation of character, persecution, and false arrest.

SHOWERS CAUSE FURTHER BREAK IN WHEAT PRICE

Rain Southwest and Bearish Statistical Conditions Factors—Corn Is Higher.

All grain exchanges in the country will be closed today, Memorial day.

Liberal rains in the southwest over Sunday and the bearish statistical situation caused further selling of wheat yesterday and deferred futures showed losses of 1¼c at the finish. May wheat closed ⅝c lower, being relatively firmer because of buying by cash houses against sales of July. There was a decrease of only 527,000 bu for the week in our visible supply, while Canadian stocks showed a shrinkage of only 101,000 bu. The total stock in North America is 72,464,000 bu, against 27,600,000 bu a year ago.

Wheat got fair support on the break, but most buyers preferred to see the holiday over before taking hold. Shipments from North America last week were much larger than expected at 13,532,000 bu, swelling world's exports to 16,464,000 bu, against 11,760,000 bu a year ago, but the large proportion was Canadian grain. The export demand for our wheat is still limited and prospects of improvement in the early future appear small in view of the steadily increasing stocks abroad. There was an increase of 4,432,000 bu in the supply on ocean passage last week and stocks afloat are over 12,000,000 bu greater than a year ago.

Liverpool Spot Prices Lower.

Liverpool spot wheat was 1@2d lower and the cargo market for Manitoba and winter wheat was 1s to 1s 6d lower. Recent advices from Australia indicate that the wheat acreage will not be as much under last year's as has been predicted.

Choice milling grades of cash wheat were in small supply and ruled firm, but the market for bulk of offerings was easy. Receipts were 206 cars. The seaboard reported 450,000 bu wheat sold for export, also that foreign governments were in the market for two cargoes of grain for August, September, October shipment. Local shipping sales were reported as only 10,000 bu. Seaboard clearances yesterday were 1,308,000 bu.

Receipts at primary markets were 1,318,000 bu. Northwest cars totaled 463, while receipts at Kansas City, St. Louis, and Omaha were 404 cars. Winnipeg had 1,028 cars, against 160 a year ago. Local stocks increased 451,000 bu for the week. Minneapolis stocks decreased 60,000 bu for two days.

Corn Has Sharp Rally.

Corn was depressed early, but rallied sharply later and finished 1⅜c higher for the May and ½@⅝c higher for deferred months. There were numerous reports from downstate saying that much corn will have to be replanted, and this inspired material commission house buying, which in turn forced many shorts to cover. There were also some complaints from Nebraska of corn rotting in the ground because of cool and wet weather, while dry weather is wanted in many localities to finish planting.

Cash corn was ½@1c lower for best grades and 4@5c lower for poor varieties, with some improvement in the demand at the decline. Shipping sales were 160,000 bu. Receipts were 225 cars. Primary markets received 867,000 bu. North America shipped 892,000 bu last week, against 1,466,000 bu a year ago. Liverpool spot corn was ½d lower.

Oats Show Further Loss.

Liquidation in May oats weakened this market, the current delivery closing 1c lower and the deferred months ⅛c lower, the latter being helped by the firmness in corn. Offerings were absorbed largely on resting commission orders with a leading cash house also supporting the market. Oklahoma advices said the crop there is ruined and bad reports also continue to come from Kansas. Crop news generally was favorable.

Cash oats were ½@¾c lower, with shipping sales 200,000 bu. The seaboard reported 300,000 bu taken for export. An increase of 1,021,000 bu for the week was shown in our visible supply, while Canadian stocks increased 491,000 bu. Primary receipts were 1,093,000 bu. Local cars, 394. North America shipped 4,774,000 bu last week, compared with 4,463,000 bu a year ago.

Hog Product Off Sharply.

Hog product was sharply lower, selling by packers and commission houses bringing out much stuff on stop loss orders. At the outset there was free unloading of product that was bought late Saturday on peace rumors, and later there was pressure from packing interests, evidently in line with their campaign to reduce hog values. Prices at the yards were off 5@10c, with receipts more liberal than expected. Western markets received 127,100 hogs, against 117,600 a year ago.

Exports of over 32,000,000 lbs of hog product last week, against about half that quantity a year ago, were generally ignored by the trade, while trade in cash product continues light, buyers being timid with the market in such an unsettled state. The average weight of hogs received here last week was 221 lbs, against 231 lbs a year ago. Liverpool spot lard was 3d higher, with July lard 9d higher.

Good Demand for Rye.

Rye was steady, with sales of No. 2 at 99c, No. 3 97½c, and No. 4 91@93½c. Receipts were 11 cars.

Barley ruled steady. Malting was quiet at 70@78c, with sales at 73@75c; feed was quotable, 60@65c, and sold 62c; mixing was quoted 66@70c, and sold 68c; screenings were quotable, 45@56c, with sales at 50@55c. Receipts were 21 cars.

Timothy seed was firm, with September $7.75 bid and $8.25 asked, and cash lots quoted, $5.50@8.50. Clover seed held steady, with cash lots quoted $8.00@14.00.

Duluth flax closed 1½@3c lower. Cash on track, $1.90; May, $1.88¾; July, $1.91; and September, $1.86½. Receipts, none. Minneapolis was 3c lower, with cash on track, $1.90@1.94. Receipts were 18 cars. Winnipeg closed ⅝@1c lower. May, $1.66¼; July, $1.68; and October, $1.63. Receipts, 22 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE

There was little change in the cash situation. Choice wheat was scarce and fully steady. Most of the wheat offered was feed wheat, which was hardly salable at a reduction of ¼@1c in premiums. Total sales here were only 20,000 bu. The seaboard reported sales of 450,000 bu for export. Minneapolis reported a better demand for choice milling wheat and a dull market for low grades. Other outside markets were dull and weak. Corn trade was lower, with best grades off ½@1c and the cheap offerings 4@5c lower than on Saturday. Sales were 160,000 bu. Oats met with a fair demand, but were plentiful and ½@¾c lower. Sales were 200,000 bu. The seaboard also reported 300,000 bu for export.

The Santa Fé road's weekly crop report shows deterioration to winter wheat and oats from drought, heat, and insect in southern Kansas, Oklahoma, and the Texas panhandle. Rains the last two days have arrested further damage to wheat, which is heading with short straw while about gone. Grain men in Kansas who have made extensive investigations the last week report to the Santa Fé that Oklahoma has prospects for 27,000,000 bu wheat, or 10,000,000 bu short of last year. Kansas they estimate at 85,000,000 to over 100,000,000 bu. Corn is doing well in Texas and northward. Cotton is doing well, but in Texas is backward.

"In view of crop conditions southwest," said Fred Babcock of Thomson & McKinnon, "it may be of interest to say that season's primary receipts at St. Louis, Kansas City, and Omaha are 13,000,000 bu greater than a year ago, although the 1915 crop was 30,000,000 bu smaller than the previous year. Was 1915 crop larger than estimated or was 1914 crop held back by farmers?"

Clement, Curtis & Co. had the following from their Buenos Aires correspondent: "Plowing under favorable circumstances and wheat acreage will exceed last season. General rain falling. Exports small from scarcity of ships. Weekly average wheat and corn about 2,000,000 each."

Canadian visible supply of wheat this week increased 101,000 bu, while oats increased 491,000 bu and barley decreased 12,000 bu. Comparative totals follow:

MAYFIELD MOTOR FIRM AGAIN IN THE COURTS.

Stockholders Demand Receiver for Concern Capitalized at $5,000,000 and Founded on Invention.

Affairs of the Mayfield Hydraulic Motor Manufacturing company again got into court yesterday when Charles T. Palmer as attorney for certain stockholders went before Judge Windes with the request that a receiver be appointed.

According to Palmer, Mayfield incorporated the company in Washington, D. C., eleven years ago with a capital of $5,000,000. He claimed to have invented a hydraulic motor and transmitter to increase initial horse power 300 er cent.

"One of our affidavits alleges Mayfield has sold more than $2,000,000 in stock," Palmer explained. "An incomplete machine now stands in the shops of the Hydraulic Engineering works because of Mayfield's orders forbidding its completion. In July of last year, when pressed by some stockholders, Mayfield threatened to destroy the machine, and we obtained an injunction restraining him.

"We now ask the appointment of a receiver who can bring about a completion of the machine. It will then be tried out, so that we can determine whether it is of any commercial value."

USE FOR NAVAL WIRELESS.

The new wireless apparatus at Great Lakes Naval Training station is now being used for lake weather reports and time signals that will be of use to ship captains. Weather reports are received about 9 a. m. and are sent out soon after. Storm warnings are broadcasted as soon as received and every four hours following for the next day. Evening reports are to be sent out about 9:30 p. m.

Terre Haute, Indianapolis and East.

H. W. M.—The Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern Traction company operates 550 miles of road, of which 154 miles are owned. It has outstanding $9,100,000 common stock and the same amount of preferred. There are $7,459,000 bonds, which are the direct obligations of the company. Of these $959,000 are underlying and the rest refunding. Rents and guaranteed interest on bonds of leased lines make a heavy charge. Interest on bonds of the company is only about $380,000, but the entire fixed charge was nearly $2,243,000 last year. Gross earnings were $6,436,317, operating expenses and taxes $4,114,246, leaving net $2,322,071, which is only a little more than fixed charges. The heavy operating expense is due to a requirement in the refunding mortgage that large amounts be spent on maintenance. This provision serves to strengthen the bonds, but it leaves little for stock. Dividends on preferred were paid for a time, but were stopped after December, 1913.

Ohio State Power.

H. F. R.—The Ohio State Power company succeeded the Sandusky River Power company, which went into a receivership last year. The new company has built a steam plant having a much greater capacity than the hydro-electric plant of the old one and will operate both. The new company has outstanding $700,000 of first mortgage bonds, $400,000 of preferred stock, and $800,000 common. It has two contracts for furnishing power at wholesale that are expected to produce earnings enough to cover bond interest one and three-fourths times. Inasmuch as these earnings are nearly all in the future, the bonds are an unseasoned security.

Brief Answers.

A. H. K.—The Colorado Fuel and Iron company's fiscal year ends June 30. Last year the company lacked $334,661 of earning interest charges. It is expected to make a better showing in the year ending next month, but there has been no official information on the subject since late in 1915. Then it was stated the steel business was better, but the coal business was poor.

C. F. L.—The Maxim Munitions corporation has an authorized capital of $10,000,000, in shares of $10 par, all of one class. The company was formed late last year to manufacture munitions. It has paid no dividends and issued no reports of earnings. The stock is a speculation.

Investing With an Eye On the Melon Patch

¶ Many corporations have adopted the policy of quietly allowing extra profits to accumulate, or else put them back into the business, to the enhancement of investment values. Thus a melon patch is cultivated for the enjoyment of stockholders.

¶ From time to time the accumulated profits are distributed in the shape of extra dividends. Or the added values are capitalized in new stock, which is divided among the shareholders in proportion to their holdings.

¶ Right now there are several big corporations which will shortly distribute stock dividends of from 50% to 200% to their stockholders.

¶ A pamphlet on the subject of stock bonuses and subscription rights will be sent free to those requesting it, together with circular naming the corporations that are about to pay stock dividends. Ask for 17-CT, including booklet explaining

TRACTION ISSUES DULL; WAIT PLAN FOR UNIFICATION

Stock exchanges and banks throughout the country will be closed today, Memorial day.

In Chicago street railway investments there is not much doing, pending a report by the commission, of which William Barclay Parsons is chairman, named by the city to present a unification plan for the surface and elevated lines, a subway plan, and a method of operation of all the lines. It is the impression in La Salle street that by July 1 the commission will have accumulated the data required and that probably in September or October a report will be made.

The present valuation of the existing properties is between $200,000,000 and $225,000,000. Based on their cost and probable development, including the building of the subway, it is expected the new outlay for a comprehensive plan will be not less than $250,000,000.

The matter in which the greatest interest centers on the part of investors in the securities of the street railways will be the ability to carry out in a financial way a plan which may be suggested. It must provide for sufficient earnings applicable to bond interest to make it possible to raise the necessary new money.

Funds Must Be Borrowed.

The funds for the subway and for extensions cannot be produced out of earnings. Banks will be asked to buy bonds, at least $50,000,000 at the start, it is estimated, and any plan under which the banks will furnish the money must be expected to yield in earnings after operating expenses at least twice the amount of the interest required. In the borrowing of money a specific return in cash must be a certainty, and a plan which does not provide fully for taking care of interest changes probably will leave the street railway situation as it is.

It appears to be the feeling of local banking interests that the prospect of a successful unification and subway plan is the best in the experience of these matters. The basis for this belief lies largely in the character of the commission appointed by the city, and the fact that about every phase of the street railway situation has been under discussion during the last twelve years. All the elevated lines have been got together, the surface lines are operating under one management, and a subway plan will be presented by a competent body of engineers.

Steel Market Grows Quieter.

According to Pittsburgh the steel market continues quiet. The pressure for deliveries already contracted for is as great as ever, but new business has fallen behind in volume. With the fresh orders coming in and those on the books of the steel companies the latter are expected to work at capacity through the remainder of the year.

The large orders for war steel placed in the last few weeks did not help the general steel market. Instead there have been much freer offerings of soft steel billets evidently because the mills now know approximately how much war steel is to be shipped to the end of the year and therefore are safe in offering what may remain.

A month ago the billet market was practically nominal at $45. Now there are sellers for the third quarter at $45 and odd lots are offered down to $40.

The pig iron market has not experienced the sharp advance predicted and there is a possibility that the whole iron and steel movement will pass without pig iron advancing to its usual spread below steel.

Memphis-Arkansas Decision.

The opinion of the interstate commerce commission in the Memphis-Arkansas rate controversy received in Chicago yesterday is taken as a victory by the carriers and as a step forward in nationalizing railroad rates. It will also have direct bearing on the St. Louis-Illinois case now pending before the same body, in which St. Louis complains against alleged discriminations growing out of differences in the state and interstate rates, both passenger and freight.

In substance the commission's finding in the Memphis-Arkansas case is that the Arkansas state rates are unreasonably low, giving the intrastate business an undue advantage over business originating in Memphis, across the state line. It forecasts an order increasing the state rates to the level of the interstate rates in contravention of the state commission's order upholding the state rates. The complaint was filed against the Rock Island railroad, the railroad answering in turn that it was powerless to advance the state rates that were unreasonably low.

Views of Rock Island Counsel.

In reconciling the differences between the Supreme court's finding in the Minnesota case and the commission's in the present case, W. F. Dickinson, attorney for the Rock Island, said:

"A state may fix rates if it does not violate the constitution by burdening interstate commerce or taking property without due process of law. The Supreme court refused an injunction when the matter was put before it because there had been no finding by the commission that the state rates brought about such an effect. The carriers' figures, also, were not sufficient to prove confiscation. The court made no finding as to reasonableness because that is a question for the commission, which was created to remove unjust discriminations. If the rates are unjust this body must require their correction, while the court is restricted to the constitutional question of confiscation."

As applied to the Illinois case, if the commission should find that the state rates are unreasonably low it probably would order an increase as it did in this case.

NEWS OF THE FINANCIAL WORLD

Extreme dullness is reported to characterize the copper market, with little metal changing hands. Established quotations of important producers are being firmly maintained. The demand for prompt and nearby copper largely has subsided. Premiums formerly asked have disappeared. Prompt as well as June and July deliveries are being offered by dealers at from 29 to 30 cents. Meanwhile spot copper was up in London £5. The price is now back where it was before the market was rigged to carry it down.

The death of James J. Hill was without influence on the market. The properties which Mr. Hill controlled have passed firmly to the operating stage. They no longer require the genius of the builder. However large may have been his investments in railroad securities, it was assumed in the market that these would continue with his estate.

Wall street bankers have figured that the gold imports from Canada, which now total $20,700,000, have been provided by a special fund created at Ottawa by the British government. It has been noted that the Bank of England is not buying South African gold, and it is assumed that the British government has purchased the output for delivery at Ottawa.

It is gossip that a bear element is operating against advances in American Beet Sugar, American Can, American Car and Foundry, Colorado Fuel, Lackawanna Steel, Westinghouse Electric, and the motor stocks. It is asserted that offerings of long stock appear in these issues during all advances of small extent.

Directors of the Chandler Motor Car company lifted the dividend rate on their stock from 6 to 10 per cent. The dividend declared was for the current quarter, amounting to 2 per cent "regular" and one-half of 1 per cent "extra."

Reports from New York were that progress had been made in solving the International Mercantile Marine problem. It was suggested that an agreement would be reached within the next ten days.

One June 28 stockholders of the Standard Milling company will meet to vote on a proposition for the consolidation of the company with the Colonial Flour Milling company.

The American Smelting and Refining company has taken over the North Star-Triumph groups of lead, silver, and zinc claims near Hadley, Idaho.

P. S. Bushnell of New York was chosen president of the Buckeye Pipe Line company at the annual meeting. O. S. June was elected vice president.

The Standard Oil Company of Ohio has filed with the secretary of state of Ohio notice of an increase in the capital from $3,500,000 to $7,000,000.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, May 29.—The stock market started the week dull and with a drooping tendency in gilt edged securities. Peace talk had little effect and consols and the war loan declined a fraction on sales made in order to exchange into the three year exchequer bonds to be issued next Friday. Shipping, iron, and steel shares were firm features, but copper stocks were not affected by the rise of £5 in the metal. American securities were dull and slightly lower, btu numerous sales of bonds occurred under the mobilization scheme prior to the imposition of new taxation.

Bar silver, 33¾d per ounce. Money, 4@4½ per cent. Discount rate, short bills and three months, 4½@4¾ per cent.

PARIS, May 29.—Trading was active on the bourse today. Rentes, 63f. Exchange on London, 28f 22½c. Five per cent loan, 88f 20c.

COFFEE AND SUGAR.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The market for coffee futures was steadier today. After the rather heavy liquidation of last week, offerings were light and prices improved on scattered covering or a little trade buying, which may have been encouraged by reports that the coming Santos crop was estimated at 9,500,000 to 9,750,000 bags. The market opened at an advance of 3@6 points. September contracts sold up to 8.69c and December to 8.82c during the afternoon, with the market closing at a net advance of 8@12 points. Sales, 27,500 bags. Closing bids: June, 8.49c; July, 8.56c; August, 8.62c; September, 8.69c; October, 8.73c; November, 8.77c; December, 8.81c; January, 8.86c; February, 8.91c; March, 8.96c; April, 9.01c. Spot coffee, quiet; Rio 7s, 9⅝c; Santos 4s, 10⅝c. The only offer from Brazil mentioned in the market here was of Santos 4s at 9.75d f. o. b. London credits. The official cables reported no change in the Rio market but an advance of 100 reis at Santos and of 1-32d in the rate of Rio exchange on London. Brazilian port receipts, 15,000 bags; Jundiahy, 8,000. SUGAR—Owing to the holiday in the raw and refined markets, operations in the market for sugar futures were quiet. Average of Closing Prices of Twenty Leading New York Stocks

Monday, May 29	90.98
Saturday, May 27	90.61
Net gain for the day	.37
Year ago, day of week	76.79

The twenty stocks are: Anaconda Copper, American Car and Foundry, American Smelting, American Telephone, Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio, Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Chesapeake and Ohio, Erie, Great Northern preferred, New York Central, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Reading, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, St. Paul, American Sugar, Union Pacific, and United States Steel.

Total sales of stocks, 265,000 shares.

DULLEST DAY IN WEEKS.

New York, May 29.—Today's excessively stagnant session of the stock exchange bore the familiar ante-holiday aspects, with an irregular mixture of gains and losses, the former predominating at the close. Dealings were the lightest and most contracted of any day for many weeks, the output of the noon hour barely aggregating 20,000 shares.

Reading and Lehigh Valley, both at substantial advances over last week's final quotations, featured the rails, with belated strength in other coalers and some of the grain carriers. Great Northern preferred and Northern Pacific were only slightly and temporarily affected by the death of their guiding spirit, recovering with other representative stocks in the general covering movement of the final hour.

Standard Shares Listless.

United States Steel and other standard shares were listless most of the time, but rose briskly with various specialties at the end. Movements in other quarters of the list were seemingly speculative. The motors attracted some attention, with further advances in Willys-Overland and Chandler Motors, the latter making a new maximum on its advance of 4½ to 106½ in connection with the increased dividend. General Motors, however, surrendered practically all its advance of the previous week, declining 57¾ points to 462. Incidentally related issues like Goodrich and Lee Tire were lifted 1@2 points.

Among the more prominent war issues the locomotives and allied equipments were firm to strong, together with United States Industrial Alcohol, Continental Can, and American Coal Products. Mexicans and the metals were backward, with further selling of leading coppers.

Freight Movements Gain.

The strength and activity of Anglo-French and Canadian bond issues was regarded by Wall street as having some relation to President Wilson's recent peace address. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

HEALTH BUREAU PREPARES VACATION WATER PURIFIER.

Tablets Made Up for Citizens Who May Visit Summer Resorts Where Supply Is Contaminated.

For the benefit of Chicago vacationists who may be sojourning at places where there may be good reasons for suspecting the safety of the water supply, the health department laboratory has prepared in convenient form calcium hypochlorite tablets, containing twenty to thirty milligrams of available chlorine per tablet. The tablets are preserved in glass vials.

One tablet is crushed between the fingers in one quart of water in an ordinary mason jar, which should be sealed with an air tight cap. The jar is then shaken, contents allowed to settle, and should be stored in a cool, dark place. This is the stock solution and under average conditions will last about one week, after which it should be renewed.

To prepare water for drinking, say the directions, take one teaspoonful of the clear stock solution, avoiding the sediment, to one eight ounce glass of drinking water; allow it to stand for fifteen minutes, when it is ready for drinking and will be safe. If it is suspected that the water is heavily polluted, two teaspoonfuls of the stock solution should be used to each eight ounce glass of water.

Vials containing these tablets may be obtained on application to room 707 department of health.

The Coal That Is Always Better Prepared

Diamonds when mined have no selling value. They must be cut and polished before the public will purchase them. Haven't you often heard of "a diamond in the rough"?

Gold must be smelted—prepared for the mint—before it is used by the U. S. government.

And coal must be "prepared" also before it is sold. It must be properly sized. It must be freed from impurities. The more thorough the preparation, the better the coal. Experts in coal buying recognize this fact. That is one of the reasons why the coal buyers for institutions like—invariably prefer—and always specify

Knox County Coal

—the coal that is so thoroughly prepared and is so superior naturally that it is Guaranteed to Prove Out 13,400 B. T. U.'s per Pound Lump—with 9% Ash and 9% Moisture. Other average coal won't prove out better than 12,000 B. T. U.'s per pound.

All of the mines in the Knox County Coal Operators' Association are splendidly equipped for cleaning, preparing and sizing coal.

Furthermore, the location of our mines on the Pennsylvania Lines operates to your advantage. All of our mines can command the swift, sure freight service that has made the Pennsylvania famous. This enables us to assure all patrons prompt, on-time shipments every time.

We would like to furnish estimates for your steam coal supply. When can we call on you?

A notable north side deal in which a reported price of $750 a front foot was paid for Sheridan road frontage at Stratford place has been closed. It was the purchase by Albert M. Johnson, president of the National Life Insurance company, from John F. Brady of the 200x230 feet facing on the road and running from Stratford place to Cornelia avenue, for a reported consideration of $150,000.

It is considered one of the most attractive pieces of property in the vicinity, enjoying the unique advantage of having three frontages and facing the lake. It is a record figure for that vicinity, and is a striking illustration of the rapidity with which values have advanced in that territory.

In addition Mr. Johnson also has purchased the 91x200 feet directly west and adjoining this property, which gives him a frontage of 200 feet on the road with a depth of 321 feet on both side streets. A consideration of $35,000 was paid for the last named parcel, making a total consideration of $185,000 for the two.

Bought for Speculation.

It is stated that Mr. Johnson has no plans regarding the improvement of the property, and it is thought his purchase was of a speculative character.

Mr. Wheeler of Baird & Warner represented all the parties to the transaction. Mr. Johnson then conveyed to Norman E. Johnson, who conveyed the property in trust to the Chicago Title and Trust company to secure a loan of $75,000, five years, at 5 per cent, and then reconveyed to Albert M. Johnson.

Mr. Brady also purchased through Mr. Wheeler 40x150 feet about 120 feet south of the corner of Stratford place, being south and adjoining the property owned by Mr. Behr. The lot is restricted to residences, and a reported consideration of $20,000 is given.

Adds to Country Estate.

Louis B. Kuppenheimer, president of B. Kuppenheimer & Co., has added to his handsome country home near Winnetka by the purchase from W. D. McKenzie of a tract of about twenty-five acres adjoining. It is about a mile northwest from Winnetka, and overlooks the Skokie valley. According to the revenue stamps the consideration was $25,000. Mr. Kuppenheimer's present home comprises about six acres. The tract purchased is bounded by Fig street on the north, Pine street on the south, and Lake street, extended, on the west.

A noteworthy transaction in high grade Evanston flat property, made a matter of record, is the sale by Nathan Rosenweig to Annie J. Scott of the six apartment building, east front, in Michigan avenue, north of Main street, for an indicated consideration of $51,000, subject to an incumbrance of $33,000. Each of the apartments contains seven rooms and rents for $100 a month.

Sells Apartment.

Murray Wolbach has sold to Harry Grinker the high grade twelve apartment building at the northwest corner of Drake and Leland avenues, lot 60x125 feet, for a reported consideration of $46,000, subject to an incumbrance of $27,500. The purchaser conveyed in part payment the three story store and flat building at 3348 West Harrison street and the two flat building at 1528 South Sawyer avenue. The Liberty Realty company represented both parties to the transaction.

The twelve apartment building at 3710-18 Prairie avenue on a lot 100x125 feet has been sold by Volney D. and Martha F. Woodruff of Rockford, Ill., to John Ingram for an indicated consideration of $35,900, subject to $25,900 incumbrance. E. E. Stults of E. R. Haase & Co. represented the Woodruffs and R. D. Smith of Robert F. Shanklin & Co. represented Mr. Ingram.

Clark Street Deal.

Frank J. Birk of Birk Bros. Brewing company has purchased from Charles Bopp the property at 3345 North Clark street, opposite the Clark street station of the Northwestern elevated road, improved with a three story building containing a store, bowling alley, billiard hall, etc., for a reported consideration of $26,500. Mr. Birk conveyed in part payment fifty feet of vacant on Armitage avenue, near Cicero avenue, and 100 feet on Cicero avenue, 200 feet north of Armitage, for a reported consideration of $10,000. McCollam & Kruggel represented Mr. Birk and R. A. Connell Mr. Bopp.

Record was made of the transfer by the Chicago Title & Trust company to Henry Wolf of the property at the southwest corner of Drexel avenue and Sixty-third street, lot 50x124 feet, with store and flat improvements. According to the revenue stamps $55,000 was paid for the equity, the sale being subject to incumbrances, amount not stated.

Evanston Transaction.

The vacant at the southeast corner of Kedzie street and Chicago avenue, Evanston, 173x118 feet, near the Main street stations of the Northwestern "L" and Chicago and Northwestern road, has been sold by the Clark estate to Jennie A. Lytle, consideration nominal, but said to be $16,000. Leo P. Perron & Co. were the brokers.

Guy L. McKinnie, trustee, has sold to Sinclair M. Seater the property at the northeast corner of Hinman avenue and Kedzie street, Evanston, 143 feet on Hinman and 173 feet on Kedzie, for a reported consideration of $17,875. It is stated the purchaser plans the erection next spring of an apartment building. W. H. Mellin of J. H. McCortney & Co. was the broker.

The property at 4528-30 North Kedzie avenue, lot 50x125 feet, improved with three one story stores, has been sold by Paul G. Hensel to Claude H. Searle for a reported consideration of $15,000, subject to an incumbrance of $8,000, trade valued at $7,000 being given in part payment. I. J. Schiller & Co. and Ballard, Rowe & Whitman were the brokers.

Borrows $175,000.

The Chicago Title and Trust company is trustee in a loan of $175,000, 7 years at 6 per cent, to Ambrosia Y. Race, secured by the Race building and 142x173 feet of ground at the southwest corner of Irving Park boulevard and Crawford avenue.

Lower prices were made in all branches of the live stock trade at Chicago yesterday, recent high values having attracted receipts that were in excess of trade requirements. Cattle sold 10@25c lower for steers and 15@40c lower for cows and heifers, as compared with the close last week. Receipts were posted at 22,000 head. Prime beeves were scarce and a sale was made at $10.90, but sales at higher than $10.50 were not numerous and the bulk made $9.25@10.25.

Hogs sold 5@10c lower than on Saturday. The quality of the offerings was more attractive and the trade was more active at the prices. Top sales made $9.80 and the bulk $9.50@9.75. Shippers were credited with purchases of 3,000 head out of total receipts of 41,000. Packers were liberal buyers and only about 5,500 remained unsold at the finish.

Sheep and Lambs Slump.

Sheep sold at a loss of 50c for the bulk, while lambs suffered a decline of 50@75c. Receipts were posted at 23,000 head and packers practically had the market for themselves. Outside orders were limited. Spring lambs topped at $11.50, while clippers sold up to $10.25. Prime shorn native ewes sold at $7.50.

SIEGEL COOPER & COMPANY says

They were in the thick of the crowd in front of a Moving Picture Theater, both craning their necks and wild to get in. The lady in front of them turned impatiently.

"Stop shovin'," she said.

That is the way we feel this week. "We ain't shovin', we are really 'holdin' back.'" Our

Progressive Sale

Doesn't start until next Monday, but in the meantime our stock rooms are filling up, the goods are being marked by their Captains and rushed downstairs; the whole store is like a beehive getting ready for the big event. We can't very well close shop until then. So you are welcome to advance selection and purchase of these goods as they come through.

The Progressive Sale, you know, is a sale of nation-wide fame. It is the sale which is run entirely by our own employes from top to bottom. They mark the goods, using their own judgment as to prices (and they are all out to make a record); they are responsible for the volume of sales, for the satisfaction of customers, even for the delivery of the goods.

This is the opportunity which we give to our ambitious young men and women to make a record for themselves which in many hundreds of cases has been the real start of a big business career. Next week will be a wonderful week in this store. And, judging by the values they have given us for this page, this week will be equally great.
